BRITISH REFUSAL TO HELP CZECHS TICKLES BERLIN

Germany Seeks New Lands to Conquer.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 24.—New encouragement for their conquest of territories inhabited by German minorities was found by Nazis today in the speech of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain.

In a declaration of British foreign policy, Chamberlain told the house of commons his government would not make a prior pledge of armed help for Czechoslovakia in event of armed aggression. He said Britain would fight for France and Belgium if they were attacked and would defend Portugal, her "oldest ally," Iraq, where the British have important oil interests, and Egypt, a link in Britain's life line to the orient.

While the Nazis are working to undermine the government of Czechoslovakia and using almost the identical methods they employed in Austria, the Berliner Tageblatt announced triumphantly that "Chamberlain rejects any guarantee for Czechoslovakia."

Officials Study Speech.

Utterances of foreign officials were more guarded. One official said there has been "no time to study the whole speech."

Friends of Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, who have felt that Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, was willing to make great concessions to Germany, were enthusiastic.

"Even England is unwilling to take up the struggle with Pan-Germany since the Germans today represent the strongest racial unit in Europe," they said. "Seventy-five million people are now united under Hitler's guidance. More millions scattered over the continent are eagerly awaiting the day when they can join the fatherland."

Nazis Get More Power.

Following the example of the Czechoslovakian Farmers' union, the German Christian Social party today was incorporated into the Sudeten German [Nazi] party. The Sudeten Germans, who take the name of their party from the Sudetic mountain range, now have the strongest party in the Prague parliament, with 55 deputies and 26 senators.

This "newly found unity" of Germans in Czechoslovakia was hailed with satisfaction in Germany.

"Unless it is decided to fling all principles of democratic parliamentary government overboard, Sudeten Germans must be called upon to form a new government when Hodza [Dr. Milan Hodza, Czechoslovakian premier] resigns," said the West Deutsche Beobachter.

Press Drive on Jews.

A call to intensify the Nazi campaign against Austrian Jews was sounded by S. A. Man, official organ of the Storm Troopers.

"Jewish shops in Vienna are closed down," the paper said. "What of it if the Jews are forced to clean motorcars? Such trifles are in no proportion to the arrogance of the Viennese Jews which the German population had to endure for years."

In Vienna Joseph Buerckel, director of the April 10 plebiscite on Austria's union with Germany, extended a peace offer to the Austrian church, which is predominantly Catholic.

"If there are disagreements here and there between the church and the Nazi party it does not mean one side or the other is to blame," he told 30,000 cheering persons. "It means that both have acted wrongly. National socialism should concern itself with the people and the church with the health of souls."

BRITISH 'MIGHT FIGHT'

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 24.—A European war over a possible coup by Reichsfuehrer Hitler in Czechoslovakia receded further into the background today. Neville Chamberlain, Great Britain's crafty prime minister, announced that his nation would give no prior pledge of military assistance to the Czechs if they were attacked by Germany as has been given by France and soviet Russia. Chamberlain declared England

U. S. ACTS TO AID REFUGEES FROM AUSTRIA'S NAZIS

Asks 29 Nations to Help Give Haven.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The United States government, it was announced today, has proposed to 29 nations that asylum in their territories and in the United States be offered to the political refugees of Austria.

In the proposal, which Secretary of State Cordell Hull said was dispatched last night, it was suggested that an international committee be set up to assist Austrians proscribed by the Nazis to emigrate to countries willing to receive them.

The American proposal was made to the twenty Latin-American republics and to nine European nations—Great Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Switzerland, and Italy.

Viewed as Showing Disapproval.

The move was widely construed to be a covert expression of disapproval by the United States of the seizure of Austria by Germany and of the persecution of Jews and others in Austria following the coup d'état.

Earlier in the day, however, Secretary Hull had made an announcement evidencing the determination of the United States government to avoid entanglement in the European maneuvers to place bounds to the further expansion of Germany.

Despite his recent commitment of the United States to coöperation with peaceable nations to check the dictators, Secretary Hull said soviet Russia's invitations to participate in measures to protect Czechoslovakia from Germany would be declined. He made his announcement following the announcement of similar action on the Russian invitation by Great Britain, with which the Roosevelt administration is closely coöperating in foreign policies.

Thousands of Arrests.

Since the annexation of Austria by Germany there have been thousands of arrests of Jews and other persons proscribed by the Nazis. There has been a wave of suicides of prominent Austrians who felt their days were numbered or felt life had nothing further to offer them under the Hitler régime. There has been an exodus of many who were able to escape.

Under the terms of the American proposal these refugees would be assisted in finding countries to which they could emigrate with assurance of receiving a welcome.

How many could be admitted to the United States under existing immigration laws would depend a good deal on whether the refugees are classed as Austrians or Germans.

Austrian Quota Is 1,413.

The American immigration quota for Austria is only 1,413. The quota for Germany is 25,957. With those who already have been admitted during the current fiscal year taken into consideration fewer than 1,000 Austrians and 20,000 Germans could be admitted up to July 1 next.

If Austrian refugees should be classed as Germans by virtue of their absorption of their country in the reich, many times the number of the Austrian quota could be admitted.

"This government," said secretary Hull in his announcement," has become so impressed with the urgency of the problem of political refugees that it has inquired of a number of governments in Europe and in this hemisphere whether they would be willing to coöperate in setting up a special committee for the purpose of facilitating the emigration from Austria and presumably from Germany of political refugees.

Private Financing Expected.

"Our idea is that whereas such representatives would be designated by the governments concerned, any financing of the emigration referred to would be undertaken by private organizations within the respective countries. Furthermore, it should be understood that no country would be expected or asked to receive a greater number of immigrants than is permitted by its existing legislation.

"In making this proposal the government of the United States has emphasized that it in no sense intends to discourage or interfere with such work as is already being done on the refugee problem by any existing international agency."

Social Credit Regime Orders Writer to Jail

EDMONTON, Alta., March 24.—[Special.]—The Social Credit party majority in the Alberta legislature late tonight steam rollered Don C. Brown, reporter on the Edmonton Journal and one of the best known newspaper men in Alberta, to a prison sentence, alleging he had been guilty of "scandalous misrepresentation in connection with a report on the proceedings of the house."

The complaint was made before the committee on elections and privileges by Dr. J. L. Robinson, Social Credit party member for Medicine Hat, a chiropractor, who said a reference to him in a feature column written by Brown was damaging to him in his profession.

Robinson said he had not made the statements Brown said he had, despite the fact that an independent shorthand transcription showed the reporter to be correct. The matter then was referred to the assembly.

Shout Moscow, Hitlerism.

During the battle to prevent the house committing Brown to jail, nine standing votes were taken and shouts of Moscow and Hitlerism were hurled across the floor of the house from Liberal opposition. The debate, which lasted all afternoon and until 9 p. m., was heard by crowded galleries.

The majority report of the committee on privileges instructed Speaker Dawson to place Brown in custody of the sergeant-at-arms with orders to send him to the provincial prison at Lethbridge "during the pleasure of the house."

Power of the legislature to commit a person to prison is provided under an old act, which directs that such person having been condemned on charges of a breach of the privileges of the house shall be "committed to the common jail in Edmonton," and it is expected that an injunction restraining the legislature from sending Brown to Lethbridge, under provisions of the act will be asked.

Delays Arrest Warant.

Speaker Dawson late tonight had not issued the warant for the arrest of the reporter. Gerald O'Connor, Liberal member, gave notice he would move tomorrow that Brown be set at liberty. The speaker may not act until this motion is disposed of.

Indignation at the attempt to send the reporter to jail without permitting him adequate legal defense is keen in Edmonton.

Critics of the government expressed the opinion that the move against the newspaper man is only a piece of vengeance for the imprisonment of J. H. Unwin, M. L. A. and G. F. Powell, London social credit expert, on charges of defamatory libel last year.

N. U. STUDENT WAITERS EAT JOBS AWAY, THEN PICKET OUTSIDE HOTEL

Eighteen Northwestern university students with big appetites picketed the Georgian hotel in Evanston last night until the dining room closed. They were not on strike, because they had been fired as waiters. Yet their protest was not against their dismissal, but against the working conditions they had when they did work.

Waiters alliance signs on their backs said the hotel was unfair because it did not give them pay along with their meals. The students, picketing in relays, approached all delivery men with banners asking them not to bring goods into the hotel but to telephone their union business agents for instructions.

James Hender, spokesman for the students, said they had been dismissed Monday for joining the union.

But Fred Hertwig, manager of the hotel, explained:

"They simply ate me out of house and home. I had to let them go and hire five professional waitresses to do their work."

HARRY FINDS HE CAN'T WIN, EVEN ON A SURE THING

Suppose you bought an Irish sweepstakes ticket and it was included in the drawing, thus assuring you of at least $3,000. Then suppose a creditor pounced upon you and got an injunction to keep you from disposing of it or collecting on it. Just such circumstances clouded the rosy contemplations yesterday of Harry Bryk, 5316 Altgeld street.

The North Western Packing company of 1001 Milwaukee avenue got the injunction in a hearing before Judge James F. Fardy. At a hearing Monday the company will seek to have a receiver appointed to collect on Bryk's ticket and hold out $1,199 which the company contends is due it on a judgment won last year. The money represents meat sold to Bryk, who is in the commission business.

Doodle Is Getting Gray and Wants to Be Alone

Quincy, Ill., March 24.—(AP)—Doodle the Duck isn't what she used to be—her feathers are graying, her sight is bad, and she wants to be alone. It has been almost seventeen years since Doodle chipped the egg and started an active life as a caller to decoy other ducks during the hunting season. Recently while taking a bath she fell out of a sink in the home of her owner, Mrs. Chris Wolf. It shook her up. So now Doodle has retired from active life and just sits around in the sun.

Seize 4 Honor Students for $20,000 Thefts

Four high school honor students were in custody of Albany Park police last night as the most recent problem in juvenile crime. Two are only 16 years old, and two are 17. They were tripped up not by their thefts, but because they telephoned teachers and boasted about their crimes.

Three of the prisoners, with several other boys now being sought, broke into twenty schools during the last six months, police asserted, and stole typewriters, laboratory equipment, motors, musical instruments, and other school property. The loot was estimated at $20,000 by Clayton J. Cusack, northwest inspector of school properties. About $2,000 worth has been recovered.

Four In Custody.

The youths in custody are Sol Portnoy, 16 years old, 3101 Leland avenue, Nicholas Laub, 17, of 4724 North Spaulding avenue; Myron Cook, 16, of 5236 Bernard street, and William Hansen, 17, of 4248 North Albany avenue. Hansen was the latest recruit to the gang, and participated in only one theft, police said. All go to the Roosevelt high school except Laub, who attends Lane Technical High school.

All stand high in their respective classes, with average marks in the upper 90s. All come from good homes. Their families were shocked by their arrests.

After the youths looted classrooms they often anonymously telephoned teachers at night and spoke insultingly over the phone. The last such call proved their undoing.

Recognizes the Voice.

This message was to Walter Hjerstedt, mechanical arts teacher at Roosevelt High. He recognized the caller's voice as Portnoy's and notified the police. Detectives Edward Schumacher, Ray Venn, George Solberg, and Sidney Karosky seized Portnoy, who confessed and named the others.

They confessed—with Hansen's exception—the theft of probably 100 expensive typewriters, which they sold for $5 or $10 each. They admitted taking a costly outboard motor from the automotive and aviation engineering rooms of the Roosevelt school, and numerous musical instruments.

They attempted to sell a saxophone, but the pawnbroker, suspicious, asked them to play it to establish ownership. No one could. Since then all have practiced playing until they could do pretty well.

SENATORS HEED BUSINESS; ACT TODAY ON TVA PROBE

Bridges Resolution Seeks to Impound Records.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.] — Congress resounded today with the TVA scandal. A resolution to impound the agency's records in order to prevent destruction of incriminating documents was introduced in the senate. A suggestion that President Roosevelt's discharge of Chairman Arthur E. Morgan might be made the basis of impeachment proceedings was heard in the house.

H. Styles Bridges.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

A senate vote upon a resolution ordering a joint investigation of the TVA practically was assured for tomorrow. The resolution became the first order of business when Vice President Garner whipped through a motion by Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.] for immediate consideration of his resolution for an independent senate inquiry.

Barkley Offers Substitute.

Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley [D., Ky.] offered as a substitute for the Norris resolution a proposal that the investigation be conducted by a joint committee of both houses, consisting of five senators and five representatives.

Barkley warned the senate that he had been informed by House Majority Leader Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.] that the house would insist on being represented on the committee and would start its own investigation if the senate decided to act alone.

"It would be regrettable if two investigations were going on, making the whole affair a farce," Barkley said.

Insists on 23 Charges.

Senator H. Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] objected that Barkley's resolution was too general in character and insisted that the twenty-three specific charges drawn up by himself and Senator William H. King [D., Utah] be listed as subjects for investigation. Further consideration of the resolution was postponed until tomorrow, with Bridges and Norris agreeing to hold a conference in the morning.

A poll of the present senate showed that sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of a joint investigation instead of a senate inquiry.

Senator Bridges proposed that the sergeant at arms of the senate be directed to take into his custody all books, records, papers, and docu-

Levy on Undivided Profits Defeated in Committee.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Defying administration pleas to save President Roosevelt's face, the senate finance committee today voted 17 to 4 to eliminate the widely condemned undistributed profits tax principle from the pending revenue measure and substitute therefor a flat corporation income tax of 18 per cent.

As a further means of stimulating business and investment the finance committee adopted a provision drastically modifying the capital gains and losses tax. The committee removed capital gains on assets held for more than eighteen months from the income tax category and substituted instead a flat rate of 15 per cent, which was what business and industry wanted.

The overwhelming repudiation of the punitive tax on undistributed corporate earnings came immediately after Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, who is affectionately addressed by President Roosevelt as "dear Alben" had made a futile appeal to retain the face saving principle contained in the house bill. Senator Pat Harrison [D., Miss.], chairman of the committee, to whom Mr. Roosevelt made a personal appeal three weeks ago to save some semblance of profits tax, made the motion to eliminate it.

Opponents Gain Recruits.

Opponents of the profits tax were surprised by the size of the majority against it, for they had expected not more than 15 votes. Senator Edwin C. Johnson [D., Colo.] and Senator Joseph F. Guffey [D., Pa.], one of the most rabid administration followers in the senate, unexpectedly voted with the opposition.

The only senators voting to retain the principle of the undivided profits tax were Barkley, Robert M. La Follette [Rad., Wis.], Robert J. Bulkley [D., O.], and Tom Connally [D., Tex.].

In an effort to give further tax relief to small business, the committee adopted a credit formula for corporations having net incomes of less than $25,000. The plan would allow deduction from net income of 10 per cent of the difference between such income and $25,000. The 18 per cent levy then would be applicable to the difference.

For instance, a corporation having net income of $10,000 would deduct this sum from $25,000, leaving $15,000. It would then take 10 per cent of the $15,000, or $1,500, and deduct it as a credit from the actual net income of $10,000. The remaining $8,500 would be taxed at the 18 per cent rate.

Reject Processing Taxes.

In an effort to clear the way for speedy enactment of the tax relief legislation, the committee rejected a system of wartime taxes and a system of processing taxes on wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, and rice, which the administration desires to finance proposed additional bounties to farmers amounting to 200 million dollars a year. Senator James P. Pope [D., Idaho], who proposed the processing taxes, plans to make his fight on the senate floor.

Senator Connally offered the drastic scheme of taxes intended to "take the profits out of war," which would provide a 10 per cent normal income tax rate, lower personal exemptions, and individual surtaxes graduated up to 80 per cent.

Substitution of the 18 per cent flat rate for the undistributed profits tax principle will bring in additional revenue of $97,000,000 for the calendar year 1938, according to the estimates of Roswell Magill, undersecretary of the treasury. According to Magill's estimates, the house plan for corporate taxation would yield 851 million dollars for 1938, while the 18 per cent flat rate will bring in 948 millions. Continuance of the present law as enacted in 1936 would produce 873 million, Magill estimated.

Exemptions Are Granted.

The house bill exempts corporations with net incomes up to $25,000 from the principle of the undistributed profits tax, but corporations having larger incomes would pay a tax of 16 to 20 per cent, according to the percentage of earnings in dividends to stockholders. The rate of taxation for corporations with incomes of not more than $25,000 would be graduated from 12½ to 16 per cent, but on the basis of earnings, rather than on the percentage of dividends distributed.

Chairman Harrison said he was particularly gratified by the committee's action in adopting the credit formula for small business.

"We think we've helped the smaller fellows more than the house bill would help them," Harrison said.

House Formula Completed.

The house bill grants some relief from the effects of the capital gains tax by permitting net capital losses to be carried over for one year only to offset capital gains in the succeeding year. However, it sets up a complicated formula for taxing capital gains on a percentage basis, according to the length of time the assets were held, at the corresponding income and surtax rates.

The provision adopted by the senate finance committee would tax short term gains from assets held less than eighteen months, at the corresponding income and surtax rates, with the privilege of carrying over net losses for one year only to offset net gains in the succeeding year.

The committee amendment provides that capital gains from assets held more than eighteen months may be taxed on either of the following alternatives, whichever is less:

1. A flat 15 per cent tax of the net gains.
2. Add 50 per cent of the net long term gain capital gain to ordinary income and compute the entire amount of gain and other income at the regular normal and surtax rates.

Experts conclude that individuals with capital gains in excess of $30,000 would use the first method, and those with gains under $30,000 would use the second method.

Offer Two Alternatives.

The committee amendment provides that long term capital losses may be computed for the purpose of taking income deductions on either of the following alternatives, whichever is greater:

1. An income tax credit, against the tax itself, of 15 per cent of the net long term capital loss.
2. Deduct from ordinary income 50 per cent of the net long term capital loss and compute the remainder on the ordinary income tax basis.

No record vote was taken on the capital gain and loss provision, but Chairman Harrison said the committee was "overwhelmingly in favor of it."

CONTINUE DRIVE ON HANDBOOKS WITH 3 RAIDS

Continuing their drive against handbooks, state's attorney's police yesterday raided three places in the 29th ward and arrested nine persons employed in them. At 3911 Madison street Harry Elkins, alleged owner, and two employés were seized. Barney Ehrlich and two clerks were arrested at 12 South Karlov avenue and Philip Garber and two workers at 626 South Pulaski road. All were questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Richard B. Austin and released.

Object of the campaign, according to State's Attorney Courtney, is to unearth the syndicate that manages many gambling resorts and to prevent hoodlums from making money at bookmaking.

J. Frank Lyman, Democratic committeeman of the 48th ward, said yesterday there was no truth in a report he had asked William Goldman, a bookmaker at 5006 Sheridan road, to employ sheet writers and clerks. "I never requested Goldman or any other bookmaker to employ anybody," Lyman declared. "I didn't know his place or any other bookmaking place was operating in the ward."

CABINET QUITS IN LITHUANIA; NEW MINISTRY NAMED

KAUNAS, Lithuania, March 24.—(AP)—Resignation of the Lithuanian cabinet amid widespread bitterness over the nation's capitulation to Poland was announced officially tonight.

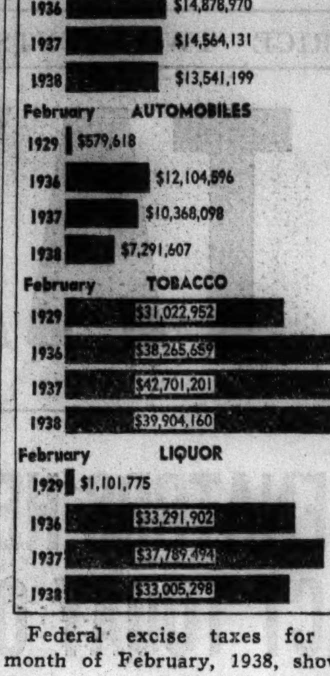
President Antanas Smetona accepted the resignations of Premier Juozas Tubelis and his ministers. Chief Army Chaplain Mironas formed a new government. Mironas is a good friend of the president.

The government had been under fire since last Saturday, when it yielded to a warlike Polish ultimatum demanding that relations between the two countries be "normalized."

PLAYS ON BRIDGE; KILLED.

Whitesburg, Ky., March 24.—[Special.]—Junior Branham, 10 years old, of Robinson's Creek, son of M. C. Branham, a C. & O. railroad brakeman, fell twenty feet from a railroad bridge on which he and other boys were playing today and was killed.

U. S. Income Recedes



Federal excise taxes for the month of February, 1938, show a decrease from February, 1937. The recession in revenue coincides with the business recession. The tax on autos was small in 1929, and the low liquor tax receipts are attributable to prohibition.

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The recession made inroads on federal excise taxes according to a report from the treasury today which showed that 20 million dollars less revenue was produced in February of this year as compared to the same month in 1937.

Taxes on gasoline fell off from $14,564,131 to $13,541,199, on automobiles from $10,368,098 to $7,291,607, on tobacco from $42,701,201 to $39,904,160, and on liquor from $37,789,494 to $33,005,298.

Last month's taxes were slightly higher than a year ago, however, on theater tickets and club dues, on electrical energy, oil pipe lines, cocoanut oil, and oleomargarine.

ROOSEVELT GOES FOR DRIVE; VISITS FARM IN GEORGIA

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Warm Springs, Ga., March 24.—[Special.]—Spring, the mellow notes of mocking birds, and the whisper of a soft wind through pine needles greeted President Roosevelt today on the first morning of a ten day vacation.

In the afternoon the President drove along winding red clay roads and found himself refreshed. He briefly inspected his 1,000 acre farm near the little White House and discussed with Henry Toombs, architect of Warm Springs Foundation, the location and plans of a new medical unit for the infantile paralysis resort he founded here.

Mr. Roosevelt dined with his house guests, Frank Walker, financial adviser to the Democratic party, and Basil O'Connor, a former law partner, who is a trustee of the Warm Springs Foundation.

The policeman, John Jewski, said he caught Bernacki and a companion stripping a stolen automobile in a swamp.

ROOSEVELT AIDS WIN IN TEST ON REVAMPING BILL

President Voted Power to Rule Accounting.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Rejecting an amendment by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] to continue the general accounting office of the controler general, the senate today voted to vest control of the nation's purse strings in the hands of the President. The vote was 47 to 36.

Final disposition of President Roosevelt's scheme to reorganize the federal government by concentrating vast new powers in the executive branch was deferred until Monday, when Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.] offered a motion to recommit the scheme.

Opponents of the measure are expecting to gain strength over the week-end because of tremendous pressure being exerted by farm, labor, and veterans' organizations to shelve it for further study. The activities of these groups is being offset, however, by the most intensive administration lobby since the defeat of President Roosevelt's court packing bill last year.

Protests Flood Senators.

Senators have received thousands of telegrams from the American Farm Bureau federation, the National Grange, the National Coöperative Milk Producers' federation, the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the American Federation of Labor, the American Federation of Government Employés, the United Civil Service Employés and other labor, farm and veterans' groups, all opposing the bill.

Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], manager of the bill, claimed a margin of only three or four votes against a motion to recommit, while leaders of the opposition said the vote would be even closer.

At the request of Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky the senate granted unanimous consent to shut off debate and vote on all pending amendments, as well as the motion to recommit, at 3 p. m. Monday, and to vote on final passage of the measure at 5 p. m. if the motion to recommit should not carry. Southern senators refused unanimous consent until it was stipulated that the antilynching bill, which Senator Bennett C. Clark [D., Mo.], had threatened to offer as an amendment, would be out of order.

Abolish Accounting Office.

The reorganization bill abolishes the general accounting office, which incurred the displeasure of the Roosevelt administration when former Controler John R. McCarl refused to approve expenditures not authorized by law for various schemes and projects, including a shelter belt of trees from the Canadian border to the Texas panhandle.

The bill divides the functions of the general accounting office between the politically responsible budget director, who would act as controler and determine whether expenditures were authorized by law, and a proposed auditor general responsible to congress but with the power to make only post-audits, after the money had been spent.

Senator Byrd's amendment was to strike out these provisions.

Admits Vengeance Plan.

Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach [D., Wash.] in effect admitted that the purpose of the bill's accounting section was to wreak vengeance upon the controler general's office because it had interfered with the spending policies of the Roosevelt administration. A recent report of the acting controler general, Schwellenbach said, stated that expenditures totaling $86,256,000 had been disallowed under the Roosevelt administration, while prior to 1933 the disallowances were very small, averaging only four or five millions a year.

"Actually," Schwellenbach said, "the disallowances under this administration were only $53,000,000, but the controler general's office submitted a false report, increasing the amount by $35,000,000, in an effort to defeat this legislation."

U. S. ATTORNEY HAS A LOOK AT CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Contractors and State Workers Rebel.

Springfield, Ill., March 24.—[Special.]—United States Attorney Howard L. Doyle late today announced he would request an investigation of the use of contributions being made to Democratic political campaigns by contractors, Gov. Henry Horner's state pay rollers, and employés of other political offices in the capitol.

Doyle, a supporter of Michael L. Igoe, who is opposed for the senatorial nomination by the governor's candidate, Scott W. Lucas, said that he had requested the investigation because of complaints from contractors and pay rollers. He declined to state which federal agency had been asked to make the inquiry, but it was believed he had the bureau of investigation or the internal revenue office—which investigates income tax violations—in mind.

Two Groups Included.

Although his first statement plainly was aimed at solicitations being made in behalf of the Horner candidates, the federal prosecutor later said he would include collections gathered by the Stephen A. Douglas league, which is soliciting for the benefit of the Igoe-Campbell slate.

Gov. Horner quickly issued a one sentence reply to Doyle's statement.

"I am sorry," the governor said, "to see that politics controls the office of the United States district attorney."

Doyle said that huge sums of money had been collected on a percentage basis from both civil service and political employés of the state.

Doyle charged that contractors who bid on federal aid roads through the state highway department had been solicited for contributions and that a refusal on their part to comply placed them at a disadvantage with contractors who did contribute.

He was believed to be striking here at F. Lynden Smith, state director of public welfare in the Horner cabinet, who has jurisdiction over the highway department, and who also is downstate campaign director for the Horner candidates. He now is in Orlando, Fla., visiting his father, who is ill, his office said.

Doyle Issues Statement.

Doyle's statement follows:

"Based on complaints from contractors and pay rollers who have been 'requested' to contribute to a certain campaign fund I have requested an investigation be conducted to ascertain the actual use of such contributions. It has come to my attention that huge sums of money have been collected on a percentage basis from state pay rollers, both civil service employés and political employés of the state.

"This money, used for political purposes, is not taxable income. However, if any part of those huge sums is diverted, it becomes and is taxable under the federal revenue laws.

"The specific complaint from the contractors who bid on federal aid roads through the state highway department is that a refusal on their part to make such contributions puts them at a disadvantage with those contractors who contribute.

"In the event the investigation discloses any federal law violation, either under the revenue laws or the federal corrupt practices act, such evidence will, of course, be presented to a grand jury."

In recent campaigns the state pay rollers have been assessed for campaign contributions through the Illinois Iroquois club, but in the current primary fight collections are being made by the county organizations rather than a central agency.

Workers Asked to Contribute.

George A. Sprinkel, Sangamon county chairman, said that state workers living there were being acked for voluntary contributions, amounting to 2 per cent of their salaries for the last seven months.

Contributions for the Igoe-Campbell ticket, are being collected by the Stephen A. Douglas league in at least of the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes and, it also is believed, in the offices of State Treasurer John C. Martin and State Auditor Edward J. Barrett. Assessing pay rollers to bear part of the cost of campaigns has been a common practice.

HIP FRACTURE CAUSES DEATH.

REPORT FORMER BANKER'S SON IS MISSING IN EAST

Robert L. Rathje, 22 years old, 9900 Longwood drive, a former student at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass., has been reported as missing to Cambridge police, according to word received here yesterday. The youth left the school last Jan. 3, stating that he was going to work. He was last heard from when his mother, Mrs. Mary Rathje, received a postcard sent from Washington, D. C., Jan. 4.

He is the son of William J. Rathje, south side banker and at one time president of the Cook County Bankers' association, who died in 1932.

Attorney Chester W. Kulp, 100 West Monroe street, said last night that the family is not worried by the youth's failure to write and it is not believed he has met with harm. It was reported, however, that the federal bureau of investigation has been notified of his disappearance.

ANTI-NAZIS HALT BUND MEETING; 20 HURT IN RIOT

Philadelphia, Pa., March 24.—(AP)—An anti-Nazi crowd tonight stormed what police described as a meeting of the German-American bund and turned the gathering into a riot.

More than a score of persons were injured in the fist fighting that raged in the small hall until riot squads arrived. Police Inspector William Scull said he was told the rally was intended as a celebration of Hitler's seizure of Austria. Wilhelm Kunze, bund leader, was scheduled to speak.

As police separated the participants in the "free for all," members of the citizen's anti-Nazi committee paraded in the street with signs reading "Down with Hitler and his U. S. followers." The pickets later disbanded and sporadic fist fighting broke out along the street.

RIVAL DEMOCRAT FACTIONS AGREE THEY CAN'T LOSE

Nash and Courtney Take Stump at Meetings.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Predictions of victory at the primaries April 12 were confidently made in each of the competing Democratic camps last night. For the Nash-Kelly regular organization they were voiced by County Chairman P. A. Nash and for the opposition by State's Attorney Courtney, Chicago leader of Gov. Horner's forces.

Courtney was the headline speaker at the opening of State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski's campaign for renomination which was inaugurated at a meeting attended by about 1,200 persons at 1643 North Cicero avenue, in the 36th ward. Adamowski, house floor leader at Springfield, who was dumped by the Chicago machine, charged that his removal from the light of favor is part of a plan to shove aside all those who were close to the late Mayor Cermak.

Victory Courtney's Theme.

Courtney, after praising Adamowski as the outstanding member of the house, declared that, while it was hard to beat a machine in a primary election, the Nash-Kelly machine would be bowed in defeat when the votes are counted on April 12.

"The entire Horner-Courtney-Jarecki state and county tickets will be nominated," he predicted, "and the integrity of the ballot box maintained. You voters in this district should mark only for Ben Adamowski, so as to give him three votes on every ballot."

At about the same time County Chairman Nash was talking just as optimistically before a meeting of organization precinct captains in the Morrison hotel.

"The opposition," he told these party workers, "is characterized by sham. The issue of 'bossism' is a false one, raised only to delude the people and divert attention from the qualifications of the regular organization candidates. But the 'bossism' bunk is not working and the people are not being fooled.

Confident of Clean Sweep.

"We are in this fight to win and I was never more certain of victory in many years in politics," continued Nash. "I predict that Michael L. Igoe for United States senator, Judge John Prystalski for County judge, and all of their associates on the slate we have indorsed will be nominated on April 12."

Nash, defending the dumping of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, declared that there had been nothing hasty about the action.

"Forty of the ward committeemen, comprising the slate committee, considered well before any action was taken," he declared. "They said they could not honestly indorse and support the candidacy of the present County judge. His own people did not want him, so in his place we indorsed a man who has one of the best judicial records in Cook county."

Assails Jarecki Record.

Ald. J. M. Arvey, 24th ward committeeman, told the workers that Judge Jarecki had betrayed his public trust by constantly temporizing with public emergencies.

"The county judge," Arvey charged, "has been constantly allergic to action. Vote fraud and tax objection cases have piled up in the county court needlessly and to the detriment of the best public interests. And he has been negligent in Democratic organization affairs. He has contributed neither counsel nor energy to the party's progress."

At the Adamowski meeting, which was signalized by old fashioned red flares and a band, the young representative said that Cermak had actually built the Democratic organization and that the Nash-Kelly leaders had moved in and tried to take it over, pushing out those who had been sponsored by Cermak, including himself, Courtney and Gov. Horner.

Judge Jarecki, the last speaker, read a wire from the governor who sent best wishes to Adamowski and predicted victory for him and the other candidates he is backing. In his own behalf, Judge Jarecki declared that powerful political machines had been crushed before, citing Tammany Hall in New York as the latest to fall.

Hero Commended

Lige Debowski, who was wounded last July when he killed two bandits, hobbling into inquest room on crutches.

Lige Debowski, who killed two bandits last July in a gun battle that almost cost his own life, was officially commended by the county yesterday. The commendation was made by a coroner's jury which heard Debowski's story and found the killing justifiable homicide. The inquest had been delayed until he was able to testify.

The robbers, both ex-convicts, were George Carson and Edmund Blut. They were holding up a liquor store at 1007 Leland avenue when Debowski seized a gun from one of them and gave battle. Debowski is still a patient at the County hospital. His family is living at 1853 Adams street to be near him.

CITY EMPLOYE HELD ON CHARGE OF VOTE FRAUD

A John Doe warant charging registration fraud, that has been in the hands of state's attorney's police for several days, was served yesterday on William P. Conroy of 126 South Canal street. He is Democratic captain of the 56th precinct of the 27 ward, and is an employé of the city water pipe extension department.

According to Frank Cristenson, special prosecutor for the election board, Conroy is charged with registering fourteen persons, seven of them fraudently, from a rooming house at 25 North Halsted street, for the primary of April 12.

Conroy was arraigned before County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and was held in bonds of $2,500. Although he does not live in the precinct of which he is captain, this is not a violation of the law, according to Cristenson.

FOUR FIRST WARD POLLS OFFICIALS GET YEAR IN JAIL

Four election officials of the 11th precinct of the 1st ward were sentenced yesterday by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki to serve a year each in the county jail for fraud in the primary of April 14, 1936. False tallies and canvasses were revealed in an investigation after the primary.

Those sentenced are Jack Swift of 1236 South Wabash avenue, a Democratic clerk; John Capra, a Republican judge, and Harry Gustison, a Democratic judge, both of 1234 South Wabash, and Charles Saltzman, 1239 South Wabash, a Republican clerk.

The four men were taken to the county jail in default of $2,500 bonds after motions for a new trial were overruled. The case was handled by John Cashen Jr., special prosecutor for the board of election commissioners.

JUDGE SHIFTS MARRIAGE MILL INTO REVERSE

Frees Chicago Bride Wed in Indiana.

The first Cook county annulment based on the recently revived Indiana statute of 1852, which shut down marriage mills of that state, was granted yesterday to Miss Mary Starkman, 20 years old, of 7615 Phillips avenue, from Maurice Lerman, 24, of 7016 East End avenue.

The old law, which forbids issuance of marriage licenses to nonresident females, other than Quakers, was invoked last year against Gretna Greens such as Crown Point and Valparaiso. It was upheld by the Indiana Supreme court last Jan. 11.

Movie to Tavern to Indiana.

Several suits based on the high court's decision have been filed, but Miss Starkman's was the first to be heard. She testified yesterday before Judge James Fardy that on last Nov. 7 she attended a movie with Lerman and that later they went to a tavern near 59th street and the outer drive.

After several drinks, Miss Starkman said, she was overcome by dizziness and Lerman took her for a drive. After she had slept awhile, her escort awakened her and said they were in Indiana.

Remembers Signing Something.

Later, she testified, she awakened again and dimly remembers signing something. Then the two went back to Chicago and Lerman told her they had been married. He took her home, she said.

Questioned by her attorney, Robert Cantwell Jr., Miss Starkman stated she is not a resident of Indiana and is not a Quaker. Judge Fardy then signed a decree.

HITS SENTENCING OF YOUNG FELONS TO ST. CHARLES

A. L. Bowen, state public welfare director, criticized in Springfield yesterday the recent practice of criminal and circuit courts in sentencing young felons to the St. Charles School for Boys. He urged action restricting the institution to dependent boys in danger of becoming deliquent. Young felons contaminate the dependent boys, he said. "Unless the young felons are barred from St. Charles the institution will quickly degenerate into a public meance," Bowen declared.

COURTNEY CALLS CONFERENCE ON JUVENILE CRIME

Judges, Civic Leaders to Submit Views.

State's Attorney Courtney yesterday issued a call for a meeting in his office on April 5 of judges, civic and religious leaders and others interested in adopting a plan of action for dealing with juvenile crime offenders. Ways and means of decreasing juvenile crime as well as the most effective way of punishing young criminals will be discussed.

The parade of teen-age criminals through the courts led Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington of the Criminal court to ask Gov. Horner last week to institute an investigation of the problem either by the legislature or a committee of citizens. The governor has been invited by Courtney to attend the conference.

Courtney Advocates Camp.

"I am calling a conference of men who are interested in the problem of youth, and invite you to be present," said the letter sent out by Courtney. "The particular concern of our community at this time centers in young offenders who find their way into the Criminal court. I already have publicly expressed myself that we are in serious need of a probationary camp to take care of many of these offenders who should not be sent to the penitentiary. I would like to obtain the best thought and expression from other interested persons on this subject."

The letter was sent to representatives of B'nai B'rith, the Jewish People's institute and the Big Brothers organization and to the following individuals: Clifford R. Shaw, Institute of Juvenile Research; Ernest Burgess, professor of sociology at the University of Chicago; Carroll H. Sudler, former regional director of the first Federal Housing administration; Bertram Cahn, president of the Chicago Crime commission, and Henry Barrett Chamberlain, operating director of the commission.

Church Leaders Invited.

The Rt. Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, head of the Catholic Youth organization, and Bishop George Craig Stewart of the Chicago diocese of the Episcopal church, Chief Justice Harrington, Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby of the Municipal court, Judge Michael L. McKinley of the Superior court, Public Defender Benjamin Bachrach, Dr. Harry R. Hoffman of the Criminal court behavior clinic, and Dr. Paul L. Schroeder, state criminologist, also were invited.

BRITISH REFUSAL TO HELP CZECHS DELIGHTS BERLIN

Nazis Encouraged; Vision New Conquests.

A Warning to Hitler.

He warned Hitler, however, that wars, once they break out, have a fashion of spreading. He said that even though the British would assume no new obligations they might be dragged into any conflict that started over Czechoslovakia.

Chamberlain made his eagerly awaited declaration on foreign policy before a packed house of commons with nearly every diplomat in London, including United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, present.

The prime minister said that the British would fight only where their "vital interests" were concerned. He indicated this would cover, first, defense of France and Belgium against unprovoked attack and, second, carrying out treaty obligations to Portugal, Iraq, and Egypt.

Chamberlain said he was satisfied he could make a deal with Premier Mussolini over Mediterranean problems and would continue the present policy of nonintervention in Spain. He rejected Russia's invitation to a conference of democratic powers on Nazi aggression in Europe as serving no useful purpose.

Message Quells Revolt.

While declaring the nation's whole energies would be devoted to speeding up the arms program, the prime minister's speech appears to have quelled the incipient revolt that was developing among his Conservative followers last week. His message also apparently reduced his Labor and Liberal opposition to impotency.

Chamberlain barely mentioned Austria except to say that methods adopted by Hitler had shaken international confidence. For this reason, he said, the British required a speeding up program "both for defense and counter offense," which would take the form especially of increasing the production of airplanes and anti-aircraft guns.

"To bring about the necessary progress, men and materials will be required," he said. "Rearmament work now must have priority in the nation's effort. Full and rapid equipment for self-defense must be the primary aim."

Calls League Unwieldy.

Chamberlain in his speech indicated that the league was an unwieldy piece of machinery and no instrument for providing so-called collective security. He said that collective security operations under league sanctions [economic penalties] differ little from the old alliances of pre-war days.

"I am confident peace will be maintained," Chamberlain said. "I cannot imagine any events in Europe which would change the fundamental basis of British foreign policy, which is the maintenance and preservation of peace. However, that does not mean that nothing would make us fight.

"We are bound by certain treaty obligations which would entail upon us the necessity of fighting if the occasion arose; and I hope no one doubts that we should be prepared in such event to fulfill those obligations.

"No Winners in War."

"Our object must always be to preserve those things which we consider essential without recourse to war, because we know that in war there are no winners.

"If Britain is to make a substantial contribution toward the establishment of what is our strongest interest [peace], we must be strongly armed.

"The solution of the question of relations between Czechoslovakia and the German minority in that country would go far to reëstablish a sense of stability over an area much wider than that immediately concerned."

A Warning to Aggressors.

Chamberlain then announced Britain would not go to the aid of nations where she is not bound by treaty. But, he followed with this significant statement:

"Where peace and war are concerned, legal obligations are not alone involved and if war were to break out it would be unlikely to be confined to those who have assumed such obligations.

"It would be quite impossible to say where it would end and what governments might become involved. The inexorable pressure of facts might well prove more powerful than formal pronouncements."

Foes Heckle Chamberlain.

During his speech, Chamberlain was heckled from the opposition benches. When he said he was satisfied Mussolini was not sending more soldiers to fight in the Spanish civil war, Ellis Smith, a Laborite, shouted: "You ought to be ashamed of yourself. Children are being bombed."

Again when the prime minister referred to Il Duce's assurances that Italy had no territorial, political, or economic aims in Spain or the Balearic islands, Smith cried out: "You'll believe anything."

Chamberlain's apparent credulity in assurances from dictators was the theme of an attack delivered by Maj. C. R. Attlee, Labor party leader.

Attlee charged that Chamberlain "yielded to force" and that no reliance could be placed on Mussolini's pledges.

Winston Churchill, veteran Conservative statesman who last week was mentioned as a possible rival for Chamberlain's job, urged an immediate public announcement of the Anglo-French defensive alliance in order to check European dictators.

He painted a hair-raising picture of Hitler's aim to Nazify the Danube nations and get a tight grip on food supplies and other materials in the Balkans to insure reserves for a long war. He classed Germany's objectives as a grave danger to the British empire and called on the British and French governments to rally the forces of Jugo-Slavia, Bulgaria, Rumania, Greece, Turkey, and Czechoslovakia to resist any threat of invasion.

While parliament was listening to Chamberlain and his critics, Sir Thomas Inskip, minister for coördination of defense, met with leaders of 32 labor unions to talk over plans for increasing production of armaments.

WHERE BRITISH WOULD FIGHT, AND WHY

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain yesterday refused to give Czechoslovakia (shown in white) "a prior guarantee" of immediate armed help against German aggression. In a declaration of foreign policy he said Britain would fight for France and Belgium in event of unprovoked attack and would give armed assistance to Portugal, Iraq, and Egypt because of treaty obligations. These five countries are shown in black. Captions in the map explain why Britain would aid them in war. Story starts on page 1.)

SLOVAKS UNITE WITH GERMANS IN LIBERTY DRIVE

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, March 24.—(AP)—The German drive for autonomy in Czechoslovakia has given a big impetus to similar aspirations of the Slovaks.

Their champion, Father Andreas Hlinka, 73 years old, leader of the Slovak Catholic People's party, today announced that German and Hungarian minorities in Slovakia had joined in the battle for autonomy.

[The population of Slovakia is approximately 3,300,000. Hungarians number 550,000.]

405,000 Czechs in Austria Approve Hitler's Coup

VIENNA, March 24.—(AP)—The central Czechoslovak organization announced today that the Czech minority in Austria would vote for Austro-German union in the April 10 plebiscite. Czechs in Austria number about 405,000.

SENATE REBUFF IN PARIS PERILS BLUM'S CABINET

Finance Plan Rejected; Strikes Called.

PARIS, March 24.—(AP)—France tonight faced a new cabinet crisis. It developed when the hostile senate rejected one of Premier Leon Blum's financial bills and made clear its desire that he resign to make way for a national union government. Many deputies said the days of his People's Front government, formed March 13, were numbered.

The senate in its action against Blum rejected by a vote of 193 to 88 a bill already approved by the chamber of deputies to permit the premier to transfer a surplus of 3,149,000,000 francs [about $94,470,000] from the exchange equalization fund to the special national defense account.

Cabinet Meets Today.

Blum did not pin the fate of his government on the stabilization fund question and therefore remained in power. The possibility that he might resign without attempting to force reconsideration of his bill in the senate, however, was seen by political observers in the announcement that an extraordinary cabinet meeting was called for tomorrow.

In the senate debate on Blum's bill, five senators called upon the Socialist premier to resign in favor of a national union—all party—government. A common theme ran through their speeches—that such a government alone was believed capable of strengthening French economy, finances, and military defenses to meet a threat of war.

The senate later adopted a bill giving the government an extra 5,000,000,000 francs [about $150,000,000] from the Bank of France to meet current expenses. The margin was 156 votes to 137.

Chamber Passes War Bill.

The chamber of deputies, meanwhile, unanimously passed a bill providing for the "total mobilization" of France in time of war.

Strikes increased today in the Paris region among metal workers and 6,000 chemical workers in factories in the Lille district quit work for an hour and a half. All the striking workers belong to unions under control of the General Confederation of Labor, one of the most powerful elements behind the People's Front.

Leaders of the more than 20,000 "metallos" on strike in the Paris region said they had struck for new collective contracts. The strikers themselves echoed a charge carried in Le Populaire, Socialist party newspaper, that a national union government might be an excuse to put rightists into power.

NO WAR THIS YEAR, ENVOY TO BRITAIN ANNOUNCES TO U. S.

LONDON, March 24.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Joseph Patrick Kennedy counseled Americans tonight to put out of their minds any "worries that a general war in Europe is in the immediate offing."

The ambassador listened to Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's address on foreign policy in the house of commons, and then went to an American club dinner, where he asserted: "I feel safe in predicting that no such thing [a European war] will happen for the rest of this year at least."

Kennedy said he saw a basis for belief that economic conditions in England would "get better in short order."

"Money will be spent rapidly on [rearmament]," he said. "Acceleration of trade and maintenance of high rates of activity seem inevitable."

POLAND'S JEWS FIGHT KOSHER SLAUGHTER BAN

Threat to Stop Eating Meat Is Made.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, March 24.—Poland's Jews today again appealed to their co-religionists abroad for aid against new repressions by the Polish government.

Tomorrow a bill will be introduced in parliament extending the law restricting the ritual slaughter of animals. The measure completely prohibits kosher slaughter methods throughout the country. It already has been approved by a parliamentary committee.

Agree to Abstain from Meat.

Representatives of all Jewish organizations in Poland announced that should the law be passed Jews will abstain from eating meat. The Jews are the country's largest meat consumers and control the meat packing industry. In the event the law passes more anti-Semitic riots among the peasants are feared.

Anxiety of the Jews was further increased by another bill before parliament which gives the government the authority to cancel the citizenship of persons who live abroad five years. While this law was chiefly aimed at Vicenty Witos, exiled leader of the Peasants' party and other political refugees, its sponsors said they want to prevent the return to Poland of thousands of Jews who have migrated to Austria, Rumania, and elsewhere.

Prince Janus Radzivills' conservative newspaper Czas said that Poland has been obliged to take back thousands of Jews from Germany and Danzig and that more are trying to return from Austria, Rumania, Hungary, and Jugo-Slavia.

Demands Return Be Stopped.

Czas said their return must be prevented because Poland "must find some way to rid herself of 1,000,000 Jews." The newspaper recalled Poland's appeals to England to allow more Jews to enter Palestine, to France to permit Jews to migrate to her colonies, and to the league of nations to find homes for Poland's unwanted citizens. The paper said that unless the problem is solved anti-Semitic excesses are likely to increase.

The Polish government has refused to grant trials for twelve members of the Warsaw Stock exchange. The men are alleged to have taken advantage of Poland's recent ultimatum to Lithuania to end an unofficial state of war to start rumors of a panic and thereby lower prices of securities. Nine of the accused are Jews. All are imprisoned at the Bereza Kartushka concentration camp, the most dreaded penal institution in Poland.

War in Mountains

REBELS SMASH LOYALIST LINES ON ARAGON FRONT

Make Gains Near Huesca and Saragossa.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish frontier], March 24.—(AP)—Spanish rebels in northern Aragon today reported smashing victories along a thirty-five mile irregular front in a continuation of their sweep eastward toward the Mediterranean.

Rebel advices said four villages fell to Gen. Francisco Franco's fighters, whose next immediate objectives were government mountain strongholds in the Sierra de Alcubierre, twenty-five miles east of Saragossa. The loyalists mobilized thousands of Aragon farmers to dig trenches for the government troops.

Aim at Mountain Positions.

The rebels said one column occupied the village of San Garren and Taberna de Isuela, some ten miles south of Huesca on the road to Alberobajo, in a converging movement aimed at the government positions in the mountains. Alberobajo is ten miles east and about thirty miles northwest of the Sierra de Alcubierre.

Another rebel column was reported to have occupied Bergues farther south and headed toward nearby Torrebergues, while a third column marched on Granen, thirty miles north of the mountains.

Rebel troops were said to have occupied Baladota, dominating the railroad line to Lerida, Catalonian key city seventy miles east of Saragossa. Rebels were attempting to add Catalonia, Spain's northeastern corner, to the territory they have conquered in northern and western Spain.

Fight on Saragossa Road.

Franco's forces, which crossed the Ebro river near Quinto, fifty-five miles from Lerida, smashed at government lines before Bujaraloz, halfway between Saragossa and Lerida.

[Reports from rebel troops advancing north from the point of the river crossing said they had cut the main Saragossa-Lerida highway and extended their new salient toward the Montes de Farlete, a range south of the Sierra de Alcubierre and about twenty-five miles from Saragossa.]

The rebels asserted their flanking movement, aimed at the Sierra de Alcubierre, threatened what they considered one of the government's strongest positions on the Aragon front.

Government troops were reported preparing for a determined stand in the mountains. Success in the rebel turning movement, however, would force the defenders to flee or be trapped behind the rebel lines. While the rebel forces drove east of Saragossa, a southern unit advanced along the Alcaniz-Caspe line.

How I dress well and save money

3 simple rules every man can follow

1 I buy direct from the maker! Back in school, I learned "a straight line is the shortest distance between two points." And traveling a straight line costs less, whether you're driving a car—or buying a suit of clothes. That's why I trade at Bond's. They have their own factories—they sell through their own stores. No expensive detours, here. No extra profits added on for any third party. I figure this saves me anywhere between $5 and $7.50.

2 I always get 2 trousers! I'm a crank about my appearance. But I can't afford a movie star's wardrobe. That's why extra trousers are important. They're life-savers for rainy days. Money-savers because they double the life of my suits. Naturally, I go where I get the biggest choice—Bond's! All their suits come with extra trousers, at three low prices—$25—$30—$35.

3 I "Charge it"—the Bond way! With this service, I can afford to wear much better clothes—because I don't have to pay all at once. I do it either weekly or twice a month. It's a great convenience for a fellow like me. And it costs not one cent extra!

U. S. AND BRITAIN TO FOLLOW JAP WARSHIP LEAD

Both to Build Vessels in Excess of 35,000 Tons.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The United States and Great Britain will build battleships in excess of 35,000 tons, Secretary of State Cordell Hull revealed today.

In view of reports, unofficial but reliable, that Japan is constructing superbattleships, the two other great naval powers must follow suit, Hull indicated. This will be done by invoking the escalator clause of the London naval treaty which provides that signers may build beyond the 35,000 ton limit by giving formal notice to the other parties.

The secretary said that recommendations to build beyond the tonnage limit had been received from diplomatic and naval representatives of the United States, Great Britain, and France, who have been consulting in London for nearly a month.

Notice Expected Soon.

A formal notice of intention to invoke the escalator clause will be made in a day or so. This will take the form of an exchange of notes between the United States and Great Britain.

It was understood that France will not build larger battleships, in the hope of keeping Germany and Italy from building them.

The exact tonnage of the new ships has not been decided. The consultations in London are proceeding to determine what upper limit, if any, shall be set.

The house today started debate on the war department's 447 million dollar appropriation bill. Representative J. Buell Snyder [D., Penn.], chairman of the subcommittee which prepared the bill declared that the total of the bill, largest in 18 years, should be even larger in the light of present world conditions.

Craig Statement Cited.

He said he based that opinion on the statement of Gen. Malin Craig, chief of staf, that the army needs equipment and a reserve force which would cost 160 millions.

"The President was apprised of that need," Snyder said, "but he recommended only a supplemental estimate of $16,880,000.

"I think we must assume that the President feels safe in not recommending more at this time. I think we may also assume in the light of more recent developments that the President unhesitatingly will supplement the budget should his touch with international developments convince him of the wisdom of such a course."

$3,600,000 SOUGHT BY PAUL WENDEL IN HIS KIDNAPING

Newark, N. J., March 24.—(AP)—Paul H. Wendel filed suit in federal court today seeking $3,600,000 damages from former Gov. Harold G. Hoffman, Ellis H. Parker Sr. and his son, Ellis Jr., and five other persons for alleged conspiracy in his kidnaping and torture, which he said caused him to confess falsely the Lindbergh kidnaping.

Both Parkers recently were sentenced to the federal penitentiary in connection with the kidnaping of Wendel. The elder Parker was given a six year term and his son three years.

The former Trenton attorney charged Hoffman directed the crimes committed against him. Among other named defendants were Mrs. Anna Bading, secretary to Parker Sr., former chief of Burlington county detectives; Gustav Lockwood, a state motor vehicle department inspector who investigated the Lindbergh-Hauptmann case for Hoffman, and Carroll T. Jones, head of the state colony for feeble-minded males at New Lisbon, where Wendel was confined after being brought from Brooklyn, N. Y.

MISS NANCY DIXON.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—[Special.]—A former night club caterer, Peter Baumann, is defendant in two heart balm cases demanding a total of $200,000. Mrs. Maybelle Hooper Reed, mother of Comedienne Martha Raye, figures in both suits.

Miss Nancy C. Dixon, 20, St. Louis stenographer, filed a $50,000 breach of promise suit against Baumann, charging he jilted her to pay court to Mrs. Reed. Several weeks ago Baumann was sued for $150,000 damages by Miss Raye's father, Peter F. Reed, who charged that Bauman alienated Mrs. Reed's affections. The Reeds were divorced a year ago.

JOAN BENNETT KEPT HOME BY CUT ON CHEEK

Hollywood, Cal., March 24.—[Special.]—Suffering acute discomfort from a cut on her right cheek, Joan Bennett, screen actress, was under a doctor's care in her home today. Her cheek was slashed accidentally by a bayonet during hand to hand fighting between confederate and union soldiers in a scene being filmed at Paramount ranch. The bayonet narrowly missed penetrating her eye. Miss Bennett was given emergency treatment by Dr. R. A. Kennedy, company physician, and then sent home. To avoid disruption of the shooting schedule of the picture she reported to Director James Hogan that she would be on call for long shots in which the wound would not show. Close-ups will be postponed until the cut is healed.

CHICAGO POLICE HUNT FOR 2 WHO FLED ALCATRAZ

Chicago police were directed yesterday to watch for Ralph Roe and Theodore Cole, who escaped from Alcatraz Island federal prison last December and were reported seen Wednesday in St. Louis, Mo. Although first reports after their escape indicated they might have drowned in the turbulent waters in San Francisco bay surrounding the island, yesterday's message relayed from the state highway police said the convicts were believed to be riding freight trains or hitch-hiking into Chicago.

CANADA REARMS TO DEFEND COAST AGAINST ATTACK

$34,000,000 Bill Given to Parliament.

BY GEORGE SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 24.—A $34,000,000 defense program was presented to parliament today by Ian Mackenzie, minister of defense. He said it was a "justifiable assumption" that the United States and British navies would coöperate with Canada in warding off attacks on either the Atlantic or the Pacific.

But Canada, he added, had made no commitments nor did she have any specific understanding concerning defense with the governments at Washington, D. C., and London.

Aims to Preserve Neutrality.

"I believe public opinion is in favor of a rational and reasonable policy of defense of our shores," he told the house of commons.

"There is not the slightest suggestion of aggression in this program against any country in the world. We must be ready to preserve our neutrality and protect our country from raids from any quarters."

Mackenzie said this year's defense program has a threefold purpose: Preservation of Canadian neutrality; defense of the Canadian coastline, and defense of focal areas of Canadian trade routes.

Canada is purchasing two new destroyers from Britain and ninety-five new fighting planes for the air force. A naval reserve force of fishermen will be organized on both coasts.

Orders Fighting Planes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., March 24.—The National Steel Car corporation today received an order from the dominion government for the construction of twelve single engine fighting planes at a cost of $390,000.

Australia Rearms.

CANBERRA, Australia, March 24.—(AP)—Premier Lyons announced a three year defense program for Australia today, involving new armaments expenditures totaling $124,250,000. With the regular defense maintenance programs, it was estimated Australia's armaments for the next three years would cost $215,000,000.

The three year program includes $38,350,000 for the navy, $27,500,000 for the army, $44,000,000 for the air force, and $14,000,000 for munitions.

It was announced the government was buying two cruisers from Britain. Two sloops and three coastal defense vessels will be built in Australian yards and navy personnel will be increased by 1,500 men. The authorized naval force in 1937 was 4,290 men.

Anti-submarine and anti-aircraft defenses will be strengthened in principal ports. Air force plans provide for an increase to 198 first line planes by 1941.

Burglars Take 350 Pound Safe from Downtown Shop

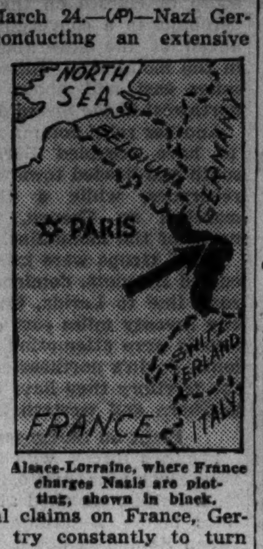
FRENCH POLICE TOLD TO HALT NAZI 'PLOTS' IN ALSACE-LORRAINE

PARIS, March 24.—(AP)—Nazi Germany is conducting an extensive propaganda campaign in Alsace-Lorraine, Joseph Paul-Boncour, foreign affairs minister, told the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies today. Despite Reichsfuehrer Hitler's pledge that the Nazis make no territorial claims on France, German agents try constantly to turn citizens of Alsace-Lorraine against this country, Paul-Boncour said.



Alsace-Lorraine, where France charges Nazis are plotting, shown in black.

French police in the recovered provinces have been told to stamp out "Hitlerian intrigues," the foreign minister asserted.

Many of the 1,900,000 citizens of Alsace-Lorraine, which before the world war was German territory, speak only German. Deputies viewed even partial success of Nazi propaganda among these citizens as a threat to smooth mobilization.

GERMANS BUILD AIR RAID REFUGE IN SHAPE OF CONE

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 24.—An air raid tower, as a new departure in shelters against bomb attacks, is being developed here. It is a gas proof, reinforced concrete tower, constructed in the form of a cone and painted brown and green to make it difficult for aviators to see. The first one constructed will hold 300 persons. The idea is that it shall be able to stand against all but heavy explosive bombs striking directly on its pointed apex. The cost is much less than elaborate underground shelters that need several entrances and exits at some distance from each other.

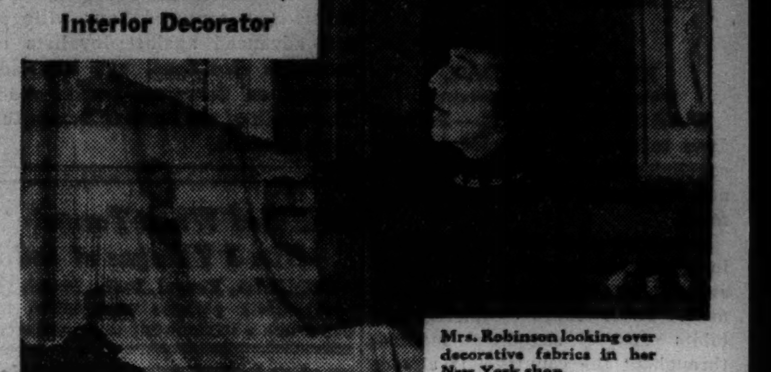
Life Begins At 40

"You Acquire Greater Ability As You Grow Older"

—says GERTRUDE GHEEN ROBINSON, Interior Decorator



Mrs. Robinson looking over decorative fabrics in her New York shop.

Since She Was 40, Mrs. Robinson, Has Built a Small Shop into an Internationally Known Firm

TODAY, Gertrude Gheen Robinson is beginning her 20th year as president of Miss Gheen, Inc., internationally known decorating firm. Through her radio talks, lectures and magazine articles, she has helped women all over the country to make their own homes more practically beautiful places to live in.

Her clientele is now spread over 28 states in America, and she has also done work in England. Yet at 40, Mrs. Robinson had only a tiny, one-room decorating shop on a side street in New York.

Few People at 40 Seem to Realize How Much They Can Do

"In the days when I was 40," she says, "the age limit of women's activity was clearly defined. I wouldn't have believed then that life after 40 could be so thrilling.

"The real tragedy in life is that so few people have the slightest idea of their own capabilities. They are limited by the thought of age. Nothing equals the satisfaction of finding you can actually do something you thought was impossible."

Mrs. Robinson believes the experience of people over 40 is of priceless value. "They have so many more standards than younger people. They have proved so many more things. This experience, plus a capacity for good hard work, makes a rare combination of qualities no younger person can possess."

Read these letters from three other people who accomplished what they set out to do—AFTER 40.

Stylist Finds New Energy, More Ideas

Miss Dolly Brann Nerves calmed

Dear Life Begins:

After several months of working furiously, I got to a point where I could not go on. I'm a dress stylist and my work was practically at a standstill from fatigue and indigestion. I'd sit at my desk and stare at the wall—thinking how horrible it would be if I never had another idea.

One evening I read an advertisement—"Life Begins at 40." That aroused my interest. I was just past 40.

I bought some Fleischmann's Yeast next morning. Before three weeks were over, I felt like laughing at life for the first time in almost a year. The indigestion, that had kept my nerves in tight knots, went away—just disappeared.

In a month I was back at work. And I'm able to draw on what seems to be an endless supply of ideas and energy.

I work all day long. Then in the evening I get dressed up and go out to see more new clothes and styles. I've forgotten all about the time I thought I was a failure. My business is humming and the future never looked brighter!—DOLLY BRANN

Mrs. Ann N. Spaulding—Lost tired feeling

54—New Work Brings Contract

Dear Life Begins:

I do a variety of statistical and typing jobs for various concerns. Besides, I have taken care of the house and brought up four splendid children.

Quite a while ago, I found I was run-down—nervous and tired out all the time. There wasn't any way of cutting down my family responsibility—so I looked for some other solution.

I asked the doctor if Fleischmann's Yeast would help me. He said it would, so I got some. After about a week, my appetite picked up. I had more pep, wasn't nervous. I was able to keep up and see things through.

Today, I am 54 and all my children are grown up. Within the last year, a musician friend induced me to try my hand at writing song lyrics. With the result that I have just signed a contract with a big music-publishing house.

Ready to Meet Emergencies

Mrs. Daniel MacEachern Digestion improved

Dear Life Begins:

My husband is a carpenter, and during the building slump, work in his line was scarce.

I took a job, to help out. But just when the job was going fine, I thought I'd have to give it up. I began to be very nervous. I didn't sleep well, my digestion wasn't right and I was awfully logy and listless. I seemed to be always tired and hungry, yet when it actually came to eating I didn't have any interest in food.

I kept my troubles to myself, so as not to worry my husband, but I knew I'd have to do something. It occurred to me to try Fleischmann's Yeast. I began eating it, putting it between two crackers, like a sandwich. Soon I began to feel much better, more like working. My appetite got better, and with my improvement came good digestion.

Now that my husband's trade has picked up, I'm not working—but I'm more than equal to it, should another emergency arise. As it is, I do the work for our 5-room apartment. Fleischmann's Yeast helps keep me full of pep at 45.

RUTH E. MacEACHERN

A Feeling of Age Often Follows the Slowing Down of Digestive Action

Often it is surprisingly easy to gain back energy and staying power after 40. Many others have done so by helping the one real weak spot which was making their whole system feel run-down.

This weak spot is slower digestion. Around 40, the gastric juices in the stomach may begin to be too weak and scanty to prepare your food promptly for complete digestion.

You can quicken digestion be eating Fleischmann's Yeast. Millions of tiny, living yeast plants in each cake of this important food help stimulate a fuller, more potent flow of the digestive juices.

By eating 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every day you can be sure of getting a good supply of 4 essential vitamins: the Nerve Vitamin, the Bone Vitamin, the Cold-Resistance Vitamin and the Vitality Vitamin. Their names tell you how important each one of these vitamins is to all-around good health.

You'll soon learn to like the fresh, malty flavor of Fleischmann's Yeast. Eat one cake ½ hour before each meal. Doing this promotes a full, strong flow of digestive juices to be ready in time to take prompt care of your food.

Begin helping your health, regaining youthful vigor and energy, today.

TAXES

By CALEB

A CUSTOMER, who had heard high taxes assailed many times, asked us if tax wailing is not uncalled for. "After all," she said, "we live like most other people, but the only taxes I can think of are income tax, a tax on our house, and the sales tax. That isn't so much to ask to run our country."

We told her she was paying for more taxes than she had listed. Businesses must pass taxes on to their customers in price. We told her of some of the many taxes being imposed directly or indirectly on business today.

They are: corporation undistributed profits tax; capital stock tax; excess profits tax; surtax on personal holding companies; estate tax; gift tax; taxes on admissions, dues, and initiation fees; taxes on tobacco, petroleum and foods; taxes on pipe line oil transportation, telegraph facilities, leased wires, safety deposit boxes, electrical energy, and other facilities; stamp taxes on capital stocks, transfers, bonds, deeds, and playing cards; excise taxes on sales by manufacturers of toilet preparations, furs, automobiles, tires and inner tubes, mechanical refrigerators, sporting goods, firearms, shells, cartridges, radio receiving sets, chewing gum, phonograph records, malt products, matches, and gasoline; excise taxes on sales of automobile parts and accessories, cameras and lenses; Social Security taxes, including taxes on employers and employes for Federal Old Age Benefits, and taxes on employers, and in some states on employes, for unemployment compensation.

All the above are Federal.

Of the following partial list of state and city taxes, some are duplicates of Federal taxes. Gasoline taxes; automobile license taxes; sales taxes; income taxes; inheritance taxes; gross receipts taxes; chain store taxes; amusement taxes; occupational taxes; taxes on mortgage registration; license taxes on merchandise; license taxes on brokers and agents; license taxes on manufacturing; license taxes on service enterprises, such as hotels and restaurants, employment agencies, warehouses, cold storage warehouses, et cetera; taxes on public service enterprises; taxes on insurance companies; taxes on railroads; taxes on franchises; taxes on capital stock, real estate and personal property, and scores of miscellaneous inspection fees and licenses.

This is in no sense a complete list of the various kinds of taxes imposed layer on layer upon business. Not all of these taxes are operative on all businesses or in all states.

But generally they are so numerous that business men are required to devote considerable attention to how taxes are to be met, instead of to the expansion and development of their businesses for the prosperity of the nation.

Government in this country today, local and federal, has the vast income of about eleven billion dollars a year, but is deeply in debt to the extent of over fifty-six billion dollars.

JAPANESE PEERS PASS WARTIME DICTATOR BILL

Industries, Man Power Subject to Control.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 24.—The national mobilization bill was passed by the upper house tonight without revisions and thus became a law. The law will give the government almost unlimited authority to mobilize man power and economic resources both at home and in China as a war necessity.

The peers unanimously voted for the bill after obtaining government assurances that it will not affect the functioning of the constitution.

Passage of the measure was hailed as a victory for the government in view of the pledge that the government does not intend to put the bill into operation for the time being. The government now is turning its attention to electric power control and other bills.

Authorize Jap-Nanking Régime.

The lower house adopted bills to create agencies for the exploitation of conquered territories in China. The cabinet decreed that a new government in central China be established at Nanking, "under the umbrella" of the Japanese sponsored North China régime in Peking. The Nanking régime is to be inaugurated Saturday.

The exploitation bills provide for the organization of a North China Development company with a capitalization of $102,000,000 and a Central China Promotion company capitalized at $29,000,000. These sums, it was said, will be used for developing natural resources, assisting smaller Japanese industrialists, and contributing to the coördination of Japanese, Manchukuan and Chinese culture. The army is to direct the schemes.

Suspects U. S. Navy's Aims.

Foreign Minister Koki Hirota told the diet that the new central China régime will take over the customs in Shanghai. He said negotiations were being conducted with Great Britain, the United States, and other countries.

The Japanese navy is convinced the United States $1,121,000,000 navy expansion bill is aimed primarily at Japan. For this reason Japan is closely watching developments, Rear Admiral Kiyoshi Noda, navy spokesman, declared today. He said it is his personal view that if the United States is not thinking of overseas operations it will not need a fleet of the size contemplated.

400 Chinese Are Killed.

SHANGHAI, March 25.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Chinese troops crossed to the north bank of the Yellow river today and forced back a Japanese outpost, Chinese sources asserted. The attack took place, it was said, seven miles west of Menghsien, Honan province, on the western side of the vital central front.

Four hundred Japanese soldiers were killed and the Japanese garrison routed from its position on the north bank of the mighty Yellow, the Chinese said.

The attack was made after some Japanese troops were sent eastward from that area to aid the stalemated Suchow offensive.

Wenhsien Is Encircled.

Menghsien, which the Chinese said was being attacked also, is about twenty-five miles northwest and across the river from Chengchow, where the east-west Lunghai and north-south Peking-Hankow railroads cross. Gen. Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese commander-in-chief, has been reported in personal command of the Chinese forces in that sector.

A Japanese garrison at Wenhsien, about twenty miles east of Menghsien, also was encircled, Chinese reports indicated.

On the eastern, coastal, side of the Chinese-held corridor between Japan's conquests in North and Central China, new detachments of central army troops were said to have strengthened the Chinese defenses north of Suchow, Kiangsu province. Suchow is the junction of the Lunghai and the north-south Tientsin-Pukow railroads.

Entrenched Near Canal.

The Chinese were entrenched on the south bank of the Grand canal, twenty-two miles north of Suchow. The Japanese offensive has been held up at the canal for ten days.

At Yenchow, about eighty miles behind the Japanese front, the Chinese said two strong columns were converging in an effort to break the Japanese supply line.

Japanese reports said 1,000 Chinese were killed in Japanese mopping-up operations in the Lake Tai area, southwest of Shanghai.

Visits Son in Jail

The father of Theodore Danielsen Jr. with son at county jail yesterday. The boy is charged with killing his mother with a knife.

The father of Theodore Danielsen Jr., who killed his mother with a butcher knife on March 3, in the family home at 5316 Lieb avenue, after she reproved him for not going to school, visited his son yesterday in the county jail for the first time. He had just returned from Ripon, Wis., where he has been since the slain woman was buried there several weeks ago.

The young slayer was nervous as he received the news that his father was to visit him. He asked his guard for a few moments to compose himself. As father and son met they hurried into each other's arms.

"I'm glad to see you," the boy said.

Shortly after the visit, Warden Frank Sain of the county jail released an essay written by young Danielsen, in a school class at the county jail, setting forth his views of the causes of juvenile crime.

TWO LEVINE CASE SUSPECTS TELL OF KIDNAPING PLANS

New Rochelle, N. Y., March 24.—[Special.]—Edward J. Penn, 18 years old, and Warner F. Luck, 23, held for attempted extortion in the Peter Levine kidnaping, have confessed a plot to kidnap the 21 year old son of a Pelham, N. Y., millionaire, it was revealed today.

It was for this purpose, according to Lieut. George Reifenberger, that they had equipped themselves with the shoulder length black hoods, chains, padlocks, pistol, and rifle that were found in their homes. They waived examination when arraigned on the extortion charges today and were remanded to jail to await the grand jury.

The Levine boy, aged 12, son of Murray Levine, disappeared from his home here one month ago today. The two suspects are accused of writing a note on March 5 to Mr. Levine demanding $30,000 ransom for release of the boy, but authorities are inclined to believe they did not have anything to do with the actual kidnaping, but used the note writing to Levine as a "tune-up" for the planned kidnaping of the millionaire's son, whose name was not disclosed. However, Capt. T. V. Kiernan of the police here clung to his belief the two were connected with the Levine case.

British Motor Ship Sinks After Collision; 3 Drown

LONDON, March 24.—(AP)—The 34 ton British motor vessel Chagford today was reported sunk and three of its crew missing following a collision with the 5,589 ton American steamer Black Osprey in the English channel off the Isle of Wight. The American vessel saved the Chagford's master and all but three of its crew.

DOWNERS GROVE MISSES STREET; SLEUTHS BUSY

Irate Citizen Enlightens Mayor About Politics.

Mayor Henry Dicke of Downers Grove has been vaguely troubled by several matters lately. The tree trimmer who didn't climb trees puzzled him some, as did the affair of the wrecked automobile and the missing truck tires.

But until yesterday he paid little mind to the committee of business men who insisted there ought to be an old time investigation. Then it came to him that the suburb's streets are disappearing. He said to himself, "Something is wrong." And he invited the business men to roll up their sleeves and go to it.

Speaks Out in Public.

The events that had been so vague and nebulous to Mayor Dicke were compiled into cold, concrete charges and were voiced by Mrs. Lucy Eichhorst, 4409 Highland avenue, in the suburb. Mrs. Eichhorst is of probably the oldest family in Downers Grove. Her great-grandfather, Pierce Downer, founded the town, she says.

Her charges are under investigation by a committee of American Legion and Lions club members and a group of merchants. They are chiefly interested in the missing street, which Mrs. Eichhorst says was ordered torn up so that the paving bricks could be sold by a village employé. This employé, she added, neglected to turn into the treasury the money he received for the bricks.

The auto wrecking was the work of a village commissioner who, with a relative, went for a joy ride in the car, and there was no record made of the incident, said Mrs. Eichhorst.

Lists Variety of Iniquities.

Her other charges, equally interesting to Mayor Dicke, include the following:

That a village employé removed $300 worth of tires from a village truck and sold them for $150, leaving the truck useless in a garage.

That the price of a $150 concrete mixer was raised to $268 and that the seller rebated the difference to the official who purchased it for the village.

That a village commissioner imported his brother from North Carolina to trim village trees, then wouldn't allow him to climb them because he might fall and be injured.

"I have invited the committee to go over the books," said Mayor Dicke. "I have been thinking something was wrong; that some one was lax. By the way, in the past commissioners have been allowed to spend up to $500 of village money without supervision. That is different now. The limit is $10."

BOY, 16, CONFESSES SLAYING SWEETHEART IN DEATH COMPACT

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—A death pact which was the climax of a youthful love affair was blamed by police tonight for the slaying of a stenographer. Her boy lover, who confessed shooting her, was jailed.

Donald Carroll Jr., 16 years old, the son of a retired army officer, apparently lost his nerve after shooting his sweetheart, Charlotte Matthiesen, 18 years old, District Attorney Charles P. Sullivan said.

Shortly after noon the boy telephoned to police saying: "Send some one quickly. Help is needed."

Officers went to the suburban Jackson Heights apartment of his father, Donald Carroll Sr., and found the boy standing dazed over the body of his sweetheart, his father's .45 caliber revolver in his hand. She died a few moments after police arrived.

Inspector John L. Lagarenne said the couple had been sweethearts for several years and that Miss Matthiesen had told Carroll she believed she was to become a mother.

3 BIG TVA DAMS IN SHOALS AREA SURVEYED BY AIR

Farm Lands Suffer from Effects of Erosion.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nashville, Tenn., March 24.—[Special.]—Wilson, Wheeler, and Guntersville, three major hydro-electric projects in Alabama, were covered from the air on the third part of THE TRIBUNE'S aerial survey of the Tennessee Valley authority. This is the region where TVA had its inception in the old Muscle Shoals project. Of the three TVA dams now in operation —Norris, Wheeler, and Wilson—two are in this reach of river and they are producing more than two-thirds the kilowatts at present generated by the authority. The Guntersville dam is 53 per cent completed.

The Tribune amphibion took off from Chattanooga airport at 1:25 Sunday after lunch and the replenishing of the airplane's 220 gallon fuel tanks. With the river winding in great curves to the right, it flew into Alabama. Below Bridgeport it passed a riffle stretching across the stream, the submerged Widow's Bar dam, and crossed to the north bank of the Tennessee near Stevenson.

Land Grows Flatter.

The landscape from the air was exhibiting a different agricultural pattern than it had further upstream among the hills. The land grew flatter, although it had plenty of ridges and hills.

For thirty miles and more the most noticeable aspect of agriculture was the increase in terracing and contour farming on the ridges and slopes. Many fields were in fantastic geometrical patterns, the plowing following the curves of the hillsides to prevent the soil from being washed away. Soil erosion was less marked than on the river above, but there was plenty of it, and often the plane passed over farmsteads with gashes where the rainfall and erosion had eaten up acres.

At Guntersville the landscape kept getting flatter and flatter. Along the bottoms on either side were the most fertile lands, replenished with fertility in the spring by freshets, but on the hillsides were farms half eaten away. They looked famished.

More than Half Finished.

The dam, the fourth major construction project of TVA, is somewhat more than half finished. It is nine miles downstream from Guntersville, Ala., and 349 miles from the mouth of the Tennessee. When finished it will back the water up for 82 miles to Hale's Bar dam. The latter is a public utility dam 33 miles below Chattanooga.

The dam is to be 89 feet high and 3,950 feet long, including two earth fills of 2,565 feet. The power house which is still to be built, will have room for four 25,000 kilowatt generating units. Two of these units will be the initial installation, with 50,000 total kilowatts at the start.

The reservoir created by Guntersville dam will have an area of 63,300 acres and a normal reservoir volume of 886,000 acre feet. Some 107,000 acres of land are to be acquired for reservoir and backwater protection. About 1,000 families have to seek new homes.

The Guntersville dam is to cost in its ultimate stage $38,524,000.

Bottomlands Flooded.

After swooping down for pictures, the airplane circled at Decatur, which was a hive of industry when Wheeler dam was being built. Bottomlands are flooded by the rivers and the stream is widened out due to Wheeler dam. From the air the river banks look dreary enough. In these parts TVA has been hunting mosquitoes in a campaign against malaria. Decatur reported last fall a drop in the market for proprietary medicines and a decline in the shivers and shakes among farmfolk.

The amphibion flew over Elk river, a tributary, a few minutes later and in a jiffy was at Wheeler dam, where the river is as broad below as it is above. Evidences of erosion smote the eye here and there. Good farms were side by side with others not so good.

On one tract would be fine looking fields with good buildings. Adjoining it would be a farm with a dilapidated cabin, much of its good land clawed and pawed away by the rainfall. To tell the truth, on this leg of the flight, this observer was more impressed by the differences in agriculture, between good farming and bad, than by all the dams, power houses, and transmission lines.

Wheeler Dam 72 Feet High.

Wheeler dam stands 72 feet high and stretches 6,500 feet across the Tennessee river at the upper end of Wilson pool. It has a single lift navigation lock with lift of 53 feet.

From the air its outdoor generating units could be seen. The initial installation has two 45,000 horse power turbines each connected to a 32,400 kilowatt generator. It is now producing 64,800 kilowatts.

In its initial stage the cost of the Wheeler project was 37 million dollars, in its ultimate stage it is estimated by TVA at $44,757,000. The dam forms a yellow pool about 100 square miles in area, stretching up the river 74 miles to the half finished Guntersville dam. To form the reservoir 842 families had to be moved and 176 graves. Land to be acquired was 104,000 acres, of which 67,000 are in the reservoir. The controlled storage is 1,380,000 acre feet.

Wilson At Muscle Shoals.

In no time at all, the airplane was circling over Wilson dam, the first high dam to be built on the Tennessee. It is at Muscle Shoals, built by the army engineers. The work started in April, 1918, as a wartime measure for the production of nitrates at Muscle Shoals to be used in explosives. It was completed in September, 1925.

Up to the time the government undertook the development, the cost was deemed to make it not an alluring prospect commercially for hydro power. The dam, an imposing structure, is 137 feet high and 4,860 feet long.

If Senator George Norris is godfather of TVA, the Muscle Shoals, or Wilson dam, is recognized in Alabama as its grandpappy. Its power plant has eight generating units with a rated capacity of 184,000 kilowatts. There is space in the power house for ten more units, which would bring the ultimate productive capacity up to 444,000 kilowatts.

One Dam Follows Another.

Wilson dam backs the water up 15½ miles to Wheeler dam. The flight over the three Alabama dams gave a birdseye view of how one dam follows another in TVA. At Wilson dam the stream flow gave little all year power. During the war the government proposed to supplement the hydro power and firm it up by a steam plant. Wilson dam forms a reservoir of only 16,200 acres in area, and a controled storage of 600,000 acre feet.

So to help the Wilson dam plant and increase its power, Wheeler dam is built fifteen miles away with a reservoir area of 67,000 acres and storage of 1,380,000 acre feet. Then in turn, to give more water for Wheeler and Wilson dams, the Guntersville dam is being built 74 miles upstream from Wheeler. And so on up the river and its tributaries to Chickamauga, Norris, and Hiwassee dams, and the sites of other proposed dams.

It indicates one reason why TVA grew from a seven dam 357 million dollar project. In round figures Wilson dam cost 46 million dollars. After it had been turned over to TVA a tentative allocation set up $31,300,000 as a proper cost of replacement. Of this latter amount some 21 million dollars has been allocated for power; or less than one-half of the 46 million which the government paid for the project. These figures are from TVA testimony last April at Washington before a congressional committee.

Morgan's Daughter

MRS. LANDRUM BOLLING.

Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, who has refused to admit the validity of his ouster by President Roosevelt as chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, remained in Chicago yesterday. He said that he had not retained counsel, but was doing some work in the office of Attorney Edwin H. Cassels, a trustee of Antioch college. Dr. Morgan formerly was president of this institution. He is staying with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Landrum Bolling of 5716 Dorchester avenue.

SEEK TO IMPOUND RECORDS OF TVA IN SCANDAL QUIZ

Bridges Fears Documents Will Be Destroyed.

ments of the TVA and to hold them in readiness for production before the congressional investigating committee.

Immediate Action Asked.

"I believe we will be very derelict in our duty unless we take some action immediately in order to protect the records which later may be used in evidence," Bridges told the senate.

"Yesterday I read into the record certain sections of the United States criminal code and pointed out that persons who concealed or obliterated or destroyed records and documents belonging to the government would be subject to imprisonment and to fine. But I believe that we should take precautions to prevent such an act, before it may be committed."

The Bridges resolution then was read to the senate. It provided that the records, while in the custody of the sergeant-at-arms, would be available to the officers and employés of the TVA for its normal operations. The records would be held, under the resolution, until a congressional investigating committee made its final report to congress.

Bridges Points to Delay.

Bridges pointed out that some delay would ensue before the investigating committee could be appointed. Senate leaders have objected to taking up the inquiry resolution before concluding consideration of the government reorganization bill. In the meanwhile Harcourt A. Morgan, new chairman of the TVA board, and David E. Lilienthal, against whom Dr. Arthur E. Morgan had made charges, will be sole custodians of the records, he remarked.

Majority Leader Barkley protested that the TVA act placed responsibility for keeping its records with the authority and declared that the law could not be repealed by a senate resolution. Bridges replied that the senate was within its powers in impounding records which might be used later in the course of an investigation.

Barkley Doubts Authority.

"In the absence of any evidence except the tenuous suspicion of the senator from New Hampshire that somebody is going to make away with important records before he gets his eyes upon them," said Barkley, "I do not think the senate has any more authority to take charge of the records of the TVA than it has authority to take charge of the records of the department of justice or the department of agriculture or the Philippine high commissioner."

"In spite of what you say," Bridges replied, "if this investigation is to be delayed while we have two members of the board in absolute control, it is our duty as public officials, in order that we may assure a fair investigation when the investigation does go forward, that we take immediate action on this resolution."

Chairman John J. O'Connor [D., N. Y.] of the house rules committee announced that his committee would hold hearings Monday on several pending resolutions for investigation of the TVA.

Impeachment Is Suggested.

The suggestion of impeachment proceedings for the President was made on the house floor by Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.].

"The President's statement that he is removing Arthur E. Morgan because it is his constitutional duty to do so has a hollow ring," Hoffman told the members, "when we recall that his political bedfellows exacted political contributions for his benefit from corporations in violation of the corrupt practices act; when we recall that the President's friend, John L. Lewis, openly, defiantly, brazenly defied the authorities of the state and the nation and the President sat by and permitted him to get away with it.

Recalls Lewis' Thrust.

"Where was the President, who courageously summons to the White House Arthur E. Morgan and there demands, Russian fashion, that Morgan confess his guilt, when John L. Lewis threw in his face the statement:

"'It ill behooves one who has supped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine impartiality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in a deadly embrace.'

"Lewis and the President's political bedfellows who exacted tribute from corporations had political power and controled votes. Chairman Morgan has neither.

"The difference pointed out may give the reason for the President's sudden desire to see that the laws of the land are executed.

"The President has called our attention to article 2, section 3, of the constitution, which directs that 'He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.'

"He should not forget that President Johnson had occasion to remember that section 2 of article 1 states that: 'The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment' and that disregard of a constitutional duty imposed upon an official is cause for impeachment."

CITY ALEXANDER FOUNDED GROWS INTO METROPOLIS

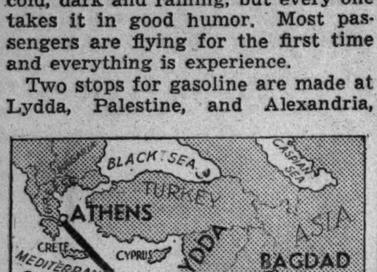
Skyscrapers Rise Above Historic Sites.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece [By Air Mail].—Passengers are called at 4 a. m. for the takeoff at 5:30 on the 1,525 mile flight from Bagdad to Athens. It is cold, dark and raining, but every one takes it in good humor. Most passengers are flying for the first time and everything is experience.

Two stops for gasoline are made at Lydda, Palestine, and Alexandria, Egypt. Most of the first leg is made in darkness. However, an English Tommy described the country as "mile upon mile of damn all." With the coming of daylight his description is verified. An endless expanse of barren sand desert is perfectly flat with the exceptions of little ridges and knolls.



Map locates stops on flight from Bagdad to Athens.

Fruits Grow Large.

Nearing Lydda little huts like mole hills are spotted here and there. Signs of cultivation and fruit groves are observed. Grapefruit, oranges and lemons are grown in abundance in this area. They are choice in taste and larger than the American varieties.

Lydda is an oil town principally. The 15,000 population is composed of Egyptians, Arabs and Greeks. From Lydda the plane flies out over the extension of the Syrian desert, across the Suez canal into Egypt and down the Nile valley to Alexandria on the southern shore of the Mediterranean.

Founded by Alexander the Great in 332 B. C., the town of Alexandria is one of the oldest in the near east. As a result of its strategic shipping location and oil developments, it is now a modern city of 600,000 population. Historic structures have been replaced with ten story skyscrapers.

City Much Like Chicago.

Approached by air, the city greatly reminds the observer of Chicago—of course, not as large, but similarly laid out and with a similar color of buildings. The city is void of natural shade except for a few date palms. One sees an occasional camel and burro caravan. An Arab, now and then, in his white turban and long white tunic rides in from the desert.

Animal transportation, however, has mostly given way to automobiles and electric trams. Warehouses line the waterfront and oil companies, cotton mills and the like are numerous. Eighty per cent of all Egypt's export and import trade passes through this port.

Leaving Egypt and Africa the flight is out across the Mediterranean to Athens. The sea lives up to its fame for color, varying in shades from indigo green to royal blue, according to the sunlight.

Mrs. Smith left the bulk of her estate to a brother, Robert Gaylord, and nine nieces and nephews. Her art collection went to the Field museum and there was a $100,000 gift to Michael Reese hospital.

POLITICS BLAMED FOR ATTACK ON CHICAGO SCHOOLS

McCahey Says Factional Strife Is at Fault.

Politics was blamed last night by James B. McCahey, president of the board of education, for accusations that examinations to select principals for the Chicago schools in 1937 were fixed by Supt. William H. Johnson. Favorites of Dr. Johnson were qualified and his enemies were not, it was charged.

"These accusations, made in Dr. Johnson's absence—he is in Iowa attending a school conference — are purely the result of factional politics," said McCahey. "The primary is just ahead and the examinations were held a year ago. I am certain that when he returns he will dispose of these statements in his usual fair and efficient way."

Defends Noninstructional Costs.

At the same time, McCahey replied to other charges that the noninstructional costs, carried in the school budget, are far out of proportion to actual teaching costs. He produced records to show that "noninstructional" is a bookkeeping term and that expenses so listed are vital to operation of the schools.

The charges against Supt. Johnson and the oral examining board of ten for the selection of principals were contained in an affidavit signed by Jaroslav J. Zmrhal, a district superintendent of schools who was a member of the 1937 board.

The affidavit was notarized on March 14 by Attorney John Ligtenberg and is understood to be in the possession of Attorney Cameron Latter, Ligtenberg's partner. Latter is representing Dr. Hiram B. Loomis, retired principal of the Hyde Park High school, in a suit to void the list of eligibles posted after last year's examinations for principals.

Four other members of the examining board were found last night and two of these denied there was any irregularity, one actively defending the superintendent. Two others refused comment.

Always Had Advisory Board.

Miss Mary I. Reynolds, who retired as a district superintendent last month after more than forty years in the Chicago school system, declared that as far back as she can remember the superintendent has had an advisory board to assist him in selecting principals.

"Every time I was a member of the oral examining board, we were asked to discuss freely each candidate that came before us," she said. "This freedom was given during the examinations of last year and we have no reason to doubt the integrity of the superintendent. My own feeling is that he should have the final authority of passing on candidates, whether the conclusions of his advisory board agree with his or not."

Miss Nellie Hudd, a district high school superintendent, was emphatic in denying the Zmrhal charges.

"The examinations were conducted in a fair and square manner," she asserted. "There was no indication by Supt. Johnson or any one else as to who should pass them and who should not."

No Comment on Charges.

Harry Keeler, also a district superintendent, was laconic. "Ask Mr. Johnson," he said.

Miss Minnie E. Fallon, an assistant superintendent in charge of elementary schools, said: "The examining sessions were confidential and cannot be discussed. Any comment must come from Supt. Johnson."

The Zmrhal affidavit states flatly that certain of the candidates who took the examinations in March and April were doomed before they appeared before the committee. On the other hand, Zmrhal said, there were candidates in whom Johnson said he was interested and wanted to see them pass.

Zmrhal was at his home, 4301 Cullerton avenue, last night, but a women member of his household said he would not come to the door nor answer the phone. Attorney Latter declined to say what use he intends to make of the affidavit.

ANALYZES EXPENSES

In answering charges that noninstructional school costs are out of proportion, McCahey presented an analysis that showed how the money is spent and how this expense has compared to actual teaching costs since 1925.

"This classification," he said, "covers salaries paid to school librarians, teachers in the parental school, teachers employed in the administration offices or who conduct Americanization classes for aliens, playground instructors, and truant officers. Transportation of crippled children to and from school and luncheons provided in elementary schools in poor districts also are included.

"Actual instruction costs include little outside of teachers' salaries, free textbooks, pencils, paper, and supplies such as typewriters and calculating machines used in class rooms.

Cites Cost Factors.

Factors increasing noninstructional costs over the last 13 years were enumerated by McCahey. Among these he listed higher wage scales of union workmen who maintain the $200,000,000 worth of buildings. Replacement of all but 66 portable schools with new buildings, which entails large maintenance stafs, improved and most costly lighting, and the addition of lunchrooms also contributed to the increase, he said.

A table prepared by McCahey shows the gradual rise of instructional costs since 1925 and the corresponding rise of noninstructional costs:

	Instruction.	Noninstruc. expense.
1925	$32,449,848	$ 9,432,423
1926	33,293,950	10,031,058
1927	34,717,516	11,885,066
1928	36,733,120	15,111,922
1929	38,101,351	14,837,812
1930	39,036,295	16,642,178
1931	41,099,703	15,517,691
1932	35,109,192	12,860,247
1933	29,417,859	10,561,218
1934	28,810,448	10,950,493
1935	29,740,628	11,229,316
1936	30,163,778	12,135,066
1937	31,537,499	13,487,726
*1938	37,000,000	14,063,000

*Estimated.

The average daily attendance in 1935 was 384,620. This year it is estimated at 460,000 daily, the increase being in the high schools, which are the most expensive to maintain, McCahey said.

Noninstructional expenses include such items as librarians' salaries, free lunches, and transportation and similar educational activities.

C. I. O. ORGANIZER CHARGES ATTACK BY FORD POLICE

Charges that private police of the Ford Motor company beat three organizers for the Committee for Industrial Organization, who were distributing pamphlets outside the Ford assembly plant at 126th street and Torrence avenue, were made yesterday. The alleged attack was described at a hearing on a complaint of the United Automobile Workers' union, a C. I. O. affiliate, charging the company with unfair labor practices.

The hearing was conducted by Trial Examiner Conn Cohalan for the national labor relations board in the United States customs' courtroom, 610 South Canal street.

Irving Brown, a C. I. O. organizer, testified that he and two others went to the plant on May 10, 1937. He said: "Philip Kunz, chief of the service men [as the company police were called], shouted that we had come out there for the last time. Then four service men rushed from the plant and attacked us."

TAYLOR WASHER SALES PUT UP TO SPECIAL BOARD

CRIMINAL COURT.

Edmond Weil, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary by Judge John C. Lewe.

A special board to adjudicate 250 contracts between the Taylor Washing Machine company and small wage earners was appointed yesterday by Judge Francis B. Allegretti in Criminal court. Six officials and salesmen of the company pleaded guilty Tuesday to charges of conspiracy to defraud in making the sales contracts.

The board, which will decide which contracts are valid and how much is to be paid on them, consists of Assistant State's Attorneys C. Vernon Thompson and Howard Christenson, Defense Attorney James M. Burke, and Walter A. Delaney, general manager of the company and one of the defendants. The board will report to the court on April 7.

FANSTEEL FIGHTS ORDER TO REHIRE NINETY STRIKERS

The Fansteel Metallurgical corporation, which was ordered by the national labor relations board on March 14 to reëmploy 90 strikers who were discharged after they seized the company's North Chicago plant in a sitdown strike in February, 1937, yesterday filed a petition with the United States Circuit Court of Appeals seeking a review and dismissal of the order. The petition automatically stays the national labor relations board's order pending a review of the case.

The company contends the labor board exceeded its legal authority, inasmuch as the ousted employés took over the company's property in an illegal sitdown strike in violation of a Circuit court injunction.

The petition also charges that the findings on which the order is based are contrary to the evidence presented at the labor board hearings.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S ROYALISTS.

Mr. Roosevelt, having exercised the federal prerogative of firing a subchieftain, Dr. Arthur Morgan of the TVA, for contumacy or lese majesty, went to Warm Springs, Ga., for a short vacation and on the way stopped at Gainesville to make a speech.

He snubbed the senior Georgia senator, Senator George, as a recalcitrant who had opposed him on certain measures. That was easy to do because Senator George was chairman of the meeting and introduced Mr. Roosevelt, being thus exposed to any slights the guest wanted to give him.

Mr. Roosevelt described all his opponents as economic royalists and feudal lords who would hold the majority of the people in the bonds of vassaldom and said that national progress and prosperity were being held back because of selfishness on the part of a few.

The economic royalist stuff went over better when it was newer, before Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. had married a du Pont and before the Aluminum company, the Arkansas Power and Light company—Harvey Couch—formerly of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, its president—the Electro-Metallurgical company, a subsidiary of the Union Carbide and Carbon company, and other corporations were granted special privileges in contracts for TVA power.

It went over better before Dr. Arthur Morgan caught Mr. Roosevelt's Tennessee friend, Senator Berry, playing marbles for keeps with the TVA and trying to ease five million dollars out of it on claims pronounced worthless, and before Dr. Morgan was fired for this particular sort of insubordination.

It went over better before Barney Baruch, Mr. Roosevelt's friend, blamed the depression on the New Deal laws, before Gen. Wood said that the insufficient allowance made for depreciation was a hidden tax, before the little business men said that it was big government and not big business that was oppressing them, and before the American Federation of Labor denounced the government reorganization bill and condemned the administration of the national labor relations board.

It went over better before Mr. Roosevelt, in the cause that won't turn back, added three million more jobless to the roll of the idle and had to ask congress to feed them.

Just now the economic royalist stuff sounds like a noise in a graveyard.

THE FOX AND THE EMPIRE.

What might be called a wealth of evidence has been given recently by Englishmen writing to the editor that the fox when taken young, treated with loving kindness, and made free of the grounds responds with a playful but deep affection permanently endearing him to the persons favored. This is an unfortunate development coming as it does when there are many matters to excite controversy and disturb the mind.

There are two questions which can be raised in the mind of sensitive English, but never happily. One is whether the empire can be adjudged a wholly moral institution and the other whether the fox should be hunted. They are kindred questions and only a tough minded person can be wholly certain. The empire might have had its less desirable, less moral, and altruistic moments and the fox might be getting a tough break from which every other animal in England would be protected by law and public sentiment.

On the other hand you may hold that the empire happened in the course of a benevolent nature, not running blindly but altruistically directed. Then the fox loves to be hunted if he is the proper sort of a fox, and when his legs can't carry him any further he yields a happy soul to the dogs and goes on to other hunting grounds. No one wants to be right more than the English do, whether in bombing Arabs or hunting foxes. A bad sort of Arab or Afghan will get a bomb. A craven fox may be pulled out of his hole and thrown to the dogs. In either case it is the fault of the other fellow. The Arab shouldn't be that sort of an Arab, and the fox shouldn't be that sort of a fox.

Nevertheless, it is almost like taking an unfair advantage for a fox to prove that he domesticates just like a wire haired terrier and will romp about the grounds and sleep at the foot of the bed. After all, he is vermin, but then you shoot or trap vermin and to do that to a fox would be a sin against truth, beauty, and culture.

THE POLICE NET.

The system of blockade described by Chief Walter Williams of the state police in a recent issue of THE TRIBUNE promises to make the escape of criminals much more difficult in Illinois if it is operated as well as it is planned.

Chief Williams is organizing a system of communication and coördinated action which, when a crime is reported, will quickly throw a wide net about the criminal by blocking all the principal highways over which he might make his escape. There will be three concentric cordons which Chief Williams says can be established within twenty minutes after the crime is reported. If the fugitive has had time to pass the first he may be stopped at the second or third.

Local police will be expected to cover the local roads and much will depend upon their promptness and competence. Fortunately for the success of this well considered plan local police in some districts are already showing commendable initiative. Recently the chief of police of Evanston and officials of other north shore towns have conferred on a similar scheme and recommended the installation of teletypes in their stations. This would accelerate police information and we hope the device will be adopted throughout the state.

We congratulate Chief Williams and the north shore officials on their enterprise. Illinois will soon have a modern system of police action which will make it a very unwholesome place for professional criminals.

HELIUM FOR GERMANY.

A shipment of helium gas to Germany has been held up and the question of licensing its export referred back to the munitions control board for further consideration. The United States, which has a monopoly of this gas, unwisely agreed to sell to Germany for commercial purposes. The decision was sentimentally based upon the destruction by fire at Lakehurst, N. J., last summer, of the dirigible Hindenburg. The German Zeppelin company sought to obtain the noninflammable helium gas to prevent repetition of the disaster and the stipulation was that the helium would be used only to maintain a commercial air service to America.

Now the United States government suspects the gas would be used by Germany in Zeppelins for war purposes and is hesitating about carrying out its unwise export agreement. The suspicion is increased by the fact that the Zeppelin company seeks to obtain about three times the quantity the American officials thought would be ordered.

It would be stupid to have any doubt about the matter. If Germany imported the gas and needed it for military purposes it would be so used. No agreement would prevent it. It would be used against Czechoslovakia if the Nazis thought they needed it there, and if there were occasion it would be used against the United States. If Hitler wanted to send a Zeppelin filled with helium against Brazil the helium would be used. No guarantee to the contrary would be worth anything. War cancels such pledges and the Fascist powers particularly understand that their good faith is not involved when it runs counter to their needs of the moment.

Conditions in Europe have changed since the United States made the commercial arrangement with the Zeppelin company, and although that may not be the best reason for stepping out of a bad bargain it is good enough to excuse the cancelation of the contract here before its terms are violated by the Nazis. The United States can and should now correct its mistake, thus retaining its national advantage in helium for its own uses.

MORE STREAMLINERS.

It would be quite safe to predict that the new streamlined locomotives purchased by the New York Central to pull the Twentieth Century Limited between Chicago and New York will prove themselves profitable investments. There is something inspiring about these powerful streamliners that attracts people to the right of way to watch them go through. This admiration not infrequently produces a desire to ride the train. Witness the case of the C., M., St. P. and P.'s Hiawatha, the first of the streamlined steam locomotives. After three years of constant service there is no diminution in the number of sightseers that line the right of way to watch her pass, and she is still carrying capacity loads.

The statement that these new bullet-type engines are the fastest on the New York Central seems to carry an assurance that preparations for fourteen hour overnight service are practically complete. The Hudson-type engines that now haul the Century are having no difficulty in maintaining schedules, so why build a more powerful streamlined machine without this substantial improvement in the service that has been an acknowledged necessity ever since the advent of the air lines? The public has already been informed that modern, lightweight trains built for high speeds are nearing completion in the shops of the Pullman company; therefore, the announcement of the new spring timetables of both the New York Central and Pennsylvania will be awaited with interest.

Editorial of the Day

SCIENCE LENDS A HAND.

[Danville [Ill.] Commercial News.]

Science and the law appear at last to be catching up with the drunken driver.

If chemical tests of blood and breath, recently devised, were uniformly adopted by police and established in courtroom practice, one of the biggest loopholes by which offenders escape due punishment would be plugged.

Tests, devised by Dr. Sidney Selesnick of Boston, prove that intoxication begins when the subject's blood contains as little as one-tenth of 1 per cent of alcohol, and that at a concentration of one-half of 1 per cent the imbiber is completely drunk.

Blood tests for alcohol are simple and accurate. They offer positive proof of intoxication, and—unlike psychological and reaction tests—require no coöperation on the part of the suspect.

Even simpler is the "breath-tester" devised by Dr. R. N. Harger and now being employed by the Indiana state police. Principle behind Dr. Harger's mechanism is the fact that one ounce of the patient's blood will contain as much alcohol as 2,000 ounces of his breath. Moreover, the air a man breathes out can be collected and analyzed without his permission.

Both these tests have received the cachet of the American Medical association in its official publication.

They should be promptly adopted as routine police practice and recognized legal evidence in all suspected cases of drunken driving.

The law can and must accept the proffered aid of science in ending this menace of the highways.

They're Suspicious in Miami.

A Sicilian showed his name tattooed on his arm as identification and his money order was cashed at the postal station at Ogden and North avenues. In Miami a tattooed name won't do, writes H. L. Moutaw. "The postmaster also refused to accept the engraving of my name on the inside of a diamond ring. . . . The Miami banks wouldn't cash bank drafts or dividend checks. I did find a way to get money at Miami and that was to have it telegraphed."

THE SICILIAN'S IDENTIFICATION reminded E. A. S. of the story told about Joseph Jefferson, the actor who played Rip Van Winkle to the delight of theatergoers of another generation. He called at a bank's window one morning when the play was on tour to have a draft cashed. The teller asked if he could identify himself or if he knew any one in the town who could do so. Jefferson fell into a characteristic Rip Van Winkle pose and said ruefully, "Vell, if only mein hund Wolf were here, he would know me." The teller promptly cashed the draft.

In the Morning Mail.

Living at the foot of the Palmolive tower, I am falling under the spell of the Lindbergh beacon. Each night I leap from the hall window and cling to that beam of light as it sweeps the sky. At first I was content to ride in a small circle that swung me around over the near north side, but now I find myself moving farther and farther out along the shaft and consequently traveling at a terrific speed. So that when I cast off to return to my room my head is swimming and I am in a truly dizzy state.

Do you suppose that, through your column, you can contact some mathematician who can tell me just how fast I really am traveling 100 miles out in the sky? Ed the Dreamer.

THE INSTRUCTOR at a Chicago music school told the children about Beethoven. "His mother was a cook and his father a tinker," she said, during her résumé of the composer's childhood background. Concluding, she called on a superior-looking little girl who sat with folded hands. "Now you tell me about Beethoven, Harriet," she said.

"His mother was a cook and his father was a stinker . . ." began Harriet arrogantly.

Lines of motors stand outside the little white painted early American house on highway No. 66, where such typical American food as hamburgers, hot chicken sandwiches—with the chicken between split baking powder biscuits—ice cream and cottage cheese are specialties. He had a white picket fence built about the place like that that incloses his farm acreage, and adorned the pine paneled walls with the choicest of his fine Currier and Ives. DON'T BELIEVE EVERYTHING YOU HEAR.

IN yesterday's article we referred to some traditions which have been handed down relative to tuberculosis, most of them having little foundation in fact. Let us carry the discussion a bit further and inquire into other health proverbs which we could dismiss as foolish were they not dangerous.

There is a tremendous curiosity about the human body. Even in the middle ages barber shops and pool halls—or whatever establishments corresponded to such institutions of learning [?]—occasionally would display pictures of the skeleton or of various dissections. Stomach, liver, lungs, etc., were labeled and their functions indicated. For the most part the figures depicted were caricatures, as anatomy did not reach a stage of enlightenment until about the middle of the sixteenth century. Nevertheless, history records that these posters or "flying sheets," as they were sometimes termed, were pored over and considered of great public interest. Even today among well educated persons in all walks of life, erroneous beliefs, medical superstitions, and misinformation abound.

We have all heard the statement, "Eat fish and become wise." Again, one must under no circumstances use both fish and milk in the same meal. If this slip is committed inadvertently "illness is certain to come." "Tetanus, or lockjaw, comes from rusty nails." A well known war correspondent, writing from the front, evidently put credence in this idea. One of his dispatches stated that lockjaw was prevalent on the battlefields of France because so many rusty nails were lying about.

Fish is an excellent food—one that is rich in phosphorus—but there is not the slightest connection between the presence of large amounts of this mineral in the diet and mental alertness. In fact, ordinary bread also contains a generous quantity of the chemical.

The only reason we associate a rusty nail with lockjaw is that it has remained in the vicinity of dirt long enough to become contaminated with the tetanus organism, the cause of lockjaw. Rust in itself is not poisonous; it is the oxide of iron. A bright, shiny nail may be loaded with microbes and, if it punctures the skin, may be even more of a menace than one which is well browned but with fewer bacteria.

The worst part of a puncture of the skin is that it may penetrate deeply, carrying germs to the bottom of the pocket. Furthermore, the mouth or entrance may close [due to the elasticity of the tissues] and thus effectually prevent the access of air. Such a situation favors the growth of the tetanus spores. Every wound caused by a nail, tack, or pin should be opened and not permitted to close until healing from the lower end of the channel occurs.

Thousands of letters have been received by this department suggesting that emphasis be placed upon the deleterious effects of using starches and proteins at the same meal. I do not know the origin of this doctrin, but it is pernicious and a gross libel upon most of our menus. Nature has provided a digestive apparatus which will care for all groups of nourishment—proteins, carbohydrates, and fats. In fact, almost every product contains all three. No one can consume a piece of roast beef or a lamb chop without ingesting them. Even bread and milk—common staples of human diet—include each of them. What a chore it would be to separate the proteins from the fats and carbohydrates of milk!

It has been said many times that if one takes orange juice or eats fruit at a meal one must not drink milk. Why? Because the acid in the fruit will promptly sour the milk. I wish that we could all look into the stomach and see what happens the minute a swallow of milk enters the gastric pouch. Both the acid and the ferments of the digestive secretions curdle it quickly.

The moral is that matters of health demand the use of much common sense.

EXAMINATION ADVISED.

Mrs. E. C. G. writes: I have a drawing sensation at the back of my head. At times there is headache and the eyeball is very sore when touched or moving the eyes. Also, a heavy feeling in the forehead. About five years ago I became ill with neurasthenia. Is it possible that the pains and heavy feeling in my head and eyes are due to that spell of sickness?

Would the sinuses have anything to do with that? Formerly had many colds, but none recently.

REPLY.

Possibly a neurosis. On the other hand, there may be some infection in the tonsils, teeth, or sinuses. Have these areas investigated. Have your eyes examined also for muscle strain.

MAY BE HIS DIET.

Mrs. C. O. writes: My dad is 86 years old and rather feeble. Lately he has started to drink a lot of water. He says that he can't get enough. What is the trouble and what should I do?

REPLY.

Let him do anything that will add to his comfort, even to drinking water. It may be that his diet contains too much salt, meat, spices, vinegar, etc., to the exclusion of vegetables. Diabetes may be present.

SORE THROAT SYMPTOMS.

E. M. writes: What are the symptoms of a septic sore throat?

REPLY.

Sudden onset of chills, followed by fever, thirst, headache, coated tongue, foul breath, dryness of the throat, and pain when swallowing.

CROWN POINT MARRIAGES.

Chicago, March 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly explain to me why Crown Point marriages were legal for nonresidents until just recently? T. L. J.

In our opinion, they not only were legal, but are legal. The only recent change is that the licensing officials have commenced observing the old Indiana requirement, that the license must be obtained where the woman resides. There has been no overruling of the Indiana rule that common law marriages are permitted without a license. Hence, we see no reason to doubt the validity of any Indiana marriages that have been celebrated.

VIRGIN PRAIRIE.

Chicago, March 16.—The work of excavating for the new Norwood Park High school is progressing at a rapid pace. The great caterpillar tractors, which haul mammoth dump carts, jerk their heavy loads through hollows or over ridges with a deafening roar and clatter, and the steam shovel bites great chunks out of the prairie sod, disgorging each huge mouthful to the accompaniment of a cloud of steam and a great champing of steel jaws.

This is the first time since the earth was created that this soil has been disturbed by human agencies. Almost all of the area now in metropolitan Chicago passed through a period when the plows of the pioneer homesteaders turned the virgin prairie sod for the production of farm or garden crops. The Norwood Park High school site is an exception. No plow has ever turned the sod which covers this particular twenty-three acres. The interesting prairie flowers and plants which once covered the vast plains of the middle west still flourish here.

According to Donald Culross Peattie, such species as liatris or Kansas gay feather, prairie clover, and shooting star are fast becoming extinct, but in midsummer the acres now being converted into a campus for this new high school have been carpeted with magenta spikes of gay feather interspersed with patches of the deeper purple prairie phlox, windflower, dainty pink ladyslipper, fringed gentian, and wild sweet pea. Many other less conspicuous varieties cover the ground and masses of goldenrod, wild aster, and rosin weed are on display until late autumn frosts.

In 1869 the Norwood Park Land company purchased some 600 acres in this section and established the suburb of that name. One of the trustees of this company was John F. Eberhard, first superintendent of schools in Cook county. He purchased about sixty acres of which this site was a part, and although it was platted for subdivision, it was never developed. His estate sold the property, but before any homes were erected the board of education commenced condemnation proceedings and purchased the twenty-three acre tract on which the Norwood Park High school is being erected.

It has been suggested that the board of education, in landscaping the grounds surrounding the new building, set aside approximately one acre to be left in its native state. Thus thousands of prairie plants would form a natural garden in which students not only of this high school, but of all schools of Chicago, might become familiar with floral species once common to the prairies of the middle west.

Members of the Norwood Park Garden club, in offering this suggestion, have in mind adding to the flowers remaining on the site, such species as have disappeared through lack of protection, particularly the fringed, bottled, and downy gentians and bird's-foot violet.

Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools, has recommended that this suggestion receive the consideration of the office of the architect for the board of education.

IDEA.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 15.—In the mad scramble to find ways and means of raising more money by taxation congress has overlooked one great source. A tax of 5 per cent could be placed on life insurance premiums to operate on the same principle as the state sales tax, that is, to be paid by the policy holder at the time the premiums are paid.

The average American middle class family pays about $150 per year for life insurance. A tax of 5 per cent would only be $7.50, or about 62 cents per month. Certainly this would not be a burden. If it should be considered a burden what of it? The administration seems to be gunning for the middle class.

Later this plan could be extended to include accident insurance, fire insurance, tornado, boiler, plate glass, automobile and burglary [this has nothing to do with the administration]. Think of the millions of dollars that could be raised! We could have a Grand River Valley authority, a Wabash Valley authority, a dear Old Suwanee River authority, we could build dams across the Chattahoochee river, another canal across the state of Florida, a sea wall around the entire Florida peninsula to keep out hurricanes. The possibilities are unlimited, the results stupendous, colossal!

This idea is submitted without charge, without any selfish motive or idea of personal gain in any way. We as citizens must all pull together and ever strive for the more abundant life.

STUART [TUGWELL] WILLIAMSON.

AMERICA IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Metropolis, Ill., March 21.—Because your editorial bias is opposed to retaining the Philippines, let me thank you for giving space to the letter from "Philippine Visitor" in today's issue of THE TRIBUNE. This desire is second only to my desire to thank him for his letter favoring retaining these islands.

Your present attitude—to get out of the Philippines before we get embroiled with Japan—is simply exasperating. If this is the essence of American character, I desire to give up my franchise as an American citizen.

Are we afraid of Japan? Make no mistake. The American navy is not afraid of Japan or its navy, not even to seek it, single-handed, in its own waters and destroy it; otherwise there never was a better time for the United States and England to sink differences with Russia and all three join to put those inhuman people back in their three original islands. A. J. GIBBONS.

ON SCHEDULE.

Chicago, March 21.—It is spring. The season arrived officially today and was clocked in the meteorological records in the usual way. It is the same sort of a spring that has been appearing at about this time of year for countless centuries. The birds are here, as usual; the buds are swelling, as usual; there is a softness in the air, a new green in the grass, a challenge to the courage and a call to the heart, as usual.

We hail the spring because it has arrived as usual. Comrades have failed us, nations have fallen, stocks have dwindled, bank accounts have vanished, our felt hat we counted on to last a year has wilted and curled. Doubts, disappointments, and delusions assail us. Our faith has been shaken, our patience exhausted, our tolerance severely tested. We battle through a welter of deceptive novelties, grope at mirages, and become nauseated at nostrums. Therefore, in the midst of confusion, turmoil, and distress, we hail this year, especially, the arrival of spring. Not simply because it is here, nor because it is spring, but because it is spring, thank God, as usual!

PAUL DARROW PADDOCK.

INFERNAL MACHINES COMPARED.

Chicago, March 19.—Why all the fuss about bicycle riding on the sidewalk when nothing is said about roller skating? I admit the former is a nuisance, but there is only about one bicycle for every hundred pair of roller skates, and at least bicycle riding is not noisy. I wonder why we property owners have to pay for playgrounds when children never use them, preferring to do their roller skating, shooting, yelling, and swearing under our windows. When I asked them why they don't go home to "play," they reply, "Our mothers say we are too noisy." Give a great big hand to the dear, considerate mothers.

WELL SUITED.

Chicago, March 22.—Going to see a double feature movie for the price of one and complaining about it is beyond me. I take my family to the movies once or twice a week and I feel that every time we go there I save 60 cents for the three of us. Our neighborhood theater offers two features, one cartoon, news, and sometimes a short for 25 cents. So why object? I believe the P.-T. A. would do a lot better to let the movie houses run their own business. If I don't like a suit with two pairs of pants I will buy one with one pair of pants.

CAMPBELL SEEKS PRIMARY VOTES IN VOICE OF THUNDER

Treasury Aspirant Booms at the Electorate.

[This is another in a series of informal sketches of major candidates for state offices in the April 12 primary.]

BY PERCY WOOD.

Bruce A. Campbell.

One of the deepest, window rattling bass voices in Illinois is now booming throughout the downstate as Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville, whom the Igoe slate supporters like to call the leading downstate Democrat, campaigns for state treasurer.

The timbre of Campbell's tones makes them impressive even when he borrows a match, and hearing him order a dinner gives the effect of listening to a Supreme court decision. He speaks, it should now be apparent, as from the bottoms of his shoes.

Campbell has been active in the Democratic party for almost 40 years and is chairman of the state central committee. He has spoken in every campaign since 1900, and in the present primary fight is bearing much of the burden of name calling. This he does with resonance and relish, and one of his favorite targets is T. V. Smith, philosophy professor and Horner candidate for congressman at large.

Replies to Smith's Charges.

Prof. Smith's erudite harangues against the Nash-Kelly Chicago organization are growing irksome, and Campbell is replying by calling him "Turnabout Smith," charging that Smith's candidacy for the state senate in 1934 originated with the regular organization in Michael L. Igoe's home district. Mayor Kelly, Campbell claims, withdrew his own candidate and threw his support to Smith.

In his best organ tones, Campbell also castigates F. Lynden Smith, downstate campaign manager for the Horner candidates, as "the other Smith." But he makes it plain that he is not comparing the two with the bewhiskered pair on the cough-drop boxes. "For Lyn Smith," he is saying, "is in the 'cough-up' business; he is directing the collection of a campaign war chest by assessing state employés for a portion of their salaries."

Charges Horner Apes Hitler.

Campbell's thunderings also are aimed at Gov. Horner, who he declares is trying to become the Hitler of Illinois. To take the edge off the governor's position as a downstate spokesman, Campbell points to the fact that the governor trailed both him and Igoe in the downstate returns in 1932 when the three were competing for the gubernatorial nomination. Campbell carried the downstate, Igoe was second, and Horner third. The governor was nominated by his Cook county vote.

The massive candidate for treasurer has a large law practice in Belleville and East St. Louis, but his avocation is politics. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois, studied law in the office of his father, and was admitted to the bar in 1901. Shortly thereafter he served one term in the house at Springfield. Mr. Campbell is 59 years old. He is married and has one son, Joseph, who is editor and publisher of the Nashville Journal.

BODY FOUND IN QUARRY POOL.

The body of a youth, about 16 years old, was found floating yesterday in the old Illinois Brick company quarry pool at 120th street and Vincennes avenue. Police estimated that the body had been in the water several months.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The paintings "Himself" and "Herself" by Robert Henri, which were reproduced in color in the Picture section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE for March 13, were the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schulze to the Chicago Art institute. The pictures hang in the Walter H. Schulze Memorial room at the institute. Through an oversight these facts were omitted from the descriptive material printed with the paintings. "Himself" and "Herself" are two of the most popular pictures in the Art institute.

MOVE TO SPEED PEACE IN AIRPORT PRICE SQUABBLE

Judge Evans to Weigh Procedure Next Week.

The procedure to be followed in settling the price of 2.78 acres of land owned by Raymond E. Herman, real estate broker, and sought by the city to complete the Chicago airport expansion program, is to be determined next Monday or Tuesday by representatives of both parties in a meeting with Judge Evan A. Evans of the federal Circuit Court of Appeals.

Judge Evans, who agreed on Wednesday to settle the dispute, which has dragged along for more than three months, has been ill in his home for several days and will not be able to appear at his chambers in the United States courthouse before next week.

"I'll not want to go ahead with this affair until I've talked with both sides," said the judge last evening. "And I'll not be able to do that until Monday or possibly Tuesday. After that we'll plan what the procedure will be."

Anxious to Settle Dispute.

Both Herman and representatives of the city—Assistant Corporation Counsel Arthur Sullivan and John R. O'Connor, Mayor Kelly's real estate expert—said yesterday they hoped the hearings before Judge Evans would be as simple and informal as possible. Both groups agreed they were anxious to have the matter settled as quickly as possible.

"I've had a talk with Mr. Herman," said Sullivan yesterday, "and he is willing, I understand, to agree to limit the testimony of each side to one witness. We are both prepared for the case with all the pertinent information available.

"Mr. O'Connor will be the city's witness if we do agree to hear but one expert apiece. I don't see why we can't present the evidence in one day and clear the way for a quick finding from the judge."

Committee Drafting Ordinance.

Sullivan and O'Connor were ordered to act for the city by the city council aviation committee, which had a special meeting yesterday morning. The committee began work on an ordinance which will be presented to the council at its meeting next Friday, ratifying Mayor Kelly's agreement to accept Judge Evans' finding as final. Herman already has promised to accept the finding.

The city must buy, or condemn, another strip of land a mile and a half long and from 22 to 40 feet wide from 140 other property owners in order to move the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad tracks from the airport to a new right of way. Herman's land would be part of the right of way.

WOODSMAN HELD IN MYSTERY GUN DEATH OF YOUTH

Jealousy Motive Appears in Wisconsin Slaying.

Spooner, Wis., March 24.—[Special.]—A middle aged woodsman was held tonight as the slayer of Raymond Washkuhn, 17 years old, a high school senior, whose fatal shooting Monday night had baffled authorities.

Everett Phinn, 52 years old, arrested yesterday in his log cabin in the woods near Lipsett lake, was accused of slaying the youth in a jealousy triangle over the affections of a woman 45 years old.

Sherif R. H. Willis, who announced the apparent solution of the case, said county authorities would investigate further before asking a murder warant for Phinn. The man is being held on an adultery warant issued today.

Widow Names Woodsman.

Phinn was named by Mrs. Margaret Whaley, a widow in whose home Washkuhn roomed while attending school here. The youth's parents live in nearby Spring Brook. Mrs. Whaley was said to have admitted being friendly with the woodsman and that he had been jealous of Washkuhn.

Monday evening Phinn visited Mrs. Whaley, the sherif said he learned. Mrs. Whaley was quoted as saying Phinn and Washkuhn had a dispute. After the youth retired two shots were fired into the house.

Shot on Lonely Street.

Washkuhn then left the house to summon help and was shot through his right lung as he hurried along a lonely street. He staggered back to the Whaley home and collapsed.

Sherif Willis said he was informed the wounded youth was persuaded to name Charles Lockhart Jr., 17 years old, a former fellow student, as his assailant. Lockhart later provided a satisfactory alibi.

While Washkuhn lay dying in the Whaley home and doctors were attending him preparatory to moving him to the hospital, Phinn was hiding under a bed in the house, the sherif said. The woodsman fled to his home after police and doctors had left to take the youth to the hospital, where he died.

BOY SCOUTS OPEN DRIVE FOR $100,000 FUND ON APRIL 11

The Chicago council of the Boy Scouts of America will open its annual campaign for funds on April 11, it was announced yesterday by Ralph H. Nodine, executive of the council. Solicitation will be started a week in advance of this date by a special loop committee. A goal of $100,000 in ten days has been set.

The principal aim of the scouting movement in the Chicago area at this time is combating juvenile delinquency. A recent survey showed that scouting is reaching 17 per cent more boys and youths than ever before. There are 21,500 boys and more than 5,000 adult leaders in scouting work in the Chicago area.

HANGS HIMSELF IN CLOSET.

John Coutre, 60 years old, hanged himself yesterday in a bedroom closet in his home at 6154 South Peoria street.

Ordered to Pay

FRANCES BRUNDERMAN.

A jury in the court of Judge Donald McKinlay yesterday returned a verdict of $95 in favor of Edward Swierenga Sr., of 1400 South 59th avenue, Cicero, for damage to his automobile which was struck on Dec. 3, 1936, by another machine driven by Miss Frances Brunderman, 23 years old, of 6607 Ellis avenue. The case was in the Superior court on Miss Brunderman's appeal from a Justice court.

Cash Register Spoils a Free Picnic Lunch

It probably would have been a nice picnic. Lawrence Hansen, 25 years old, and Roland Yetter, 19, had provided themselves yesterday with potato chips, hot dogs, candy, and a radio from the lunch stand at 314½ West North avenue; then decided they wanted the cash register, too. As they were lugging it to their car, Policeman George Cleary collared them. Hansen lives at 1246 Altgeld street and Yetter at 1818 North Wells street.

JURORS DISAGREE ON BOY'S GUILT IN SISTER'S SLAYING

Prairie du Chien, Wis., March 24.—[Special.]—A jury of three women and nine men which deliberated for more than twelve hours on the fate of Harold Best, 15 years old, accused of killing his sister, Mildred, 11 years old, was discharged late tonight after reporting it was unable to agree on a verdict. After the jury's discharge it was reported it stood 10 to 2 for conviction.

In instructing the jurors, Judge S. E. Smalley said that the question of whether Harold killed his sister must be the determining factor in their verdict on a charge of delinquency. Under Wisconsin law, a juvenile cannot be charged with a crime, but if Harold had been found delinquent by reason of the slaying he would have been sent to the state industrial school until he was 21 years old.

Mildred was found shot to death in bed in the home of her uncle, Orla Shaw, last June. Harold confessed killing her and later repudiated a series of confessions. The case was complicated by Shaw's death eleven days after the shooting. His death was attributed to poisoning.

APPROVE IOWA WPA JOB.

Keokuk, Ia., March 24.—[Special.]—George Keller, Iowa WPA administrator, has approved remodeling of the Lee county home. The project will cost $9,185.

IRWIN, HELD FOR TRIPLE SLAYINGS, IS FOUND SANE

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Robert Irwin, sculptor and divinity student, is sane and was sane at the time he murdered Veronica Gedeon, 20 years old, a model; her mother, Mrs. Mary Gedeon, and a boarder, Frank Byrnes, according to a report which is to be submitted by a lunacy commission.

The slayings, to which Irwin confessed, were committed on Easter morning last year in the Gedeon home in East 50th street. The lunacy commission—comprising Archibald R. Watson, county clerk; Dr. Israel S. Wechsler, and Dr. Charles D. Ryan, psychiatrist—was appointed last August at the instance of District Attorney William Dodge, who then was in office.

SYNOPSIS.

Karen Gilbert meets Gordon Stone returning after eight years in prison. Gordon was framed by Karen's ruthless uncle and guardian, Lyn Gilbert, owner of Bar B B ranch, and his foreman, Curt Ford. Gordon joins Jack Turnbull, who is in hiding after trouble with Gilbert. Gilbert sends a posse of Bar B B riders after them, headed by Cheyenne. Karen gets a friend, Hal Ferguson, to take her to Gordon. She warns him in time to fight off the posse and escape. Gordon, suspicious of Gilbert's niece, refuses to thank her. To punish Karen Gilbert threatens to make her marry Firkins, his secretary, and confines her to the ranch. Gordon and Jack go to Carbondale to look up Linc Conway, who was kept from testifying at Gordon's trial. They enlist his aid to help end Gilbert's domination. They return to Barranca, where the editor of Gilbert's opposition paper agrees to publish Conway's confession.

INSTALMENT XVII.

SUPREMACY CHALLENGED.

A few blocks distant in his office Lyn Gilbert was considering sourly the same matter. He had been for years on top of the world in which he moved, largely because nobody had challenged forcefully his domination. Outwardly he snorted at the possibility that an ex-convict could walk into his domain and upset his supremacy, but within him uneasy doubts disturbed his assurance.

He had never been quite satisfied with the way the Brock murder affair had been left. There were loose ends he ought to have tied up. For instance, Linc Conway knew too much. He had left the country and probably would never again be heard of in Barranca. But as long as he was alive he was a potential menace. Also, there was Cheyenne. He had plenty on Cheyenne, enough to send him to the penitentiary for the rest of his life, but the man had been sulky of late. He had resented it when Lyn had let his sarcastic tongue ride the cowpuncher for the failure of his night attack on Stone. If Cheyenne told what he knew it would be awkward.

Gilbert realized that times had changed. In the old days he could rub a man out if he got in the way too much. Now it was more difficult. There was a sentiment for law and order in the country. One had to work secretly or under cover of legality.

There was, Lyn knew, a strong feeling against him and his methods. With cynical realism he faced facts. He had no friends. His support was bought and paid for, or else it was based on fear. He won because of the smoothness and the audacity of his attack, but if the impression ever became general that he was not in an impregnable position his allies would scuttle away like rats from a sinking ship.

The vague unease in Gilbert crystallized three days later into sharp fear. He reached for the Courier at breakfast, according to his custom. His eyes ranged over the front page to pick up the headlines, preliminary to a more careful reading, when a two column story at the right drew his attention.

FORMER BAR B B PUNCHER ACCUSES LYN GILBERT OF FRAMING GORDON STONE

No muscle of his body moved as he read the story.

"A sworn statement, signed by Lincoln Conway, formerly a Bar B B rider, will be filed at the office of the district attorney today. This will charge that Lyndon Gilbert and his foreman, Curtis Ford, fabricated some of the evidence upon which Gordon Stone was convicted of the murder of Harrison Brock and the robbery of the Little Bessie pay roll.

"According to the story of Conway, who is now living at Carbondale, he saw Ford hide some of the stolen money in Stone's blankets at a roundup camp near Three Cottonwoods. It was the discovery of this money in the possession of Stone, together with the fact that the killing was apparently done with a bullet from the young man's .45 that clinched the case of circumstantial evidence. At the time of the trial nine years ago the defendant claimed stoutly that the weapon had been taken from his roll while he was on circle at the roundup.

"The affidavit states that Conway was abducted and held a prisoner until after the conviction of Stone, and that subsequently he remained silent on account of fear of death due to threats made by Gilbert and Ford. Later Conway was seriously injured by a fall from an outlaw horse, which he says the foreman of the Bar B B induced him to ride in a bed of bowlders by telling him the animal was safe and gentle.

"While Conway was in the hospital recovering from the fall he was, he says, visited by Gilbert and Ford, who again threatened his life if he talked. As soon as he was released from the hospital Conway left this part of the country secretly. He did this, his statement sets fo[illegible], because he was afraid harm would befall him if he returned to the hills.

"The reason he gives for making this belated deposition is the desire to relieve a troubled conscience."

Gilbert knew that the district attorney, Arthur Driscoll, would make no move without his sanction. The man owed too much to him. But the effect on public opinion would be very bad if Conway's affidavit was not challenged. He would have to run a story in the News-Times denying with fiery indignation the slanderous lies propagated by his enemies. He must file a suit for libel against the Courier, to be dropped later at a convenient time. Above all he had to get rid of Conway. Without the little man present in person to support them, the charges would fall to the ground as propaganda from the enemy.

One of his men had better drop in at Carbondale and take care of Conway. Mentally he ran through the available men he had in his pay. Ford—Hayes—Webb—Cheyenne. Since Cheyenne was already in the Brock killing, he was the logical one to wipe out the little chap who threatened his safety. Why drag somebody else into the affair, thus increasing the number of those who knew too much?

Gilbert telephoned Ford at the ranch and told him to send Cheyenne to town. Before he had laid the receiver down his mind was busy contriving ways of building barricades against attack. Despite the heaviness of his lax body he was a man of explosive energy. Lyn had no intention of taking this challenge lying down. He would stand and fight as long as he could hit. He called his attorney and instructed him to bring suit for libel against Hatfield and the Courier in the sum of one hundred thousand dollars. He dictated a News-Times editorial demanding that the authorities run down and capture or exterminate, if necessary, the band of outlaws nesting in the hills under the leadership of a murderer recently released from the penitentiary. Over the telephone he summoned his two chief lieutenants in Barranca, Sherif Scott and District Attorney Driscoll, and with them he outlined a law and order campaign to influence public opinion and hold their ward workers in line.

An hour later the cowboy Cheyenne was shown into the inner office. He did not remove from his head the broadbrimmed Stetson.

The beady little eyes of his boss took in the man, squat, broadshouldered, bowlegged, in years reaching toward 40. A top rider, hard as nails physically and mentally.

"You sent for me," Cheyenne said. He was no spendthrift of words. When the occasion was important he knew the value of silence. What conversation he made was usually directed to the point.

"Yes. Sit down, Cheyenne."

The cowpuncher sat down. His saturnine tanned face had as much expression as the side of a house. The shallow flinty eyes rested steadily on his employer. He waited, chewing tobacco evenly, with no apparent haste or curiosity.

"Looks like there's a job for you," continued Gilbert. "That little runt Linc Conway has come to life. He's got a story in the Courier today claiming I helped to frame Stone at his trial."

Commercial Product Now Has Many Forms.

Are you feeding a large crowd—say fifty? You'll want to know how much of everything to buy and will probably need a few large quantity recipes. Just the information you're looking for has been compiled into Mary Meade's booklet, "Feeding Fifty." This booklet is on sale for 3 cents at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the Tribune Tower. Or it will be mailed for 5 cents in stamps. BY MARY MEADE.

Not many of us care to make noodles at home now that so many excellent commercially made noodles are available. They come in varying degrees of fineness or coarseness, curly or flat. They are good in soups, stews and casserole dishes of many types. A package or two of noodles on the staples shelf is partial insurance against those "not a thing in the house to eat" glooms which come at times to most of us. Usually there may be found something else packaged or canned which will combine with noodles to make a hurry-up dish.

An eight ounce package of noodles makes about seven cups when cooked, enough to serve ten persons by most methods of preparation.

CHICKEN-NOODLE CASSEROLE.

[Serves Four to Six.]

½ cup diced cooked or canned chicken
½ cup American cheese, cubed
¼ green pepper, minced
1 4-ounce package egg noodles
½ cup canned mushrooms
½ cup tomato soup

Combine all other ingredients with noodles which have been boiled for 10 minutes in a large quantity of salted water, drained and rinsed in cold water. Add salt and pepper if needed. Place in a casserole and bake at 350 degrees for an hour.

NOODLE RING WITH CREAMED FOOD.

[Serves Six.]

2 cups broad noodles, broken
1 cup grated cheese
4 eggs
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 cups milk [or more]

Cook the noodles in boiling salted water until tender. Drain and rinse with cold water. Butter a ring mold and fill with alternate layers of noodles and cheese. Beat the eggs slightly, add seasonings and milk, and pour over the noodles so the liquid comes to the top of them. Add more milk if necessary.

Place the ring mold in a pan of warm water and bake until firm and lightly browned, at 350 degrees. Approximately 45 minutes will be required. Remove from the hot water and let stand a minute before unmolding.

Loosen the edge with a sharp knife and invert the mold on a serving plate. Shake slightly to turn out. Fill the center with any creamed meat, fish, or vegetable.

This is an old fashioned recipe for homemade noodles, which I'm including in this column for those who like occasionally to make them, or for cooks who think it would be fun to try making them.

HOMEMADE NOODLES.

1 egg, slightly beaten
⅔ cup flour, approximately
¼ teaspoon salt

Add salt and enough flour to make a stiff dough to the slightly beaten egg. Knead thoroughly and let stand in a covered dish for half an hour. Roll the dough out very thinly, being sure it is not at all sticky, but guarding against using so much flour that the dough breaks. Cut the dough into wide strips and stack them one upon the other. Cut the strips crosswise into fine strips or threads.

Toss lightly with the fingers to separate the noodles, and spread them out to dry. Leave until thoroughly dried. Store in a covered container to be used as needed. To cook with soup, drop by handfuls into the boiling mixture about five minutes before serving.

Spring Touch for Table

Juicy lamb chops and tender, minted carrots are spring tonic enough. The loin chops are broiled and the carrots are cooked and buttered, then sprinkled with chopped mint. A few sprigs of mint garnish the plate.

Chart Tells How Much Food to Order.

Even the best of cooks has a right to be a bit bewildered when she suddenly finds herself confronted with the problem of feeding a crowd of fifty or a hundred instead of her own small brood of four.

How much of everything shall she order? There must be plenty to go around and yet there should be very little left over. A handy chart giving necessary amounts all sorts of foods to feed fifty would be a big help to her.

How to Make Liver Dumplings for Soup

Liver dumplings are good in any soup which uses a meat stock base. They are unusually good in a mixed vegetable soup.

LIVER DUMPLINGS.

¼ pound calf's liver or chicken livers
1 cup cracker or bread crums
1 cup milk or water
1 egg
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon grated onion
⅛ teaspoon pepper
Grated lemon rind.

Skin the liver and remove every particle of tough fibre. Chop fine. Cook bread and water to a paste. Remove from stove, add egg, liver, and seasoning and shape into balls size of a nutmeg and drop into boiling soup 10 minutes before serving time. RENNET-CUSTARD IS QUICKLY MADE LUNCH DESSERT

Provides Nourishing Food for Children.

A rennet-custard is the right answer for the mother in search of a nourishing dessert that can be prepared easily for the children's lunch. As many variations are possible with this quick custard as with any other milk pudding. The only precaution to take is to avoid overheating the milk.

PEPPERMINT RENNET-CUSTARD

[5 servings]

¼ pound peppermint stick candy
1 pint milk
1 rennet tablet
1 tablespoon cold water

Crush candy into fine crums and let stand in milk in refrigerator for 1 hour. Dissolve rennet tablet in cold water. Turn milk and candy mixture into top of double boiler and heat to lukewarm, stirring until candy is all dissolved. Remove from stove and stir in dissolved tablet. Pour immediately into sherbet glasses or custard cups. Let stand 10 minutes at room temperature; then chill in refrigerator. Serve with chocolate sauce.

DATE RENNET-CUSTARD

1 rennet tablet
1 tablespoon cold water
20 dates
1 pint milk
3 tablespoons sugar
Maraschino cherries

Dissolve rennet tablet in 1 tablespoon cold water. Cut 16 dates in small pieces and mix well with ½ cup slightly warmed milk. Press through strainer. Add strained dates and sugar to remaining milk. Warm to lukewarm. Add dissolved rennet tablet. Stir and pour into individual dessert glasses. Let stand until firm—about 10 minutes. Chill. Before serving, garnish each dessert with slices of dates and a maraschino cherry arranged like a flower, using dates for petals and cherry for the center.

APRICOT RENNET-CUSTARD

[Serves 6]

½ pound dried apricots
1 cup water
⅓ cup sugar
1 pint milk
1 package chocolate rennet powder
½ pint whipping cream
Chopped nuts

Cook apricots in water until tender. Put through coarse sieve, stir in sugar and cool. Warm milk to lukewarm. Remove from stove, add rennet powder and stir until dissolved. Pour into sherbet glasses, filling to about ¾ inch from top. Allow to stand 10 minutes without moving; then set in refrigerator to chill. Add cream or water to apricot purée until it will spread easily. Spread lightly over rennet-custards. Whip cream until stiff and heap lightly over purée, sprinkle with nuts. Chill before serving.

SHOPPER GETS BREAKS AGAIN IN FOOD PRICES

Tendency Still Is Down in City Markets.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Price tags in food shopping centers show a slight tendency downward this week compared with last. Retail meat market managers marked down about as many items as they marked up. With live stock and most meat prices off, Packintown reports indicated that consumers may expect lower prices on beef and lamb next week.

Pot roast of beef is 1 to 4 cents a pound lower than last week in most butcher shops. A few butchers have cut their prices 1 cent a pound on porterhouse steaks. Most fish are about the same, although some shops have reduced their prices 2 cents a pound on pike and white fish. Stewing chickens are off as much as 6 cents a pound in many places.

Lamb Prices Vary.

Prices vary on lamb cuts. Leg of lamb is up 4 cents a pound in some shops and off 1 cent a pound in others. Shoulder lamb chops are 2 cents a pound higher in some shops and 1 to 5 cents a pound lower in others.

Pork loin roasts are higher in some shops. Two cents a pound has been added to the price of pork spare ribs and round steaks in many places. Beef rib roasts are 2 to 3 cents a pound higher in several retail meat markets.

Frying chickens are up 1 cent a pound in a few shops.

Trout is up 2 cents a pound in some cases.

A few grocers are asking 2 cents a pound less for mild American cheese, and evaporated milk is slightly off in a few places. Ten pound sacks of sugar have been reduced 2 cents in several stores.

Green Beans Lower.

Lower prices of green beans in some stores have been brought about by the lower quality this week. Oranges and radishes are slightly cheaper in most fruit and vegetable departments. One to 3 cents has been clipped off the price of fresh Florida tomatoes generally.

Cauliflower is off. Rutabaga and Idaho baking potatoes will be found slightly cheaper in a few places today and tomorrow.

Strawberry prices are jumping up and down—2 cent a box lower in some and slightly higher in other stores.

The lower grades of eggs went up ½ to 1 cent a dozen, lard is up 2 cents a pound in some stores. Most merchants are asking more for bananas.

Shoppers will find cabbage up 1 cent a pound and head lettuce up 4 cents a head in stores here and there. Many city and suburban stores have raised dry onion prices. A few merchants marked green onions up 1 cent a bunch. New potatoes are higher in some places. Spinach is 1 to 2 cents a pound above last week's prices in most stores.

Wholesale Prices Drop.

Farmers were paid less for cattle, hogs, and lambs this week than last. Good and choice steers are off 25 cents a hundredweight with a top for the week of $10.50 a hundred. Fresh beef is 50 cents a hundred pounds lower, according to federal reports.

Lambs are 60 to 75 cents a hundred pounds less. Top lambs for the week went down to $8.75 a hundred.

Hogs brought 5 to 15 cents a hundred pounds under last week's prices, with the top down to $9.55. Fresh pork is about the same as it was a week ago.

Head lettuce, fresh strawberries, grapefruits, both old and new potatoes, and spinach are higher this week than last on the central market. Head lettuce prices advanced about $1 a crate during the week and new potatoes 25 to 30 cents a bushel box, according to federal reports.

Wholesale prices on asparagus, green beans, broccoli, cauliflower, carrots, dry onions, and fresh tomatoes are lower than a week ago. Fresh asparagus was received from southern Illinois gardens this week; the first shipments ordinarily arrive in April.

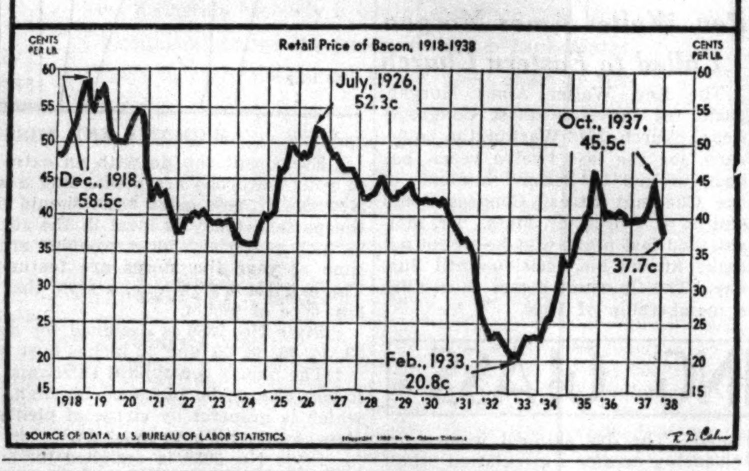
How the Price of Bacon Has Fluctuated Since 1918



SOURCE OF DATA: U. S. BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

Time Governs Amount of Yeast Used in Bread

"Why does this recipe use two cakes of yeast to make four loaves of bread when my neighbor can bake the same amount of bread with only half as much yeast? And she bakes wonderful bread, too."

This question has been asked by many a frugal housewife. The answer does not lie in her neighbor's superior ability as a bread baker. Nor does it mean that one of the two recipes is wrong.

Using two cakes of yeast instead of one is simply a matter of saving time. The more yeast used the shorter the rising time for the dough. When you use two cakes of yeast instead of one, you save one whole hour of your time.

You can safely change the amount of yeast in a recipe if you vary the rising time accordingly. Dough should always be allowed to rise to double in bulk at each rising period.

The following table will give some idea of how long it will take for the dough to rise to double in bulk when using different amounts of yeast in a recipe calling for 1 cup of liquid.

Half a yeast cake: 3½ hours, first rising; 1 hour rising in pans.

One yeast cake: 2½ hours, first rising; one hour rising in pans.

Two yeast cakes: 1¾ hours, first rising; ¾ hour in pans.

The time given here will vary somewhat for the sponge method of mixing.

It takes less time to bake with compressed yeast than with dry yeast. Compressed yeast is a little more expensive and does not keep as well, however. When using dry yeast it is necessary to soak the yeast in lukewarm water first, and then make it into a sponge which must stand for several hours before it is ready to be made into dough.

There is a new yeast available which combines the keeping qualities of dry yeast with the speedy action of compressed yeast.

In addition to being a time-saver, the use of two cakes of yeast rather than one lessens chances of failure. Keeping the temperature just right during the rising period is always a little difficult, even when the time is short.

FINED FOR DUMPING RUBBISH.

Herman Wadler, operator of a farm products store at 6520 South Cicero avenue, Stickney township, was fined $100 for dumping rubbish by Judge Joseph McGarry in Stockyards court yesterday.

PLAY VARIATIONS ON THIS CLASSIC: SCRAMBLED EGGS

Dish Never Loses Its Appeal for Supper.

All signs point to the use of plenty of eggs—it's the lenten season, Easter is coming, and eggs are plentiful. Simplest to prepare and classic informal supper dish is scrambled eggs.

No dish lends itself so readily to simple variation. Next time you make scrambled eggs try adding sautéed mushroom caps—[a half cup to 4 eggs]—and an equal amount of diced American cheese to the eggs before pouring the mixture into the skillet. The mushrooms may be sautéed in the butter in which eggs are later scrambled. Temperature should be low to allow the cheese to soften as the eggs scramble.

To make scrambled eggs with crabmeat, stir ½ cup of crabmeat, ⅛ teaspoon paprika, and ¼ teaspoon curry powder into the melted butter and heat well before pouring beaten egg and cream mixture into the skillet. This amount is enough to flavor six eggs.

Eggs scrambled with canned tomatoes are delicious. Cook 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup strained tomato, 1 teaspoon scraped onion, salt and pepper together for five minutes. Cool slightly and add 4 beaten eggs [no cream added]. As egg begins to harden, scrape from bottom and sides of pan with side of kitchen fork, being careful not to turn eggs over. Scrambled eggs always look their best when the surface is moist and shiny.

"GATHER THE ROSE AND LEAVE THE THORN BEHIND"

—AN OLD PROVERB

All the thorns of life cannot be avoided, but it is entirely unnecessary for anyone to suffer the sharp disappointment that coffee of unsatisfying quality invariably brings to the taste. This was the belief of Hills Bros. when they began in the coffee business 60 years ago. So they eliminated this "thorn" in coffee drinking by gathering in, year after year, only the finest coffees for their blend. The fragrance of a cup of freshly-made Hills Bros. Here Are Tips on Clothing a Plump Figure

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Just a few tips for the overweight woman who would like to do a bit of reducing with dress help. This is no substitute for getting rid of the excess weight, you know, but may come in handy while you are in training, or while you are trying to make up your mind to train down.

Don't wear clothes that fit tightly. This year a little looseness is the thing, anyway.

Don't wear clothes too loose or bulky, either, even though the loose peasant style is in. Just wear them loose enough to be easy.

Don't clutter up your neck with fussy accessories, thick strands of beads, etc. You can add a look of "pounds" this way, and you shorten the neck, when you should do everything to lengthen it.

Don't wear enormous cartwheel hats or hats with huge crowns. Keep the head size and hat trimmed down as neatly as you possibly can, as you can fool people with the smaller head outline.

Regardless of current style encouraging the multicolored vogue, better hew to the darkish tones and to one color instead of combinations you see in the windows right now. A small bit of contrasting color is all you need, and you may have it at neckline and wrists. But do avoid big jabots and other splashes of white. They simply make a big woman appear larger. Nothing's been discovered yet in necklines that beats the V-shaped one for the plump and overweight woman. It's always smart. Anything is smarter when becoming than when it is only fashionable and what others are wearing.

If you wear a sash, belt, or girdle, have it the same color as the frock and preferably of the same material. This is an important ruling for the thick waisted woman.

Be chary of large patterned prints.

Although skirt hems go up for other women, do be smart if you are much overweight and keep a little length to yours, so that when you sit down your skirt does not crawl up and present that ugly picture of fat legs.

Name Janssen Conductor of Baltimore Symphony

Baltimore, Md., March 24.—(AP)—Werner Janssen was named regular conductor of the Baltimore Symphony orchestra tonight to succeed Ernest Schelling, who resigned last week.

The Housewife

Some of the prettiest curtains we've seen for spring and summer are a brand new idea. They make use of the lovely old toile designs, pastoral scenes in medallion repeat patterns, but these are printed on fine, sheer organdy instead of the usual cotton or linen. In other words, the curtains are transparent. And they are crisp, fresh, and delightfully springlike.

They are ruffled in white, are ready-made, and the quaint toile prints are available in coral on white, in Dubonnet on white, in a soft brown on white, in green on white, and in the typical toile blue on white. They can be used in any bedroom, but are especially appropriate in bedrooms furnished in early American maple, in French provincial, or in colonial mahogany. EDITH WEIGLE.

Black or Navy Safe Ports in Color Storms

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Despite the record breaking flurry in clothes of many colors, there are all kinds of swanky black and navy blue outfits. Suits, costume ensembles and crisp spring coats are abundant in slenderizing models for young and the not so young. There are many smart navy blue outfits, especially in suits and coats. So if the rage for many colors leaves you cold you can still look impeccably smart in dark tones.

Vividly printed silk dresses are considerably calmed down with short jackets of either navy or black crêpe or thin wool. The dresses are unusually young in streamline with partially pleated skirts or the snappy affairs pleated all the way round. The jackets are seldom lined throughout. Lapels are faced back with the print and sometimes the collar and cuffs are of the print, using just enough of the print to achieve that matched ensemble look.

Redingote ensembles of black with bright print or flaming color contrast dress are also good finds for the well planned spring wardrobe. See the soft black outfits combined with such subtle contrast colors as beige or pearl gray. Other outfits are all black with snow white accents, so the popularity of black remains intact.

Spring colors that are taking the money are pearl gray and English violet. The gray daytime dresses are exceptionally feminine, made with gently flared skirt and soft shirred bodices with the corselet streamline. Others have a finely pleated skirt and a bodice shirred in horizontal lines. The English violet models have gay jade green or eggshell yellow sashes or belts and sashes. Otherwise they are as simple in style as the gray numbers.

Grownup Uses Tact, Patience with Children

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"But you say that when a child is stubborn a mother shouldn't have a showdown, shouldn't make an issue of things, shouldn't make her child realize whose will is the stronger. What is a mother to do? In order to foster her child's determination, and so forth, is she to let her child run all over her?"

I can just hear those objections from some mothers, and some fathers, too, after they have read the articles that have appeared so far this week on the subject of stubbornness.

Well, it's a reasonable enough question, but it's based on what some one has described as the "either-or" philosophy. That is, these parents read what I've written and end up with the conclusion, "Either you rule your child or he rules you." That's the "either-or" argument.

Now, that is not so, nor is it what is meant by this approach of ours toward stubbornness. Parents who avoid contests of wills, who understand their child and work with him, are not being ruled by him. In fact, they are quietly, strongly, and successfully ruling him—only they are doing it without a lot of fireworks and discord!

They are insistent when the occasion demands it—they say "Don't" and "No" firmly when it is called for. But they also use tact when it's called for—and patience. That is: they order their child's life, but with a wise and kind purpose and "make him like it," as the saying is. And everybody's happy. Their child grows and develops as a healthy little animal and as a real person, too, loved, understood, and unafraid.

For little children's lives have to be presided over by their grownups in the very nature of things; and those small people can be guided so they fall in with this good plan. This can never be accomplished if they are so handled that they're like little bucking bronchos or the traditional "stubborn little mule."

No, avoiding issues and contests of wills does not mean throwing control to the winds and letting your children run all over you.

This subject will be continued tomorrow.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I know that you do not approve psychic bidding, and neither do I, generally speaking. But I think you will admit that certain types of 'phoney' bids have their definite place in contract, particularly in duplicate with match point scoring. I am sending you a hand on which my partner and I achieved an amazing result and a top score. Before you tell me how lucky we were, I am going to steal your thunder by admitting that we found a beautiful distribution of cards. At the same time I maintain that my partner's bid made it possible for us to be lucky. This was the hand:

"North, dealer.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
5 no trump	Pass	6 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

"I was North. My partner's reason for his two club response was that the moment he heard the heart bid, it appeared to him that the eventual contract should be some number of no trump since, of course, he never would support hearts, and in a match point game would not be satisfied with a minor suit contract. As preparation for the no trump he bid clubs, hoping, of course, to stave off that lead. As he put it, he had no idea that a slam would be reached, but when he heard my jump rebid of hearts it appeared that a slam was in sight. Incidentally, I admit my three heart bid was very bad, that I should merely have rebid two hearts. I do not blame South for his sudden rush of optimism after the jump rebid. Although we were using the four-five no trump convention, South could not think of any bid over three hearts, except four no trump, that would express his general strength and, at the same time, insure that he would become declarer, with his phoney club suit concealed. Therefore, he lied about his ace holding, trusting that his general strength would compensate for his lie.

"Well, at any rate, there we were at six no trump, and West hardly could be criticized for failing to open from his club king. He led a spade. My partner looked terribly unhappy as he won with my blank ace, and surveyed his prospects. As may be seen, he could count only two sure spade tricks, one heart, five diamonds, and one club, a miserable total of nine. There was nothing to it except to try to bring in the heart suit. He entered his hand with a high diamond and led the eight of hearts. West ducked and declarer, who was reduced to praying for a miracle, put in the ten spot. When it held, a glimmer of hope appeared in his eyes. The heart king was laid down, losing to West's ace and, of course, it was all over, with victory smiling benevolently on us. The entire heart suit came in and we had a trick to spare.

"Again I admit the luck, but won't you concede that the two club bid did have something to do with our amazing success. Yours truly,

"E. R. T., Seattle."

There is not much I can say about this hand. My correspondent has been fair and humble in his obeisance to the goddess of luck. As to the two club bid, this particular type of psychic is by all odds the least dangerous. Even in this hand it was not South's two club response that led to such a high contract, it was largely North's jump rebid in hearts. North was at least one full honor trick short for this jump, and if the six no trump contract had met the fate which it figured to meet, it would have been almost entirely North's fault.

Critic Praises Portraits Done in Water Color

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An enchanting group of water color portraits and of decorative still life by Helen Beatrice Slutz is on view in the Paul Theobald gallery, 104 South Michigan avenue, to April 9.

The portraits are of men, women, and children and range in size from as tiny a portrait as a miniature to a rather large size representation. The colors are exquisite and the likenesses admirable. Miss Slutz is a master craftsman in this original kind of portrait painting.

One of her great successes is found in the portrait of a baby of 6 months, the same child painted at a year, and again at three years. The year old is seen in profile and then just the back of her head with its mass of riotous curls is given you—an adorable picture.

In an adjacent group the portrait of a young boy is intriguing. The larger portraits are equally attractive, charming in themselves and in the note of decoration they possess.

The still life is chiefly concerned with flowers and these are skillfully depicted in friendly and familiar guise. Here is a loose handful of spring flowers; there a branch of berries. The paintings are like a breath of wind over a garden at twilight, fragrant and alive.

An entirely different type of exhibit is that which is current in the Findlay galleries, 424 South Michigan avenue. A group of drawings by Modigliani has been hung and one can wander at will among a galaxy of long-necked sirens, not perhaps as pretty as they might be, but, of their kind, interesting. Modigliani was one of the first modern painters and he is associated with Picasso, Van Gogh and Gauguin in any consideration of that period.

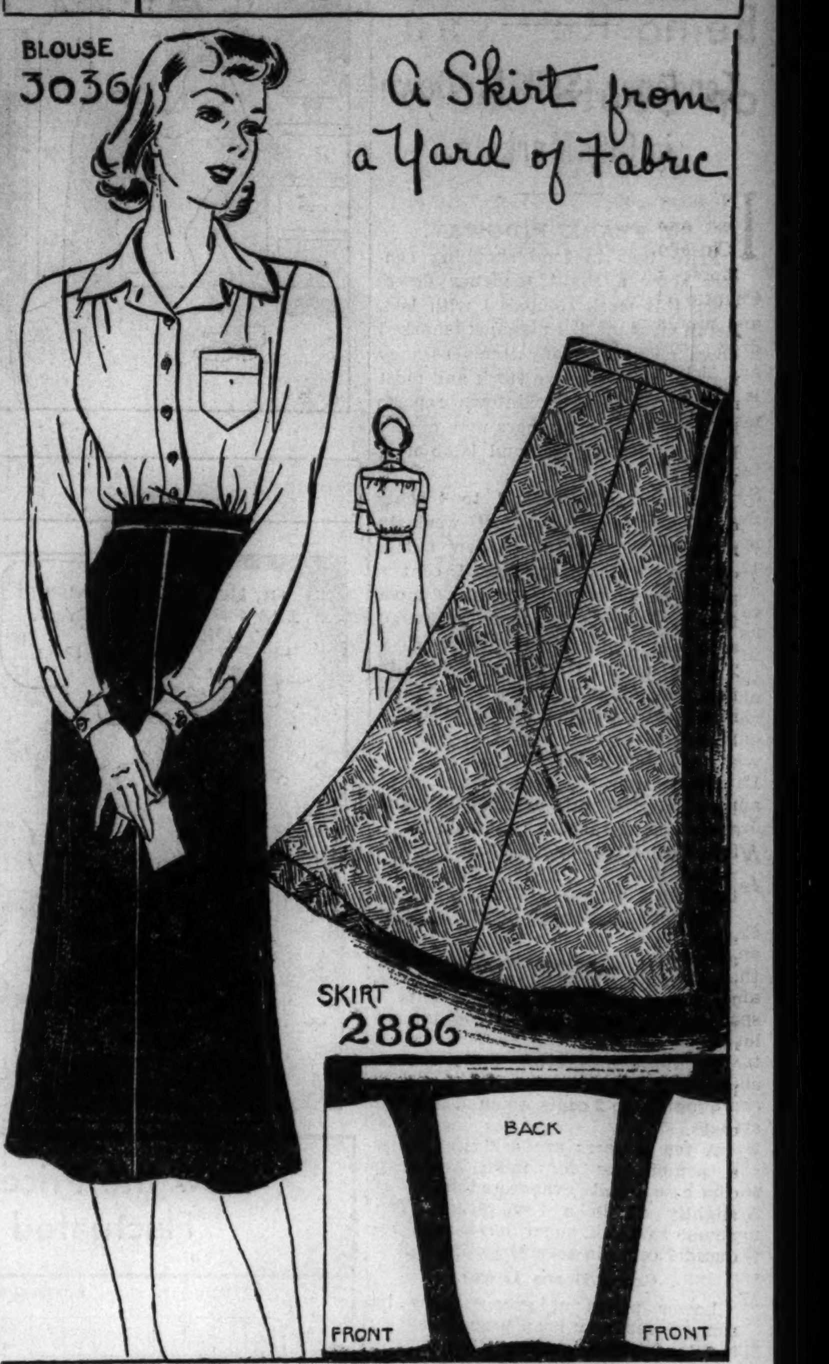
Inexpensive "Extra" Skirt



WOMAN'S AND MISS' SKIRT AND BLOUSE.

Every suit can do with an extra skirt, and all those orphaned blouses in your wardrobe are demanding a skirt to go with them, we are certain. Necessarily, this extra skirt should not involve a great deal of expense, so the pattern today is ideal in the respect that it requires only one yard of 54 inch material. Most woolens are available in that width, and at this time of year the stores are featuring special sellings of woolen fabrics. The skirt is a plain one, a style that will harmonize with the cut of almost any type of jacket.

Style No. 2886 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement.

The blouse is a typical shirtwaist model, with rever neckline which may, if you choose, be buttoned up high. One jaunty pocket adorns the bodice, which is graceful by virtue of plenty of shirring strategically placed. The sleeves may be long or short.

Style No. 3036 is designed for size 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 2¼ yards of 39 inch material.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the mose sensible beauty moves we've heard of in a long time is an innovation in Chicago. After a good deal of planning and estimating they've worked out to perfection a system which makes it possible for a woman to give herself facials at home that are as close as possible to being professional beauty treatments.

It's a little hard to describe, but here's the idea: At a price so low we didn't believe it when we saw it in print you get an individualized treatment, a lesson in giving yourself that same treatment at home, AND a handsome kit containing enough of the needed preparations for twenty-four of these home treatments!

The treatment is a good one, varied in certain details according to whether the skin is dry or oily. All during it you're invited to ask as many questions as you like, and all the time you're face and neck are being cleansed and massaged the trained operator gives you instructions and a graphic demonstration of what you can do for yourself.

The kit is a stunner, the outside in Dubonnet satin, the inside rubber lined. The dry skinned women get cleansing cream, a circulation stimulant, mild tonic, tissue cream, a cream makeup base, eye bath, and individually blended powder. For the oily skinned: Cleansing cream, a pore cleanser, the stimulant, a special softening cream for oily skins, astringent, a liquid powder foundation, and the face powder. The preparations are individualized, too, you see.

This seems to us a grand idea. It's sensible and one of the best bargains you'll find. ELEANOR NANGLE.

Notre Dame Alumni Will Hold Communion April 3

The Chicago alumni of Notre Dame university will hold their annual communion in St. Mary's Catholic church, 9th street and Wabash avenue, on April 3, Francis McCurrie, president of the Notre Dame club of Chicago, said yesterday. The Rev. John F. O'Hara, president of the university, will officiate.

THE STAGE

Maurice Evans will close his tour in Shakespeare's "Richard II." and "Henry IV., Part I." with the ending of his engagement at the Grand Opera House here tomorrow night. A few days ago he canceled all bookings except an arrangement to play in Milwaukee next week. Yesterday he decided to omit that. The strain of playing two heavy Shakespearean rôles has exhausted him and his physician has advised a rest. He has lost twelve pounds since he began to act the rôle of Falstaff about two months ago.

The series of dramatic performances in German at the Goodman theater directed by Curt Benisch will end with a performance on next Sunday night of a farce called "Huebsches Maedchen zu verschenken" ["Pretty Girl to be Given Away."]

Big Horse Show Being Revived on South Shore

BY JUDITH CASS.

IN years gone by one of the gayest and most colorful events of Chicago's early summer was the horse show at the South Shore Country club. It provided two days and nights of gala entertaining, and drew crowds from all Chicagoland, and that is just the atmosphere that is to be brought back to this summer's show.

Three centers of the Infant Welfare society, the Beverly Hills, the South Shore, and the Kenwood Social Service, have joined forces to promote the coming show, June 11 and 12, which is to be the first of the big horse shows scheduled for the Chicago area this summer. Because there has been such a pronounced increase in interest in the stables at the club the members have demanded that the old-time horse shows be revived this year. Many of the members are acquiring additional horses, which they will show then, exhibit later at the Lake Forest show, June 22, 23, 24, and 25, and at the Hinsdale show, June 18 and 19.

New Show Ring Is Being Built.

Horse shows at the South Shore Country club are particularly pleasant because the ring is located near the lake, where the breezes are cool and fresh; there is ample parking space, and the main clubhouse is so large that no number of guests would tax its capacity. A new regulation show ring is being completed for the coming show, which is to be an outstanding nonprofessional one with entries from all parts of the country.

J C. Thompson is chairman of the stable committee at the South Shore. Assisting him on the horse show committee are members of the three centers who hope to raise a substantial sum for Infant Welfare. They include Mrs. Frederick Herendeen, Mrs. Wilson Killough, Mrs. John Woodside, and Mrs. Charles Bechtel from the Kenwood center; Mrs. Arthur Clarage, Mrs. Pope Dodge, Mrs. Howard Strange, Miss Elizabeth Canavan, and Mrs. William Phillips Jr. from the Beverly Hills, and Mrs. Dennett Bell, Mrs. K. Ray Ballantine, Mrs. W. K. Edmunds, and Mrs. Wilbur MacArthur from the South Shore.

Everett Wedding to Be April 2.

Invitations have been received to the marriage on April 2 in London of Miss Eleanor Everett and Alan Wilson Watts. The service is to be read in St. Jude's church, Courtfield Gardens, at 3 o'clock, with a reception following at the Royal Stuart hotel in Cromwell road. Miss Everett and her mother, Mrs. Edward Warren Everett, are in London now. Mr. Everett did not accompany them to England because of ill health.

Mr. Watts and his bride will live in an apartment in Courtfield Gardens, not far from the Victoria and Albert museum. Mrs. Everett will return to this country in May, but she and Mr. Everett will spend the summer in the east, so she will not be in Chicago before autumn.

Oxford-Cambridge Boat Race Dinner.

To celebrate informally one of the oldest intercollegiate sporting events in existence, the Oxford-Cambridge boat race, the Oxford-Cambridge Boat Race Dinner Club of Chicago will meet on the eve of the race next Friday night at the Harvey restaurant, 308 South Michigan avenue. The gathering here, which will be the fifth annual one in Chicago, will be but one of many Oxford and Cambridge gatherings over the world, for to graduates of those universities the event is unsurpassed by any other competition.

Vision, initiative, courage, perseverance—these are the qualities which go to make a good Christian, said Bishop Stephen E. Keeler, coadjutor of Minnesota, speaking yesterday at the noonday service in the Harris theater, under the auspices of the Episcopal Church Club of Chicago.

"Every normal human being possesses the qualities requisite to being a good Christian," said Bishop Keeler. "He must have vision, he must see the importance of doing things. But vision is not enough. He must back this up by action. He must have courage, for it takes courage to stand out from the crowd and do the unusual, the unexpected thing.

"Finally, the Christian must persevere. Men can find all sorts of reasons for not doing their duty. Excuses are available on all sides these modern days. What we need is the sense of determination to carry on and through with the job, no matter what it is."

Enesco Gives All to Music; None to Show

BY EDWARD BARRY.

A swarthy, black haired, heavy set visitor from Rumania dominated last night's Orchestra hall concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra. He is Georges Enesco, who appeared in the triple rôle of soloist, conductor, and composer.

Making his first bow of the evening in the solo part of the seventh Mozart violin concerto, Mr. Enesco gave a performance destitute of any outward flourish and marked by intense absorption in the music. He has an attractively awkward look as he stands nervously tuning his instrument during an orchestral tutti.

In the act of playing he keeps his head bent forward over the fiddle, a posture which emphasizes the extreme seriousness of his general manner. Mr. Enesco does not smile even when acknowledging applause, but retains his thoughtful, almost tragic expression.

Because Felix Borowski's program notes gave space to the controversy over the authenticity of this Mozart concerto, the suspicion was planted in the breast of more than one listener that the work is merely a pastiche of Mozartean material put together by another hand. Certainly the concerto has all of the Mozart mannerisms, but little of the patness and glow which mark his more familiar things.

Later in the evening Mr. Enesco returned to the stage to conduct his own first symphony, a highly romantic work which dates from the composer's youth [he is now 56]. The orchestra responded admirably to his direction, turning in a performance which emphasized the symphony's long, impassioned phrases and its wealth of instrumental coloring.

This early work of Mr. Enesco is in the great German tradition [he is Austro-French in his musical background] and has definite overtones of Brahms and Wagner. Merely overtones, of course, with no slavish imitation of men who were and have remained immensely important in his artistic life.

The climax in the last movement was well handled, gathering up the emotional momentum of the entire work for a tremendously effective as well as highly logical conclusion. The audience rewarded the conductor with prolonged applause, which he insisted on sharing with everybody in sight.

Mr. Enesco's directing is angular and graceless, marked by the same seriousness and absorption in the task at hand which are characteristics of his violin playing.

Frederick Stock prefaced the Enesco portions of the evening with a fine peppery performance of the overture to Smetana's "The Bartered Bride" and a presentation of the un-Franck-like "Le Chasseur Maudit," a work which has not enjoyed much attention lately. He remained, then, to direct the Mozart concerto in which Mr. Enesco figured as soloist.

The symphony season is fast nearing its end. There is only one more Tuesday concert scheduled, only five more of the Thursday-Friday pairs. April 22 will be the date of the last regular program.

Tailors Launch Neon Light Era in Men's Dress

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Like so many Neon lights, fifty resplendent males, preening noticeably under the admiration of their womenfolk, marched into the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel last night with the serious purpose of reviving the spirits of men.

They were members of the Chicago Cutters' association, local branch of the Merchant Tailors and Designers of America, out to thrill the American gentleman with a preview of what he may expect to buy this summer instead of the trusty blue serge. They came in a body because—well, they wore:

Beige gabardine golf suits, with shirts and ties of the same material, the trousers topped with a 4-inch waistband fastened with two buckles, a sack coat of frankly red cashmere, a cornflower boutonniere, and shoes of brown alligator.

A grass green sports coat, green and white striped trousers, pale green shirt, tie and handkerchief, and a white carnation.

Robin's egg blue dinner jackets, dubonnet cummerbunds replacing vests; tie, flower and stud sets of ruby, and soft white pique shirts, and for a conservative touch, patent lether pumps.

Spectator sports suits of canary yellow and henna.

Summer formals of white silk, stiff pleated shirts, with handkerchiefs of red peeping deliberately out of pockets.

"It's all psychology," whispered A. G. Nast, chairman of the cutters' midsummer's night preview party. "We've seen this coming a long time—as long ago as the world's fair, when color lightened men's spirits." He adjusted his pleated sash and breathed deeply. "We're doing the same thing now, and the men, ah, you'll never know how grateful they will be to shine again!"

The cutters shone so that no one noticed their wives, who wore flowered chiffon and had feather ornaments in their hair.

Pays Record Price for Moliere Play at London

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, March 24.—A first edition of "Les Precieuses Ridicules" that brought $4,400, said to be the highest price ever paid for a Molière play, was the feature item of the second day of the sale of fine books and engravings collected by the late Mortimer L. Schiff of New York. The sale is being held at Sotheby's. The volume was purchased by Maggs, London dealer. Bound in red morocco with gilt inside borders, Molière's play bears the imprint of Claude Barbin. It is dated 1663 and not more than about ten copies are known to exist.

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

Take the Stand, Joel McCrea.

Hollywood, Cal., March 24.

Q.—Actors must have favorite actors, too, Joel. Who is yours?

A.—Gary Cooper. He's got everything that a camera demands. That's funny, by the way. Gary's last picture was "Marco Polo." First time I ever got screen credit I wasn't listed as Joel McCrea. Cecil B. De Mille didn't like my name, so I appeared in the cast as Marco Polo.

Joel McCrea once Marco Polo.

Q.—Do you remember your first screen test?

A.—Two of them. Fox was looking for a successor to Tom Mix. They'd held a contest and picked a name for the new western hero, "Rex Bell." Five of us were tested for it. George Belden won out. He's the Rex Bell who's married to Clara Bow. He and I went to school at Hollywood High.

Q.—What was the second screen test?

A.—At the old F. B. O. studios. A girl and myself took the test. Before we went in she and I talked it over. I decided to ask for $50 a week; she was to ask for $75 a week. They turned us both down. They said that I might possibly have a future, but that the girl was hopeless; and they advised her to forget all about the screen, as she had nothing to offer. The girl was Jean Harlow.

Q.—What was your first big break in pictures?

A.—Getting the lead in the "Silver Hoarder," with Evelyn Brent and Louis Wolheim. When they picked me for the lead Wolheim snorted in disgust: "How can you pick a punk kid like that?" he roared. "He's supposed to make me cringe and knock me down in a fight. It's ridiculous, absurd." When they told him that he'd have to make the picture, he let out a string of cuss words that made your hair stand on end.

Q.—What happened?

A.—On the train ride to Seattle the director, who didn't want me in the picture, asked me to read some lines, and told me candidly that I was pretty bad. Discouraged at the whole unpleasant setup of my first picture, I was walking back through the train to my berth when I passed Wolheim's compartment. It was hot and sticky, and the door was open.

On a sudden impulse, I walked in and said: "Mr. Wolheim, I just read some of the script to the director and he says that I'm terrible. Probably he's right. You're a famous actor from the Broadway stage. You know how to read lines. Would you show me?"

Q.—Go on.

A.—Sourly, he looked at me: "Sit down, you big gangling lunkhead," he said. He coached me for hours. You see Wolheim had been an assistant mathematics teacher in college, and he loved to teach, if you wanted to learn. Every other word he used was an oath, and he cursed me out from morning until night.

"The only trouble with you, McCrea," he'd roar, "is that you are mentally lazy. You've got to work. Genius is only a loose way to describe hard work."

When he died I lost the greatest friend and the most fascinating character I'd ever known.

Q.—You were born right out in this section, weren't you?

A.—Outside of Pasadena, at Highland Park. The family moved to Hollywood, so I went to school here, was chucked out of U. S. C. and finished at Pomona college.

Q.—Robert Taylor was graduated from Pomona, too?

A.—Uh huh. I knew the original Robert Taylor type, Ed. Rudolph Valentino and I were great pals years ago when Valentino first clicked in pictures. So I can sympathize with Taylor, because what he's going through today is the same beating that Valentino took. In those days, however, nobody asked for autographs. That came later. Women, however, followed Rudy everywhere he went. They'd just look at him, sort of in awe. He was a swell guy. Later on, they tell me, he took himself seriously, but it wasn't his fault. It would have spoiled anybody.

Q.—How much did Valentino get then?

A.—When he made "Four Horsemen" he was getting $750 a week. Today leading men get $100,000 a picture. Valentino never could understand why women liked him. The No. 1 man on the screen to Rudy was Wally Reid.

Q.—I didn't know you went back as far as Valentino in pictures, Joel?

A.—In those days, Ed, Hollywood was a town of horse operas and serial pictures. Every studio was making thrillers and using horses. Universal had 125 horses stabled, and it was the same at every other studio. So high school and grammar school kids used to make money leading strings of horses from studios to locations. So we got to know all of the stars. William S. Hart was my favorite, and when I got into pictures I wanted to be a cowboy star. It was ten years before I got to ride a horse in "Wells Fargo."

Q.—What's been your greatest thrill in pictures?

A.—I guess the day that Sam Goldwyn, after Wanger's "Private Worlds," signed me to a long term contract. I used to sell newspapers to Mr. Goldwyn. Cecil B. De Mille was one of my customers, too. I could always tell when they had a hit picture. They'd give me a quarter tip. If they handed me a nickel and waited for change I knew they had just made a flop picture.

Q.—Who first picked you for pictures, Joel?

A.—Sam Wood, who saw me in a college play at Pomona. W. R. Hearst, Bill Le Baron, Connie Bennett, and Gloria Swanson have been grand friends down through the years.

Q.—I rarely see you and Frances [Dee] and the two boys in Hollywood, Joel.

A.—No, I like to stay out on the ranch.

Q.—A hill-billy?

A.—Just play "Home on the Range," professor, and I'll go rolling down the mountains.

Family Affairs Stand in Way of This Couple

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

"I am 22, working, and the main support of my family. My sweetheart is 22½ and confined at home with the care of an invalid mother the last few years. My girl's job is that of nurse and all of a nurse's duties during the day, cooking special foods for her, and also cooking for the father and the other three girls and one boy in the family.

"Her mother claims she wants her daughter to marry me next year, but I can't figure out who would take my girl's place. I'm sure my girl would not want to leave her mother.

"I can manage to save only a little money and my girl quarrels about not saving more. But I was out of a job a while and got into debt as a consequence.

"I love the girl and would do anything to make her happy, but we always are quarreling over family. I do not like the way her family treats her. She is too dumb to realize they are making a workhorse of her. She gets angry if I criticize. I've never answered her mother or father back in the four years I've been seeing the girl, but I can't bear their tactics. What can be done? ED."

It looks as if the cards were stacked against you, Ed. With your financial responsibilities and your girl's devotion to her family, what can the outcome be? Not that we think the mother and the rest of the brood couldn't get along without the girl, but can you persuade her to pick up and leave them? Can you afford to ask it of her when you are bound by another kind of chain?

However, other couples have overcome such obstacles by setting a date for their wedding, serving notice on all the dependents that one year from today, or two years from today, they'd be off in their own nest gregate. Oxford won the four mile upstream race last year, but in all, Cambridge has won many more times than Oxford.

The celebrating starts immediately after the race in a brewery directly across from the finish line at Mortlake, four miles from Putney, where the race starts. Sometimes it is the defeated crew's supporters who cause the most excitement on the night of the race. It was while students from Cambridge were drowning their sorrows over an unaccustomed defeat in 1924 that they practically ruined fashionable His Majesty's theater, throwing light bulbs at the chorus girls and wreaking other damage.

Dinner Committee Is Announced.

On the committee for next Friday's dinner here are Gaylord Donnelley, Durand Smith, and William C. Parke, who went to Cambridge; and John J. McDonough and Sheldon Tefft, who studied at Oxford. It is expected that Prof. William M. McGovern, who went to Oxford, will be at the dinner and perhaps speak on his experiences in China. Others of the fifty who usually meet on the eve of the race to reminisce of student days are Sydney Heap, Arthur H. Compton, Edison Dick, James H. Douglas, Edward K. and Donald Welles, George Spaulding, Samuel M. Rinaker, and Bernadotte Schmidt. Another who may attend the dinner here this year is Melchior Palyi, who is in Chicago now, and who went to Oxford.

A second sporting event of international interest will take place in England today, the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree.

Lily Pons Will Be Cordon Guest.

Lily Pons, diminutive coloratura soprano, who will give a concert Saturday evening, April 2, at the Civic Opera house, will be the especial guest at a tea at the Cordon on Friday, April 1. Four directors of the Girl Scouts will pour—Mrs. Richard Bentley, Mrs. John Bremner, Mrs. Nathan S. Davis III., and Miss Bonnie-Jean Clark. The Girl Scouts and the North Side Animal Shelter will benefit from the concert.

Also pouring at the tea will be Mrs. George Zendt, social chairman of the club; Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Belle Forbes Cutter, and Lola Fletcher. Four of the tiniest Girl Scouts in Chicago will be present to give a bouquet to the noted singer.

Today at the Cordon's after-the-concert tea a musical program will be given by George Grammer Smith, baritone.

Mrs. Elmer A. Forsberg will be hostess at the Cliff Dwellers' tea today. Assisting will be Mrs. Charles H. Worcester, Mrs. August Bontoux, Mrs. Rudolph Ingerle, Mrs. Alexander Bacci, and Mrs. T. A. Siqueland.

Tomorrow evening members of the Cliff Dwellers will have an evening of music of Finland, with Lennart von Zweygberg, cellist, and the male chorus from the Sibelius club of Chicago giving the program. The music will commence about 8:30 o'clock and dinner will be served about 7:30.

Gives Cocktail Party Today for Organist Germani.

Mrs. Inez Stark is giving a cocktail party today from 5 to 7 o'clock in her apartment at 1430 Lake Shore drive for Fernando Germani, organist, who will give a concert Monday night under the auspices of the Renaissance society of the University of Chicago. Mrs. Stark is the society's president. The concert will be given in Mandel hall.

Tony Sarg will give a lecture and show some of his puppets at the Contemporary club meeting at 11:30 o'clock this morning at the Fortnightly club.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Peace and Mrs. Helen Jenkins Masters will be host and hostesses at a dinner the Chicago College club is giving at 6:30 o'clock tonight for Miss Elizabeth Telling.

Following dinner Miss Telling will speak on Guatemala, illustrating her talk with some of her pastels. She was sent to Yucatan and to Guatemala to portray the Maya Indians of today for A Century of Progress.

French Deputy to Speak Today.

The talk that Andre Philip is to give before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at luncheon today at the Palmer house is expected to be a most interesting one. He is to speak on "The French New Deal in 1938."

M. Philip, a member of the French chamber of deputies from Lyons and close collaborator with Leon Blum, also is professor of economics and finance at the University of Lyons.

Hans Wiener, exponent of the modern German school of dancing, will give a recital at 8:30 o'clock this evening in Thorne hall, on the Chicago campus of Northwestern university. Mr. Weiner will lecture on "The Contemporary Dance in Relation to the Other Arts," and will include in his program Fucik's "Circus Pantomime," and a new ballet with music by Ruth Culbertson, "Contemporary Quest."

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hines became the parents of their first child, a daughter, yesterday at the Evanston hospital. The baby has been named Cynthia Ann Hines. Mrs. Hines is the former Miss Nancy Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Thomas of Winnetka.

Mrs. Harry V. Scott of 900 North Michigan avenue will return from Coral Gables, Fla., the latter part of April, stopping at Sea Island and Aiken en route. Mrs. J. Donald Scott, the former Peggy Bremner, and her two children, who also are in Coral Gables, will return to their Lake Forest home about May 1. During the absence of his wife and children young Mr. Scott has been staying in town with his father.

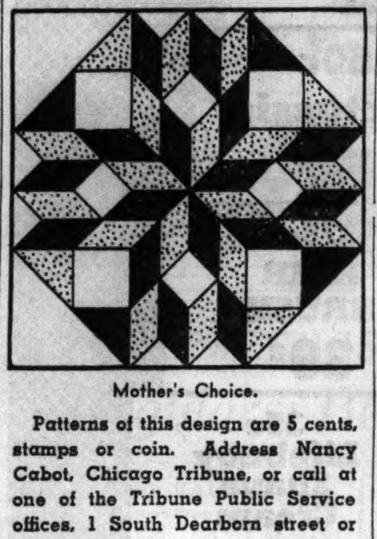
Few Quilts Enjoy the Popularity of 'Mother's Choice'



Mother's Choice.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

All quilt makers have their favorite patterns, many of them thoroughly suitable to the makers' personalities. The various "choice," "Puzzle," or "Soandso's Favorite" have had wide popularity, but none more than "Mother's Choice." It is not one of the easiest of patterns to set together, but the finished square proves that the results are well worth the time and effort spent in piecing the pattern. It is a large block measuring 15 inches square and 42 pieced patterns are required for one coverlet, which when finished measures 90 by 105 inches.

WEDDING

The wedding of Miss Elsie Jay Rubin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rubin of 8244 Evans avenue, to Harold Orlinsky, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Orlinsky, will take place on Sunday, at the Del Prado hotel. Miss Rubin was graduated from the University of Chicago. Mr. Orlinsky is a graduate of the University of Chicago law school.

Shiver Program Leaves a Studio Observer Cold

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Watching a Lights Out broadcast is disillusioning—even when the headliner is such a sinister character as Boris Karloff. You sit in an observation booth with three thicknesses of glass separating you from the performers and the sounds their voices make as they run over their opening lines for the umpty-umth time. We never were any good at lip reading.

A voice beside you observes: "There's a Chinese gong and over there a wind machine. . . . In just a minute or two it will be 'Gong with the Wind.'"

Another voice inquires, "If the lights are out, how can the actors read their scripts?" To this some one responds, "Perhaps they use Braille."

Another onlooker observes, "Why that can't be Karloff. He looks so mild and gentle." To which yet another responds, "Well, his name is really William Henry Pratt, you know."

Arch Oboler, the author, hurries about, and seeing him, reminds some one of his story about the check that Mae West cashed for him.

"When it came back from the bank," Oboler had explained, "I took a look at the back to see her autograph. She had indorsed it 'Minnie Jones!'"

As set forth above, the studio scene is disillusioning. There is nothing horrible or frightening about the setting. Karloff, coatless and with shirt loosened at collar, sits on the floor running over his lines. He simply doesn't look the part of the insane murderer he is about to portray.

Once he is on the air you quickly become absorbed in his powerful characterization. He becomes utterly convincing. The rôle is almost a monolog.

To appreciate the horrible rôle played by Templeton Fox, the fiendish "voice" which insists that Karloff "kill kill, kill," it is much better not to look at her. She is too young, too beautiful, too vibrant to be in any way related to those chilling words that come out of the microphone.

That goes for the other young supporting players, too—Mercedes McCambridge, just out of Mundelein college, the victim of the murderer; Ray Johnson, Art Peterson, and Bob Guilbert, and the sound effects experts, Bill Joyce and Tommy Horan, who yesterday were recovering from the falls they took for the two persons that "fell dead."

But it is disillusioning to have a man thirty feet distant fall to the floor when a young lady is murdered, and to see her trip blithely away from the microphone, script still in hand. To get the full macabre effect, stay home and put all lights out!

3 MORE CHICAGO TEAMS ADVANCE IN LOYOLA MEET

Mount Carmel Five Plays Today.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Three more Chicago teams—Loyola, Leo, and St. Ignatius—won first round games in the National Catholic high school basketball tournament during the yesterday afternoon and evening sessions in Loyola gymnasium.

Two of these—Loyola and St. Ignatius—survived by showing a scoring punch in the closing minutes of play, Loyola beating St. Ambrose of Davenport, Ia., 30 to 27, in the last evening game and St. Ignatius whipping Calvert Hall of Baltimore, Md., 29 to 24, in one of the afternoon matches.

Leo, Chicago Catholic league champion, put out Canisius High school of Buffalo, N. Y., 39 to 33, during the afternoon in one of the most masterful exhibitions of the tournament. The eastern team had come in with a record of thirty-two straight victories during its regular schedule.

Mount Carmel Plays This Morning.

Thus the local teams kept their record clear through the first two days of the tournament, Fenwick of Oak Park having won its first round game Wednesday evening. Mount Carmel, the fifth Chicago Catholic league team entered, will make its first appearance in the tournament this morning against Cretin of St. Paul, Minn.

Loyola worked under severe pressure throughout its game with St. Ambrose. The Chicago boys were trailing, 7 to 3, at the end of the quarter, but had tied it at 15 to 15 at the half. A powerful St. Ambrose drive in the third quarter ran the score to 23 to 16, but again Loyola came back and trailed by 23 to 21 at the end of the period.

Soon after the start of the last quarter Kelly tossed one in to tie the score. Then Carton's basket took St. Ambrose ahead. Free throws by Kelly and O'Brien tied it up and again Carton's field goal took St. Ambrose into a two point lead.

Durso Ties Score.

Then Durso flashed under the basket and lifted one in to tie the score, and with two minutes to go Kelly sank another to give Loyola a 29 to 27 lead. Durso's free throw in the closing seconds made this margin safe.

In the other two evening games St. Francis de Sales of Morgantown, W. Va., beat St. Mary of Paterson, N. J., 33 to 29, and St. Mary's of Anderson, Ind., beat St. Veronica's of Ambridge, Pa., 31 to 29.

St. Ignatius had to step lively at the finish to win its game with Calvert. The Chicago team led, 21 to 14, at the end of the third quarter, but as the last period began the Baltimore boys started a powerful attack and went into a 24 to 23 lead two minutes before the end. Then Jim Vaughan made two field goals and two free throws to clinch victory.

Leo Strong in Third Quarter.

A brilliant splurge late in the third quarter was the turning point in Leo's game with Canisius. After trailing 8 to 3 at the quarter and 20 to 18 at the half, Canisius tied it at 25 to 25 late in the third period. Then Leo scored four consecutive goals, Tunney, Galvin, Haughey, and Rowan doing the shooting. This ran the count to 33 to 25 as the period ended. Canisius continued to press through

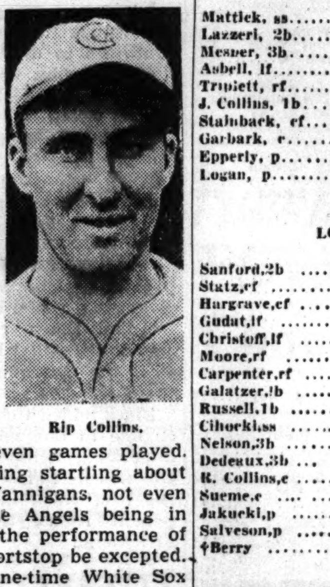
Cubs' Reserves Play Like Regulars; Beat Angels, 4-3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Rip Collins.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—The Yannigan members of the Cub troupe had to carry the exhibition load this afternoon and took care of the job in neat style. The second stringers not only trimmed the Los Angeles Angels but did it swiftly enough to satisfy those who have been voicing complaint over the length and looseness of the previous pre-season affairs hereabouts. The score was a modest 4 to 3, making the sixth Cub victory in seven games played.

There was nothing startling about the work of the Yannigans, not even a victory over the Angels being in that class, unless the performance of Bob Mattick at shortstop be excepted. The son of the one-time White Sox outfielder really had a chance to handle a series of tough grounders propelled by his last season's mates and he didn't flinch. He not only showed he could get around his position, but also proved he has an arm. So, after all, there may be something to Manager Grimm's contention that the youngster eventually will blossom.

Pitching Only Fair.

Grimm entrusted his pitching to two fellows he hopes may be of some help to him later on, but their labors, considering the opposition, were none too impressive. Albert Paul Epperly performed for four innings on a yield of four hits and two passes good for two runs. Lefty Bob Logan finished. Logan had only one good inning—the fifth. After that he was in difficulties but kept the Angels away from the plate in all except the seventh when they tied the score. That made it necessary for the Cubs to register their winning run in the eighth off Jack Salveson, former Sox rookie.

Minor league competition—the Hollywood Sheiks—will be on the Cubs' program again tomorrow, but it will be taken care of by the regulars who rested today. However, there will be a couple of temporary alterations in the first string lineup. Tuck Stainback will be in center, subbing for Joe Marty, who scratched his right forearm when he bumped into the wall yesterday. Steve Mesner, who came up with a couple of hits today, one a homer, will sub for Stanley Hack at third. The pitching will be in the care of Clyde Shoun and Rookie Newel Kimball.

Cubs Start Scoring.

A Polish lad with the name of Jakucki had no trouble disposing of Mattick, Lazzeri, and Mesner in the first inning, but he encountered a slight jolt in the second. One run grew from this mild disturbance. With one out, Triplett made good on his name by tripling to left center on the first ball pitched. Collins drew a pass. Stainback smacked a fly to Gudat against the left field fence and Triplett scored. Jakucki draped three strikes around Garbark's neck to conclude the inning.

Epperly became a bit twisted in both his pitching and fielding in the Angels' half of the second and made a two run presentation. The charitable move began with passes to Moore and Galatzer with none out. It continued when Epperly picked up Cihocki's bunt with the intention of forcing Moore at third. The throw went wild, so Moore scored, Galatzer went to third and Cihocki to second. Galatzer scored on Nelson's infield out. Then Bob Collins singled to center and a bulletlike throw by Stainback cut down Cihocki at the plate.

Epperly Ties Score.

The Cubs started the third inning as if serious about giving the few hundred customers something to marvel at, but the incident netted only the tying run. Epperly opened with a single over short. Mattick hit safely in the same direction. Lazzeri splashed a drive against the left field wall for a single, Epperly scoring. Mattick tried to reach third on Lazzeri's hit but was nailed by Gudat's throw to Nelson. Lazzeri jogged down to second while this was going on. Mesner then grounded out, Asbell walked, and Triplett popped to Nelson.

The Cubs jumped into the lead almost the instant that Salveson began pitching in place of Jakucki in the sixth. Mesner spanked the first pitch so hard that it vanished beyond the left center field barrier.

Logan was a perfect pitcher in the fifth and in the sixth escaped undamaged although he had to contend with a double and a pass before anybody was retired. His luck was different in the seventh and the Angels climbed back into a tie by scoring once. Sueme led off with a single and Salveson sacrificed. Sanford caromed a single off Logan's glove, sending Sueme to third, whence he scored on wild pitch.

Collins Comes Through.

Mesner's second safe tap of the afternoon and the first from the bat of Rip Collins, the dethroned regular first baseman, moved the Cubs into a 4 to 3 lead in the eighth. Mesner opened the inning with a single to right, and Asbell contributed the customary sacrifice. After Triplett had erased himself on an infield out, Collins poked a single into right and Mesner sprinted home.

Tiger Jack Fox Fights Draw with Tony Shucco

Boston, Mass., March 24.—(AP)—Tiger Jack Fox, 181½ pounds, of Spokane, Wash., and Tony Shucco, 185 pounds, of Boston, tonight fought a ten round draw in a final bout of an all-heavyweight card before 6,582 in the Boston Garden.

Where Can I Get a Fight Ticket?

That was the question boxing fans were asking on the night of the recent Golden Gloves finals. The answer was "They're all gone." Boxing fans will be asking the same question May 18 when the Chicago Golden Gloves team meets the best amateur fighters of Europe in the Stadium.

When your friends pop that query to you, you can reach into your pocket and say, "I have a couple. Didn't you get yours?" This is, if you act now.

THREE TIE FOR PINEHURST GOLF LEAD WITH 141

Nelson, Dudley Move Up on Vic Ghezzi.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pinehurst, N. C., March 24.—The going in the thirty-sixth annual North and South open golf tournament became quite snug this gay spring afternoon as the field of 125 completed the first thirty-six holes of the show. Going into tomorrow's final thirty-six, thirteen of the profession's leading artists were separated by a measly four shots, a negligible margin in these days of sub-par shooting.

Victor Ghezzi, the Jersey Italian who was off by himself yesterday with a 68 over the Pinehurst Country club's No. 2 layout, came out of the day with company in the persons of Ed Dudley of Augusta, Ga., and Byron Nelson of Reading, Pa. This trio was tied for first place at the halfway mark with scores of 141, three under par. Ghezzi found his tee shots wandering more than somewhat, and settled for a second round 73. Dudley and Nelson meanwhile were compiling par 72s.

Three Others Threaten.

Directly back of the leaders was another capable threesome, running a dead heat at 142. They included Jimmy Hines of Great Neck, N. Y.; Denny Shute of Boston, national pro boss these last two years, and E. J. [Dutch] Harrison of Little Rock, Ark. Jim Turnesa of New York state's famous golfing family; Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., and Leonard Dodson, the Springfield, Mo., free lance artist, were right behind with 143's.

Harry Cooper of Chicago, No. 1 threat in any man's tournament, was in one of his pet positions with a 144. A shot away from him were Ted Turner of the nearby Pine Needles course; Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., and Frank Moore of Mamaroneck, N. Y.

Horton's Still In It.

Horton Smith of Oak Park, who shared in the business of setting a course record for the No. 2 layout, while winning last year's championship, kept his hand in with a 72 today for a 146, an honor he shared with Ky Laffoon of Northmoor. All of the other Chicago entrants were below the qualifying limit of 156 for the final thirty-six holes. Johnny Revolta of Evanston and Frank Walsh, competing unattached, were tied at 148. Tommy Armour of Medinah slipped to an 80 today for a 155, while Johnny Bulla of Woodridge, after a poor opening 82, rallied with a 72 today. Ralph Guldahl, National Open titleholder, also came back, adding a 72 to his first round 79.

George T. Dunlap Jr., Pinehurst's first golfing citizen, batted out a 150 for the first thirty-six holes, thereby leading all amateurs to the halfway post, but said that he would withdraw and join the galleries tomorrow to watch the professionals in the stretch drive. The amateur prize still involved a lot of argument, however.

Little Frankie Strafaci of Brooklyn, former national public links champion, had 153, a stroke better than C. Ross Somerville of London, Ont., and T. Suffern Tailer of Newport, R. I.

Horne Does Real Well.

The best scoring chore of the second round was submitted by Stanley Horne of Ottawa, Canada's ranking professional, who knocked down a 68. Cards of 69 were turned in by Hines, Jim Turnesa, Harrison, and Ted Luther of Pittsburgh. Luther one putted thirteen greens for what Horton Smith said was one of the finest putting rounds he had ever seen. The cards for the three leaders follow:

Birth of Spring.

All without form and void again today,
Enwrapped in mists, chaotic, hangs the earth,
Inert and helpless; joyless in the dearth
Of sun or shadow, while, within the gray
And silent fastness of the forest, sway
Those ancient unseen powers who, at the birth
Of the first springtime, wove its first green girth
Of vernal velvet, decked with blossoms gay.

A bird note falls. The dark fog slowly lifts;
Then come the tender south wind and the sun,
And soon the gentle rain—three wise men, they,
And in their arms they carry precious gifts
Of frankincense and gold, which, one by one,
At the young season's feet they softly lay.

250,000 to See Historic Grand National Today

AINTREE, England, March 24.—(AP)—The Grand National steeplechase, jinx-laden as never before in its 100 year history, will be run before 250,000 people tomorrow, with Blue Shirt, Cooleen, and the American owned Delachance favored to lead the field of thirty-six over the course of 4 miles and 856 yards. There are thirty difficult jumps.

Inconsistent till the end, the bookmakers, who figure to lose $5,000,000 if Blue Shirt carries Arthur Sainsbury's silks to victory, shuffled the odds at the last callover and relegated Mrs. Camille Evans' Royal Mail, last year's winner, to fourth place.

Blue Shirt Is Consistent.

Blue Shirt, one of the most consistent performers in the preliminary campaign that saw H. Lloyd Thomas, Royal Mail's former owner, killed; three horses destroyed, and numerous jockies injured, was quoted at 100-15. Cooleen, owned by James V. Rank and second in 1937, was held at 100-12; J. B. Snow's Delachance at 100-9, and Royal Mail at 100-7.

Only three horses ever won the classic two successive years—Abd El Kader in 1849-'50, the Colonel in 1869-'70, and Reynoldstown in 1935-'36. Only four horses have managed to win with the maximum handicap of 175 pounds allotted to Royal Mail.

Rain a Vital Factor.

If the threatened rain materializes Delachance may go postward the favorite. There are four other American owned horses in the field, two of which are American bred, but one of them, Mrs. Jesse Metcalf's K. D. H., quoted at 10-1, may be withdrawn because of an accident to its jocky today. The rider, Tom Isaac, fell in a race and suffered a concussion.

Except for Delachance, all the American owned entries are outsiders. Mrs. Marion Scott's Battleship, a son of Man o' War, is held at 45-1; Robert Lehman's Didoric at 50 to 1, and Frank Gould's What Have You, an offspring of Tryster, at 100-1.

Chicago Golden Gloves Party Returns Today

Chicago's Golden Gloves team, which defeated New York, nine bouts to seven, in the eleventh annual inter-city bouts in Madison Square Garden last Monday night, will return to Chicago today. The Pennsylvania special train carrying the boxers from Washington, D. C., where they spent two days sightseeing, is scheduled to arrive at Union station at 12:30 o'clock.

TORONTO BEATS BOSTON, 1-0, IN 1ST TITLE GAME

Rangers Square Series with Americans, 4-3.

TORONTO, Ont., March 24.—(AP)—Toronto's Maple Leafs won the first game in the best-of-five playoff series for the National Hocky league championship tonight by defeating the Boston Bruins, 1 to 0, in the second overtime period.

George Parsons, taking a pass from Red Metz, scored the lone goal at 1:32 of the "sudden death" second overtime period, to give the league's Canadian section titleholders the important first game edge.

Second Game Tomorrow.

The two teams had gone scoreless through the first 20 minutes of overtime, after which, according to playoff rules, the ice was cleared and scraped before they kept on, with the first team scoring in the "sudden death" battling, winning.

The second game of the series is scheduled for Toronto Saturday, with the Bruins, American section leaders, fighting to pull even. Lineups:

RANGERS, 4; AMERICANS, 3

New York, March 24.—(AP)—The New York Rangers, holding a 3 to 0 lead at one stage of the game, held off a desperate drive by the New York Americans tonight, to win, 4 to 3, and thus tie up the second place Stanley cup playoff series at one game each. A near capacity crowd of 15,175 saw the game at Madison Square Garden.

Clint Smith, rookie center whose second period goal had given the Rangers a 2 to 0 advantage, fired the deciding shot with five minutes of the last period to play. A comparatively soft shot, it took effect because Smith's fake of a pass to Dillon momentarily drew off Goalie Earl Robertson's attention.

The game was fast to the closing seconds, when the Americans were driving in seeking to add one more to the two third period goals rammed in by Johnny Sorrell.

The series will be decided on Sunday night. Lineups:

EARN RIGHT TO PLAY CANADIEN SEXTET AGAIN

Seibert Scores First Two Goals.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

Championship hocky, relentless on attack and vicious on defense, kept the Chicago Blackhawks in the Stanley cup playoffs last night with a 4 to 0 victory over the Montreal Canadiens. The triumph, achieved before a wildly partisan gathering of 12,000, evened the series and sent the teams back to Montreal, where the third and deciding game will be played tomorrow night.

Three men shared in the scoring, but it was a burly defenseman, Earl Seibert, bald and blond, who sealed and delivered the victory. Seibert scored the first two goals, one in the opening period and another in the third, on duplicate solo dashes. The third goal came off the stick of Johnny Gottselig, and in the final second of the game Paul Thompson, the leading scorer in the American division of the National Hocky league, drove in a rebound of his own shot by Goalie Wilf Cude to complete the scoring.

Hawks, Are "In," It Seems.

Notorious in and outers, the Blackhawks last night definitly were in. They outskated the famed Flying Frenchmen and with Gottselig giving one of his greatest stick handling exhibitions, forced the play throughout. It was difficult to understand, observing their teamwork and spirit, how the Blackhawks were able to go through a season's schedule and one series game prior to last night without achieving more than one decision over the Canadiens.

Seibert's two goals were among the outstanding individual accomplishments of the season. On each occasion he swung to the left in mid-rink and went down the boards on around the net to fire a back hand shot at Cude, who had stretched himself over the mouth of the goal. The first goal struck the goalie's arm and caromed into the net in 17:58. Cude saved on Seibert's second scoring foray, but knocked the puck into the path of Armand Raymond, Canadien defenseman, who was coming back to cover. It bounded off Raymond's leg over the prostrate Cude in 10:06 of the third period.

Johnny Goes to Work.

Gottselig, whose play brought repeated applause from the 12,000, stole the puck from two Canadiens three minutes later and stick handled through the defense right up to Cude's skates, where he faked the straining goalie out of position and rammed home the third Hawk goal in 13:34 of the third period.

On the basis of their showing last night the Hawks became favorites to defeat the Canadiens in Montreal Saturday and advance to the three game series with the winner of the Ranger-American set, which now is tied at 1 all, following the Rangers' victory last night. Success in this series would qualify the Hawks for the Stanley cup finals against the winner of the Toronto-Boston series.

Hawks Plead in Vain.

Until Dahlstrom came out of a scrimmage with a cut on his scalp in the tenth minute, the first period was noteworthy for its lack of good hocky. The Hawks demanded a penalty be enforced for Dahlstrom's injury and argued unsuccessfully for nearly five minutes. When they finally resumed play, the game immediately became a vicious, roughhouse affair.

Desilets chose Gottselig, which, obviously was a mistake, for Gottselig will fight and did. When the two had been pried apart, Gottselig was given a double minor, which is a rarity, and Desilets a major penalty. Gottselig's four minutes were a few seconds short of fulfillment when Seibert scored his first goal.

Seibert Is Off Again.

Seibert's third period foray started in midrink, where the big defense man snatched the puck from Haynes and started goalward. He followed the same course he had taken on his first expedition, swung around

One thousand delegates of the American Bowling congress will gather in the Medinah club this afternoon to pick a site for the 1939 tournament. Buffalo, Cleveland, Detroit and St. Paul are seeking the meet, with the first two the leading candidates. Detroit, along with St. Paul, has shown a willingness to exercise patience in the hopes of landing the 1940 tourney.

Mayor T. L. Holling of Buffalo and Mayor Richard Reading of Detroit are in Chicago to aid their cities in the political battles. Both are enthusiastic bowlers. Mayor Holling competed in the Coliseum last night with the Bill Pollack quintet of Buffalo. Mayor Reading rolled with a Detroit team.

Seeks Sixth Meet.

Buffalo, a pioneer among hosts to the A. B. C., has conducted the annual tourney five times—in 1902 when only 61 teams competed, in 1914, 1921, 1925 and 1931. Cleveland has held the meet in 1904 and 1930.

Cleveland representatives are reminding the bowling fraternity that since New York City entertained in 1937 and Syracuse played host in 1935, some other state should be given consideration.

In addition to ironing out who will get the 1939 meet, bowling officials will ponder legislative problems and elect officers. John Davies of Columbus, O., first vice president, automatically will succeed Al Lattin of New York as president of the A. B. C.

Charles W. Cushing of Peoria, Ill., a former president and chairman of the legislative committee, will be elevated to the office of treasurer, made vacant by the recent death of Frank L. Pasdeloup of Chicago.

West Dominates Doubles.

Scoring games of 957-1026-1037, Lang's Beer and Ale, Buffalo, N. Y., champions, took third place in the five man event with a 3,020 total, easily topping the eighty out of town teams on the night's card.

Bowlers from the west dominated the doubles yesterday when Joe Klobas and Walter Lewis of Tulsa, Okla., moved into ninth place with 1,264, and Bob Conyes and Harb Francis of Oakland, Cal., spilled the maples for 1,261 to take tenth position.

Carl Zievers of Kenosha, Wis., was the best of yesterday's singles shooters. The Kenoshan opened with 204, and followed it with 241 and 231 for 676. His score was 16 pins better than the day's runner up, Walter Tuss of Great Falls, Mont., whose figure was 651.

Joe Bailey, Stamford, Conn., took sixth place in the all-events with 1,877.

Tom Gibbons Likes the Way Thomas Hits

Sherif Tom Gibbons of Ramsey county in Minnesota yesterday watched Joe Louis and Harry Thomas work out for their heavyweight championship engagement in the Stadium one week from tonight.

Gibbons, who won lasting fame when he went the fifteen round distance with Jack Dempsey in Shelby, Mont., fifteen years ago, then said Thomas has a chance to score an upset.

Thomas, first to appear on the floor in Trafton's gymnasium, looked better than ever as he tore into Sparmates Bruno Dooley, Bernie Bowman, and Jack Fargo for six rounds.

Challenger Is Confident.

Every move made by the challenger indicated confidence in his ability.

"I know my only chance of winning depends on whether I can land a knockout punch," the Eagle Bend, Minn., slugger explained. "You can bet that I'll be trying every second I'm in the ring."

After Thomas left for the showers the champion sparred six rounds, two each with Cecil Meyart, George Nicholson, and Tom Jones. Louis snapped out of the lethargy which marked his drill on Tuesday, catching each of his partners with hard, well timed wallops in close quarters.

Sherif Gibbons was impressed.

"Louis is good," the old heavyweight contender said. "Thomas, however, has a chance. A hitter such as Thomas always has a chance."

Poses With Thomas.

Gibbons then posed for pictures with Thomas.

Just before the picture was snapped he examined Harry's ears.

Gibbons, one of the cleverest boxers in the game when in his prime, has two slightly cauliflowered ears, the result of slipping head punches.

Louis will enjoy his third rest of the campaign today while Thomas continues to drill.

Mike Jacobs, who is financially interested in the show, last night returned from a Detroit conference with Frank MacDonell, member of the Michigan boxing commission, regarding the possibility of Louis defending the championship in that city.

Possibility Not Promising.

This possibility did not appear promising yesterday.

Julian Black, one of Louis' managers, asserted "It looks very much as if the match will be held in Chicago."

Black added that the champion will engage in one more tuneup for the impending Schmeling meeting. The site will be Detroit Olympia, the date the first week in May, and the opponent Andre Lenglet or Maurice Strickland.

TOTALIZATOR TO BE INSTALLED AT AURORA TRACK

An electric totalizator will be installed at the Aurora race track for the opening of the Illinois racing season May 2, R. S. Eddy Jr., general manager of the Fox Valley Jocky club, said yesterday. Under a ruling by the Illinois racing commission, all tracks in the Chicago area must have totalizators before requesting a license to operate.

Lincoln Fields, near Crete, Ill., already has announced the purchase of a totalizator for its meeting May 30 to June 25. Two others tracks, Hawthorne and Sportsman's Park, will be required to have the totalizators. Hawthorne will operate Sept. 5 to Oct. 8, and the Sportsman's Park dates are Oct. 10 to Oct. 31.

JIM LONDOS GOES TO MAT AGAINST ALI BABA TONIGHT

Meet in Hour Bout in the Coliseum Annex.

Jim Londos, who has been wrestling nineteen years, will make his first Chicago appearance of the year in a one hour bout against Ali Baba tonight in the Coliseum north hall, 15th street and Wabash avenue.

Jim Londos.

Londos won undisputed right to the championship by his victory over Ed [Strangler] Lewis in Wrigley field Sept. 19, 1934. The bout, which attracted a record crowd of 35,265 and a gate of $96,302, was presented under the auspices of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Jim lost the title the following year to Danno O'Mahoney. Since then the crown has changed hands frequently. Bronko Nagurski, Chicago Bears full back, and Steve [Crusher] Casey now hold title claims.

Londos launched a comeback in this country last Aug. 24 after a successful eighteen months' tour of Europe and Africa. On that occasion he threw Cliff Olsen in 37 minutes 14 seconds in Philadelphia.

Following victories over George Pencheff of Australia in Baltimore, Oct. 4, and Vincent Lopez in New York, Oct. 6, Londos went to London, where he defeated Pencheff again Oct. 27.

On his return to this country Jim wrestled Al Periera. The ring collapsed and the wrestlers were unable to continue, the bout being called a draw. Londos, who is 38 years old, then won a number of matches, one of which was against Bobby Bruns in the Coliseum Dec. 30.

If Londos is able to prolong his march at the expense of Baba, negotiations will be resumed for a Londos-Nagurski bout. Supporting matches:

Bobby Bruns vs. Jim McMillen.
Fritz Von Schacht vs. Rudy Strongberg.
Ken Felon vs. Fred Grubmier.
Firpo Wilcox vs. Joe Borbett.

Earl Gibson, west side lightweight, is paired with Jack Whitinghill of Bloomington, Ill., in one of a series of intercity amateur contests tonight in Madison Athletic club, 4711 West Madison street. Twelve bouts between boxers from the Duncan Y. M. C. A. and the Beverly Y. M. C. A. will be held this evening in Morgan Park Military academy gymnasium, 112th street and Hoyne avenue. . . . Sammy Kaplan, Franklin Park amateur, and Henry Lewis, Savoy A. C. featherweight, meet in a five round main event in Northwest arena, 3968 Milwaukee avenue, tonight.

Eight amateur bouts will be presented under the auspices of the American Legion in Lockport Township High school tonight. Bernie Masterson, Carl Brumbaugh, Joe Stydahar of the Chicago Bears, Lou Gordon, Green Bay Packers, and Davey Miller, Tommy Thomas, and Joe McNamara, all three of whom are members of the Illinois boxing commission's refereeing staf, will participate. Rocky Wolfe will be the announcer.

Beware, Cubs! Sox Say Their Turn Is Near

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 24.—Manager James Dykes of the 100 per cent unconquering White Sox today put his lads through the biggest exercise program of the year and will give them another dose of the same tomorrow. Baseball will be resumed over the week-end, with Saturday and Sunday contests against the Cubs in Wrigley field, Los Angeles.

Skipper Jimmy and his protégés appeared not the least embarrassed by their poor showing in the first five games of their formal spring exhibition calendar, all of which they have lost, and in rather listless fashion. Though it is pointed out here and there that spring exhibition games do not mean anything, the White Sox are making plans to try hard in the remaining engagements.

Two Johns to Pitch.

J. D. Rigney and John Whitehead will pitch Saturday. It will be the first time Manager Dykes has planned to get by with only two pitchers. He will also work a two pitcher shift — Thornton Lee and Monty Stratton—in Sunday's battle against the Sox's erstwhile cousins.

Mr. Dykes was pleased with the workout today and said that he was not especially disappointed with his team as it took a third straight licking from the Cubs in yesterday's game.

Officials Laugh It Off.

Pointed razzing of the White Sox in the Los Angeles press, including one editorial suggestion that the Sox should give the Cubs better opposition or reduce the price of admission, have been ignored by Sox officials here as merely ill tempered pish-tush.

Normal	100 000 20*—3	4	0

The New York Celtics, world professional basketball champions, and the Harlem Globe Trotters, colored title holders, will meet tonight for the first time in a game billed as for the world championship in the White City arena, 63d street and South Park avenue.

He's Dull, the Cowbird, but Won't Be Lost

BY BOB BECKER.

Now that our songbirds are coming up from the south and the bird banders are on the lookout to see how many birds return to the same state, same county, and even the same farm or suburban garden to make their nests, the mystery of migration and the homing instinct in birds again is intriguing bird fans.

Of all the birds that are found in Chicagoland the common, unattractive cowbird apparently has the most perfect homing instinct of all migrants. This is the deduction made by William I. Lyon, nationally known ornithologist and president of the Inland Bird Banding association. Mr. Lyon has banded more than 100,000 birds in recent years, an enviable record.

Tests Cover U. S.

The tests made by Lyon with the cowbird cover many parts of the United States. His first experiments were with birds taken just a few miles from Waukegan and released. These were first trapped and banded in Waukegan, placed in small containers, and usually transported by automobile to a spot some distance away. There they were freed. Lyon then returned home to watch his traps in the hope that one or all of the released birds would show up. Invaribly the homely little cowbirds got back to Waukegan in short order, while other species failed to return.

Gradually he lengthened the flights to 100 miles, 200 miles, then 500 miles, until finally cowbirds and several other species were taken into northwest Canada and released. It required a few weeks for the cowbirds to make the return trip, but back they came with unerring instinct. On most of these experiments, the bluejays, sparrows, and other species of birds taken with the cowbirds failed to show their desire or their ability to fly back to the middle west.

Foreign Armies Interested.

He told us recently that he now wants to ship some of the birds [trapped and banded in his yard] via plane to the far northwest for the supreme test—a return flight of several thousand miles over mountains.

Lyon's experiments with cowbirds have been so successful and so sensational that one foreign government has written him for further information about them. This government now is experimenting with chimney swifts and other birds for use in place of pigeons as message carriers on battlefields.

Arrests Reach 75 in Drive on Racing Tipsters

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—The drive to smash the horse race tipster swindle, which federal agents say has mulcted the public of $80,000,000 in the last eighteen years, continued today with the arrest of seven more men on charges of mail fraud. The arrests raised to 75 the number of prisoners locked up since the drive began yesterday with simultaneous raids by police and postoffice inspectors on offices of tipster publications and tout services throughout the city. Twenty-two other persons, including several women, were brought in by the raiders, but were released after questioning.

The raids began as the federal grand jury indicted twenty-three persons on charges of conspiracy and mail fraud as members of an alleged ring headed for seventeen years by Jacob Adelman of Brooklyn and accused of swindling clients of $500,000 to $750,000 a year.

Joe Dolan, Ex-Philly Infielder, Dies in Omaha

Omaha, Neb., March 24.—[Special.]—Joe Dolan, once an infielder for the Philadelphia Phillies, died today. He was 65 years old. He was born in Baltimore, Md., but served as a railroad flagman here for 30 years after his retirement from baseball.

NATION'S TRACK STARS ENTERED IN CHICAGO RELAYS

Cunningham Tops Field at Amphitheater.

The nation's outstanding track stars will begin to arrive in Chicago today for the Chicago Relays in the International Amphitheater, 43d and Halsted streets, tomorrow night. World and Olympic champions, Big Ten and other college stars will seek to establish records over a newly constructed spruce track.

While the program will list many world's record holders, the spotlight will be trained on Glenn Cunningham, former University of Kansas runner, who recently ran the mile in 4:04.4 on a new wooden track at Dartmouth. Cunningham, who now represents the New York Curb Exchange, may realize his ambition of running the mile in four minutes.

Venzke, Fenske Entered.

Cunningham's rivals in the event will include Gene Venzke, formerly of the University of Pennsylvania, and Chuck Fenske of the University of Wisconsin, three times western conference title holder. Cunningham is reported in the best of condition. Nine times this winter the Kansan has run the mile under 4:10.

The pole vault competition is headed by Earle Meadows, Olympic champion and co-holder of the world's record. Don Lash and Greg Rice of Notre Dame, national collegiate champion, top the list in the two mile event.

Johnson Heads Sprint Field.

Ben Johnson, colored sprinter of Columbia university, who holds the world's record of 6 seconds in the 60 yard dash, will compete in the 40, 50, and 55 yard sprint series. Others who have entered these events include Eulace Peacock, Perrin Walker of Georgia, and John Davenport of Chicago, Big Ten champion.

A Tonic 27% More Nutritious
I believe a tonic should be rich in the goodness of the malt and other grains that go to make it. That's why we use in our Malt Elixir Tonic 27% more grain than usual. Hence, 4 bottles of Malt Elixir give you the value of 5 of the ordinary. We want you to get acquainted with this rich tonic . . . so we make this amazing special offer for short time only.

An Ale with the Old English Winey Taste . . . Please try this special treat. You recognize at once a difference in the flavor—compared with ordinary Ales. Our Ale is slightly tangy. It has a rich, winey character, typical of the Old English Stock Ales. We age it fully before releasing it to your dealer. He has some now. Try it. I promise you'll be glad you did.

The Beer that Leads in Sales by 2 to 1
. . . over other bottled beers in this area
When a leading Chicago newspaper wanted to find out which brand of beer the public prefers they asked over 400 retailers "Which is your best selling bottled beer?" More than twice as many named MEISTER BRÄU as mentioned the second best seller. I'm mighty proud the public appreciates the care we take in brewing.

U. S. TO BUY MORE ILLINOIS BUTTER; TAX IS REMOVED

Relief Purchases Cleared from State Levy.

Officials of the tax division of the state department of finance yesterday cleared the way for the federal government to resume its butter buying program in Illinois by reversing the department's ruling on the taxability of government purchases.

Butter buying by the Federal Surplus Commodity corporation has been suspended this week because of a recent ruling by the state that sellers to the government would be subject to the 3 per cent retailers' occupational tax, which falls on the seller in all "final sales" transactions. Because the government butter buying, which started on Feb. 14 and has amounted to nearly 900,000 pounds in Chicago, is for relief and not for resale, the state had ruled that the purchases were subject to the tax.

Tax Ruling Reversed.

At a conference yesterday with FSCC representatives in Springfield, however, tax division officials decided that purchases by the federal corporation did not constitute final sales and therefore were not subject to the tax. The corporation turns its purchases over to the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, which distributes them and pays the distribution expense.

Beginning Monday, the government confined its butter buying to the New York market, with the result that the cash market weakened in Chicago. Federal egg buying, which began this month, has been done altogether in markets outside of Chicago. F. R. Wilcox, vice president of the FSCC, indicated yesterday in Washington, before the tax ruling was announced, that government purchases in Chicago would be made as needs waranted, if the occupational tax was lifted.

Cash Butter Declines.

Cash prices of butter for top grades declined ¼ cent yesterday in the Chicago wholesale market. The tax ruling was not made known until after the close of trading.

Butter futures on the Chicago mercantile exchange, after a five day decline, advanced ⅛ to ¾ cent a pound. The March delivery closed at 26½ cents, up ¾ cent, and the November contract finished ⅛ higher at 27¾. Egg futures, unsettled by weakness in the cash market, fell ⅛ cent a dozen. Spot egg prices were unchanged to ¼ cent lower.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

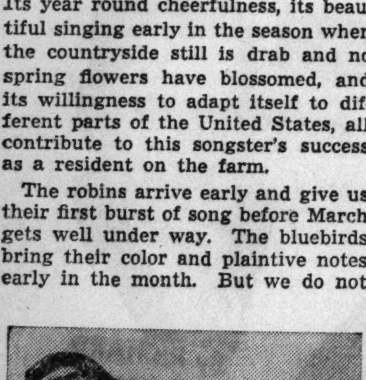
By Bob Becker

A Feathered Friend.

March 24, 1938.

THE common song sparrow that came into Chicagoland a few days ago may be regarded as one of nature's big successes. Its year round cheerfulness, its beautiful singing early in the season when the countryside still is drab and no spring flowers have blossomed, and its willingness to adapt itself to different parts of the United States, all contribute to this songster's success as a resident on the farm.

The robins arrive early and give us their first burst of song before March gets well under way. The bluebirds bring their color and plaintive notes early in the month. But we do not feel that spring really has made much progress until the bubbling, irrepressible trill of the song sparrow has been heard.



SONG SPARROW.

There is no migrant to equal this species in good spirits and singing ability. We always associate this happy songster with the catkins of the hazel and the first buds on some of our trees and shrubs because it comes up from the south when these visible evidences of new life in our vegetation may be seen in the woods. On the experimental farm you will hear the song sparrows around the ponds and especially near the little creek that flows through the east woods for a few weeks during early spring.

Nest Near Water.

There is nothing surprising about finding song sparrows in these locations because, if the birds have a choice, they never get very far from water. The dense thickets on the farm are ideal for these birds, and there is one patch along the little creek in the east woods that every year seems to be the favorite habitat of a male bird.

We heard him there a few days ago. He's usually sitting in this brushy area trilling his short but beautiful song. The singing of the first song sparrows that come in March is a tip on their sex. These early migrants are males, just as the first robins usually are male birds.

The song sparrow is about 6¼ inches long. Its heavily spotted breast with a heavy central blotch is a characteristic feature for which to look. No matter where these birds live . . . on farms in the middle west, along streams in deserts, or in rich fertile valleys, they are pretty good friends of the farmer.

Destroy Farm Pests.

Most of the beneficial species nest without advertising themselves, destroy many insects daily, rear their young, and leave without the landowner ever knowing how many destructive little insects the family consumes during a season.

The song sparrow is no exception. About three-fourths of its diet consists of seed of noxious weeds and one-fourth of insects. Among the insects, beetles and weevils make up the major portion, but ants, wasps, and caterpillars also may be eaten. Some varieties also consume grasshoppers.

Thus, in the song sparrow we have a real singing workman on the farm. It is a vivacious, merry little bird that has a beautiful song, but it is more than an entertainer, because throughout the entire nesting season it is waging war against weeds and insects harmful to the farmer's crops.

MEXICO FORCED TO REDUCE OIL OUTPUT 50 PCT.

Storage Facilities Are Exhausted.

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—The Mexican government has been compelled to reduce operations at the foreign-owned oil properties, seized last Saturday, to about 50 per cent of the rate prevailing just prior to their seizure, according to information received here today.

The reason given for the curtailment of operations, both in the producing and refining divisions, is that all available storage facilities have been exhausted. Since the properties were taken over by the Mexican government, the movement of Mexican oil in the foreign markets virtually has ceased. In addition, the internal delivery of oil products has slowed down because of the lack of empty tank cars, due to the inefficiency of the railroads.

Some Plants Are Closed.

The large plant of the Huasteca Petroleum company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, has been closed and the cracking units of the refinery of the Mexican Eagle Oil company have been shut down. Operations of the asphalt plant of the Sinclair Pierce company have been suspended and it is said that no gasoline is moving from the company refinery, which, however, is still being operated.

The crude oil producing wells throughout the country are being gradually closed in. Production in the Poza Rica field, the largest in the country, has been reduced to 40 per cent of its former rate. Wells in the Panuco field and in the famous "Golden Lane" where some of the largest producing wells ever known were completed about twenty years ago, have been closed.

Representatives of the companies were asked to accompany those engaged in closing in the wells, which is a delicate job on wells flowing under high pressure. Most of the wells in the Poza Rica field are producing under a pressure of about 2,500 pounds per square inch on the casing and the shutting off of production could result in the well "blowing up." The blowing up of a well in that field might ruin it entirely, it is said. The loss that this would mean is indicated by the fact that crude oil reserves of the Poza Rica field are estimated at 350,000,000 barrels.

Wives and children of laborers have invaded the camps and houses of former non-Mexican employés and have carried off their belongings. The non-Mexican employés of the oil companies have been taken to Tampico or Mexico City and their wives and children have been moved, mostly to New Orleans, Houston, San Antonio, and Laredo.

Mexican Prices Rise.

MEXICO CITY, March 24.—(AP)—The pinch of higher prices was felt today from depreciation of the peso following expropriation of Mexico's $400,000,000 oil industry. Foodstuffs cost 15 to 50 per cent more than last week.

The peso slid downward in relation to the dollar, with banks selling dollars at 4.35 to 4.45 and buying them at 4.15 to 4.25. This is a loss of 20 to 25 points in the peso since Tuesday.

The Central Bank of Mexico reported it had exchanged approximately 15,000,000 silver pesos for bills since Saturday and had authorized coining up to 50,000,000 more.

The government has moved for speedy organization of the oil industry. Vicente Cortes Herrera, undersecretary of communications, was appointed general manager of the new national petroleum council to administer the industry.

As the nation recovered from a series of gala celebrations in major cities in which the people urged expropriation of other foreign industries, the government considered plans for a national subscription campaign to pay the seventeen British and American oil companies for loss of their property.

NEW YORK CITY PLANS TAX ON BANK DEPOSITS

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Councilman B. Charney Vladeck, laborite spokesman of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia in the city council said today that members of the coalition would recommend to the finance committee tomorrow another tax of 1-25 of 1 per cent on all commercial deposits in the banks of the city.

Vladeck said that the yield of this tax would be applied to relief. According to available figures, as of January 1, last, there were eleven billions of dollars in such accounts.

"Probably another billion dollars is on deposit in private banks," Vladeck said. "A tax of 1-25 of 1 per cent would produce about $5,000,000. If the tax were imposed also on deposits in savings banks, it would yield another $1,500,000.

Officers of the New York banks expressed surprise at the proposal to tax bank deposits and declared that New York was the first municipality to propose such a levy.

New York City Borrows $35,000,000 at 0.5 Per Cent

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—An issue of $35,000,000 of short term revenue bills of New York city was sold today by Controler Joseph D. McGoldrick at an interest rate of 0.50 per cent to twenty-six banks. The bills are dated March 25 and payable May 4 from the April tax instalments.

Public Service Profit Shows Gain in 1937

James Simpson.

Net income of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois for 1937 was $4,703,977, equal, after preferred dividend requirements, to $5.53 a share, against $3,739,330, or $4.16 a share, for 1936, James Simpson, chairman of the board, stated in the annual report made public yesterday.

Operating revenues totaled $41,679,098, against $39,231,289 in 1936. Of the total sales, electricity provided $31,910,391, against $30,104,786; gas, $9,438,598, against $8,785,524; heating, $202,653, against $208,236, and water, $127,455, against $132,741. Operating expenses and taxes totaled $31,660,359, against $29,792,399.

Total Tax Bill Mounts.

The company paid $3,616,514 in state, local, and miscellaneous federal taxes, against $3,197,416 in 1936; $910,200 federal income tax, against $212,900, and $213,800 federal surtax on undistributed income, against $212,900. Total taxes were $4,740,515, against $4,127,116.

The increase in expense of operation over 1936, Simpson said, resulted chiefly from the cost of generating more kilowatt hours of electricity and from wage increases.

Simpson said the company, as in prior years, has followed the policy of making overall provision for depreciation rather than on the basis of amortizing the cost of depreciable property over its estimated life. The 1937 provision for depreciation was $4,000,000 and was equivalent to approximately 2.6 per cent of the average book value of the depreciable property, Simpson said.

Investments Show Decrease.

The net book value of investments at the end of 1937 was $13,011,155, against $13,705,011 at the end of 1936.

Simpson said approximately 659 miles of new rural distribution lines were added during the year and at the end of 1937 the company had a total of 16,162 rural customers.

On Dec. 31 the company had 305,480 customers for electricity, against 295,025 at the end of 1936, a gain of 3.5 per cent, and 158,051 gas customers, against 154,090 at the end of 1936, a gain of 2.6 per cent. The company last year served 347 communities.

Simpson said the outlook for the first quarter of this year is less favorable than a year ago. There has been a considerable decrease in industrial activity and furthermore the company must pay a state public utility tax, which was not in effect from Jan. 1 to March 10, 1937.

RAILROAD WAGE PARLEY DELAYED FOR AID REPORT

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Representatives of the Association of American Railroads and the Railway Labor Executives associations conferred here today on proposed wage reductions for railway workers but decided to defer further discussions until the report on the railroad situation which President Roosevelt has asked three members of the interstate commerce commission to prepare is made public. The report was sent to Roosevelt today.

The railway managements, whose chairman was J. J. Pelley, maintained that the roads would require relief in the form of a wage reduction. The unions contended that more fundamental measures to rehabilitate the carriers were needed.

Before the meeting began it was rumored that the roads might ask for a 15 per cent wage reduction amounting to approximately $125,000,000 yearly and that they would be content as a compromise with eliminating the 6 to 7 per cent wage increase which went into effect last fall.

BANK CLEARINGS BELOW YEAR AGO FOR 19TH WEEK

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—A decline of 24.7 per cent in the bank clearings of twenty-two important cities during the week ended March 23 from the corresponding week last year, compared with a decline of 25.5 per cent in the preceding week, was reported today by Dun & Bradstreet.

The reduced level of trading in commodity and financial markets was said to be the principal cause of decline from last year, bank clearings having been below the level of the previous year for nineteen consecutive weeks.

Total turnover in the twenty-two cities was $5,186,762,000, compared with $6,889,833,000 in the comparable week last year. New York clearings aggregated $3,240,942,000, which contrasted with $4,475,372,000 last year, a decline of 27.6 per cent. Clearings of outside centers totaled $1,945,820,000, which was 19.4 per cent less than in the previous year.

Chicago clearings totaled $268,200,000, or 18.2 per cent below the $327,800,000 for the like week of 1937.

Gross Business of FHA Sets New Peak Last Week

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The gross business of the federal housing administration reached a new peak in the week ending March 19 for the third successive week, Stewart McDonald, administrator, announced today. In the week ending March 19 mortgages selected for appraisal amounted to $21,293,061, a new all-time high, and by coincidence this record was made under the new national housing act in the same week of 1938 as that in which the old record under the former act was made last year.

Young Seeks Chesapeake Corp. Proxies

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Launching a more aggressive fight to retain control of the Chesapeake corporation, Robert R. Young, chairman, in a letter to shareholders today asked for proxies for the special meeting, called for April 4, charging that Charles Bradley and John P. Murphy, president and secretary, respectively, had scheduled the meeting to enable them to seize control of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company.

Young asked that proxies be sent to himself, Darwin S. Barrett Jr., treasurer of the corporation, or to Col. Leonard Ayres. Stockholders particularly were asked not to give their proxies either to Bradley or Murphy.

Warns Control Is at Stake.

The chairman, in his letter, asserted that the fundamental issue between himself and the Murphy-Bradley faction is: "Shall the present management of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company, whose record of achievement demonstrates its competence and ability, be continued in office: or shall it be displaced with persons unfamiliar with its special problem?

"The annual stockholders' meeting of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company will be held on April 19. Since your corporation owns over 30 per cent of the railway company's common stock and almost 40 per cent of its preferred stock, your corporation's votes may well control the selection of the directorate and management of the railway company for the coming year."

Warns Changes Are Planned.

Bradley and Murphy, and others with whom they may be acting, are desirous of making serious changes in the railway company's management, which may impair stockholders' investment, Young added. He is supported by his associate, Allan F. Kirby, who joined with him in purchasing control of the one-time Van Sweringen railroad empire.

Murphy said tonight that Young's letter to Chesapeake shareholders "doesn't change the situation in any way."

"Neither Mr. Bradley nor myself are soliciting proxies for the meeting," he said. "Mr. Bradley, acting under the authority vested in his office, called the special meeting April 4 so that stockholders themselves may determine who is to sit on the board and manage the company."

Young some time ago asked Bradley and Murphy to resign as Chesapeake directors, and they refused.

Board of Trade Upholds Award for Loss in Grain

The appeals committee of the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday affirmed a recent award by the arbitration committee of the exchange which held the firm of Marks, Laser & Co. liable for a loss of $28,500 incurred by the Bunge North American company in the disposal of 500,000 bushels of cash rye for the account of the former concern. The grain had been paid for by Marks, Laser & Co. as the outgrowth of deliveries of cash grain on May, 1937, contracts.

TREASURY TO OFFER NEW LOAN AS TAX COLLECTIONS 'FAIL'

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announced today that the fifth of a series of weekly borrowings of 50 million dollars in short term treasury bills would be sold next Monday because of the failure of income taxes to measure up to the March 15 estimate.

He said that collections were 20 to 50 million dollars below predictions. In the first twenty-one days of the month income tax collections totaled $685,647,563, an increase of only 5.1 per cent over a year ago. A March 15 estimate indicated an increase of about 18 per cent over last year.

Morgenthau said the error was due to the fact that many internal revenue collectors or their aids had failed to make accurate estimates of the undeposited receipts.

"They just walk around and kick the mail bags and say we've got so much money," he said.

He said the treasury would discontinue making public telegraphic reports on income tax collections because they are inaccurate.

DROP IN FREIGHT OF 15% PREDICTED IN MIDDLE WEST

Shippers Give Figures for Next Quarter.

Shippers in the territory served by the Mid-West Shippers' Advisory board in the second quarter of this year will require 15.4 per cent fewer freight cars to carry their products than they actually used in the second quarter of 1937, the board estimated yesterday. In the second quarter of last year 721,140 cars were loaded. It is estimated that 610,351 will be required during the next three months.

Although the midwest area decrease is substantial, it is favorable when compared with the Great Lakes territory, for which a decline of 44.7 per cent was estimated.

Reflects Business Decline.

The estimated reduction reflects the decline in business activity. The advisory board estimates are rated as among the best business barometers and predictions made in the past on future requirements rarely have been more than 1 or 2 per cent out of line with the actual loadings.

With only a few exceptions, estimates on car requirements by commodities show declines which run up to as much as 50 per cent. Among the exceptions is grain. Loadings are expected to total 63,800 cars, compared with 31,900 handled last year, an increase of 100 per cent. A year ago, as the result of poor crops in the preceding year, there was little grain on the farms to be moved. It is estimated that the grain now on the farms is about 300 per cent of what it was a year ago.

Loadings by Classes.

The following table gives actual car loadings by commodities in the second quarter of 1937, estimated loadings for the second quarter of 1938, and percentages of changes:

VALUE OF TRADE IN SECURITIES DROPS IN MONTH

Washington, D. C., March 24.—[Special.]—The dollar value of sales on all registered securities exchanges in February dropped to $794,078,054, the lowest figure for any month since the commission began compilation of such data in March, 1935, the Securities and Exchange commission reported today.

It likewise was the first time that the dollar value of such sales had fallen under $1,000,000,000 since the compilation began.

The value of the sales in February showed a decrease of 27 per cent as compared with January, when sales just topped the billion dollar mark at $1,087,714,719, and February sales were 73.3 per cent under February, 1937.

Total sales of stocks in February fell to 28,554,758 shares, or 33 per cent under January's total, and the principal amount of bonds sold was $157,513,300, a decrease of 18.2 per cent.

Chicago Bus Line Reports 1937 Earnings

John A. Ritchie says tax payments double in ten years.

The Chicago Motor Coach company, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Omnibus corporation, had net income in 1937 of $736,391, the annual report of Omnibus showed yesterday. No comparative figure for 1936 was available, because 1937 is the first year for which the Omnibus corporation has issued a separate statement for Chicago Motor Coach. Dividends paid by Chicago Motor Coach to the parent company were $734,500 for the year.

Omnibus also holds a 92 per cent equity in the Fifth Avenue Coach company, New York, and a 53 per cent equity in the New York City Omnibus corporation.

Earnings Increase Sharply.

A sharp increase in earnings for 1937 on a consolidated basis was shown by the Omnibus corporation. It had consolidated net income of $1,654,809, equal after preferred dividends to $1.70 a common share. This compared with 1936 consolidated net income of $510,002, or $7.17 a share on the 8 per cent preferred stock.

Dividends paid to the Omnibus corporation by subsidiaries in 1937 totaled $2,366,105, an excess of $427,125 over the company's actual share of earnings for the period.

A separate income statement of the Fifth Avenue Coach company for 1937 showed net income of $293,068. The company paid dividends during the year on its capital stock of $480,000. In 1936 net income was $159,173, and $495,000 was paid out in dividends.

Taxes Doubled in Ten Years.

The New York City Omnibus corporation and subsidiaries showed net income for 1937 of $2,024,951, and paid dividends of $2,015,025. No comparative figure for 1936 was available

J. A. Ritchie, president of Omnibus corporation, pointed out that tax payments in the last ten years for the operating subsidiaries had more than doubled.

The Chicago Motor Coach company for each $100 of gross operating revenue paid in 1937 taxes of $14.39, compared with $6.43 in 1928, an increase of 124 per cent. A similar comparison showed an increase of 141 per cent for the period for the Fifth Avenue Coach company and 137 per cent for the New York City Omnibus corporation.

EXCHANGE CALLS IN CERTIFICATES WHITNEY SIGNED

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—The New York Stock exchange has requested member firms whose membership certificates bear the signature of Richard Whitney, president of the exchange from 1930 to 1935, to return the documents for exchange, it became known today. Whitney has pleaded guilty to two charges of larceny.

The certificates called were designated by number. Only a small proportion of the total membership was admitted during the Whitney tenure.

Whitney was questioned for more than two hours today by the Securities and Exchange commission in connection with the collapse of his firm. The examination was private and Whitney's testimony was not disclosed.

Later in the day he was examined for a second time in a psychiatric clinic. After an earlier examination Dr. Walter Bromberg of the clinic's staf said Whitney had developed "a number of unusual problems" and that further inquiry was necessary.

Judge Considers Payment by Corporation Securities

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson yesterday took under advisement a motion by Sam Howard, trustee for Corporation Securities Company of Chicago, for authority to make a 5 per cent distribution to the company's noteholders, whose claims total $19,000,000. The distribution would be made from funds recovered by the trustee from New York and Chicago banks in settlement of claims to collateral.

Stock Prices Firmer, but Sales Shrink

SEAT SELLS FOR $56,000

New York, March 24.—(AP)—Sale of a seat on the New York Stock exchange for $56,000—the lowest since 1918—was announced today. It was a drop of $4,000 from the preceding transaction. In 1929 the peak for a seat was $625,000. Even last year as much as $134,000 was paid.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 24.—The stock market was firmer today, but net advances outnumbered declines by only a small margin. Sentiment was improved by the senate finance committee's elimination of the undistributed profits tax clause from the revenue bill.

Trading shrank to 890,160 shares. Observers said the session was largely a professional affair.

Steel shares played a prominent part in the rally, with Bethlehem a strong spot. The majority closed fractions to 1⅝ points higher. U. S. Steel common came back from a low of 47 to 48¾, up ¾ point net. Bethlehem gained 1⅝.

Carriers' Performance Best.

Measured by the Dow-Jones average, carrier shares gave the best group performance. Although the car loadings report to be issued tomorrow is expected to be unfavorable, the group edged higher in the face of some resistance. Gains were mostly fractional, but they were made by a large number of issues.

Public utility issues were mostly neglected and closed irregular. In the communications, Radio Corporation and American Telephone eased minor fractions.

A fair demand developed for metal shares as the session progressed, although traders were reported acting cautiously because of the Mexican situation. Anaconda was group leader and managed to close at a small fractional gain.

Chemicals Close Higher.

Chemicals and farm implement shares closed mostly higher, but gains did not exceed 1 point or slightly more. Allied and du Pont were well taken in the former group.

Chrysler, General Motors, and Yellow Truck registered modest advances. Aviation shares were fairly active, but showed little price change.

Several large blocks of RKO, including one of 11,000 shares, sold at 2½ to 2⅝. The stock closed at 2¼, off ⅛ Oils were irregularly higher.

A number of generally inactive issues broke sharply. Eastman Kodak fell more than 6 points before it was able to rally, and closed 4½ lower.

$4,300,000 OF GOLD ENGAGED FOR U.S.; $2,500,000 IS SOLD

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York yesterday reported the engagement of $2,100,000 of gold in England and $2,200,000 in India for shipment to the United States. This brings engagements since March 15 to $25,100,000. At the same time the treasury announced in Washington that $2,500,000 of gold had been sold to foreign countries.

The treasury did not disclose the purchasers. Exchange brokers have been unable to explain the export shipments because gold has been coming into the country for the last ten days as a result of the depreciation in foreign currencies in relation to the dollar.

The New York exchange market was quiet yesterday. The British pound was unchanged at $4.96⅛ and the French franc advanced 0.015 cent in the face of another cabinet crisis in France. Other foreign currencies showed little change.

WEEK'S BUILDING AWARDS SHOW SLIGHT UPTURN

New York, March 24.—[Special.]—Engineering construction awards this week totaled $49,149,000, a gain of 0.3 per cent over the $49,006,000 in the corresponding period of last year, Engineering News-Record reported today. Last week awards totaled $53,284,000.

Public construction topped the 1937 week by 26 per cent, chiefly because of awards for four large highways and three big irrigation and dredging prospects.

By classifications, the week's awards were:

CENT. REPUBLIC TO DISPOSE OF ITS BANK STOCK

Will Sell Part and Distribute Rest.

Newton P. Frye.

Newton P. Frye, president of the Central Republic company, yesterday announced that the company has completed arrangements to dispose of its holdings of 13,600 shares in the City National Bank and Trust company, the Dawes bank.

The Chicago corporation, largest investing company in the middle west, has entered into a contract to purchase 8,000 shares of the bank stock at $130 a share. Central Republic will distribute the remainder of the stock to its shareholders. The stock represents the largest single interest in the City National bank, amounting to 34 per cent of the total number of shares outstanding.

Underwriting Chief Function.

As a result of the sale, Frye said, the company will be able to devote more of its capital to the security underwriting business in which it has attained an increasingly important rôle in Chicago in the last five years.

A special meeting of Central Republic stockholders is tentatively scheduled for April 5 to ratify the deal. It is planned, Frye said, to give Central Republic stockholders the option of taking their proportionate share of the 5,600 shares of City National to be distributed or the equivalent in cash.

The Chicago corporation, he said, has agreed to purchase up to 2,000 shares of any stock for which the Central Republic holders elect to receive cash. Furthermore, the Chicago corporation has the option to purchase any of the additional 3,600 shares which are not taken by Central Republic shareholders.

Basis of Share Offer.

One share of City National bank will be issued for each 25 shares of Central Republic outstanding. In cases where a person owns less than 25 shares of Central Republic he will get the cash equivalent. No fractional shares will be issued.

Upon completion of the deal, Frye said, Central Republic will have liquid capital of $1,500,000 to use in its underwriting business after writing down all its present investments to current market prices.

Central Republic acquired its interest in City National when the latter was organized in 1932. Central Republic was originally the investment affiliate of the predecessor bank of the City National.

City National stock was quoted yesterday in the unlisted market at $125 to $135 a share, compared with $118 to $123 on the preceding day.

The deal, it was pointed out, will result in a wider ownership of City National stock, a condition which officials of the bank believe is beneficial.

Notices calling a special meeting of Central Republic shareholders are expected to be sent out in a few days.

U. S. SUIT AGAINST ALUMINUM CO. TO START ON MAY 2

New York, March 24.—(AP)—A United States government suit against the Aluminum Company of America on the grounds it has violated the Sherman anti-trust law will go to trial May 2 before Federal Judge Francis G. Caffey. The government seeks to dissolve the company or to force it to give up certain holdings and refrain from allegedly unfair acts.

The company was given until May 2 to answer all except three of 605 interrogatories filed by the government and until June 2 on the other three.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, March 24.—(AP)—Some sections of the bond market made a moderate rebound today from the persistent decline of recent sessions. Recovery extended to certain of the depressed rails, but as a group they made little headway because of further wide declines in some issues of Pere Marquette, Great Northern, M-K-T, Erie, and other systems.

Low yield corporate loans had fair support. United States government bonds were mixed, with gains predominating. The closing range was 7-32ds higher to 3-32ds lower.

General gains in Italian and Japanese obligations attracted principal attention in the foreign section. Czechoslovak 8s, 1951, pushed up 6 points as the 8s of 1952 were plunging 9. The decline in the latter appeared to be an adjustment to a sharp decline in the 1951 maturity in the preceding session. Polish 8s dropped 7 points on a small turnover.

Chicago Stocks.

Stocks on the Chicago exchange moved irregularly yesterday. Sales amounted to 31,000 shares, compared with 48,000 Wednesday. Of the 84 issues traded, 20 advanced, 38 declined, and 26 were unchanged.

Cities Service, the volume leader with sales of 6,250 shares, dipped ¼ to 1, for a loss of ½ in the last two days. Commonwealth Edison advanced ⅛ to 23⅞. Borg-Warner at 21 and Marshall Field at 7 were ¼ higher. Chicago corporation was unchanged at 1¾. Swift International moved up 1⅛ to 24½.

THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks closed at 8.55, off 0.03.

Bank Stocks.

Chicago bank stocks were quiet yesterday and little changed in price except for City National Bank and Trust company stock, which advanced $7 a share on announcement of purchase of a substantial block by Chicago corporation from the Central Republic company at $130 a share. The stock was quoted at $125 bid, $135 asked. Continental Illinois National bank stock recovered $1.50 a share to close at $53 bid, $55 asked.

COTTON

Trading in cotton futures yesterday was relatively slow. Price changes were narrow and somewhat erratic. Easiness in Liverpool was largely offset by trade buying and firmness in securities. Elimination of the proposed processing tax as a rider to the revenue bill now before congress had no effect on the market.

Closing trades on cotton futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were .01 to .06 cent higher. Other American markets were .01 cent lower to .05 cent a pound higher.

Spot cotton closed unchanged, with New Orleans, 8.85 cents; New York, 8.65 cents and Galveston and Houston at 8.45 cents a pound. Prices follow:

MARCH BUSINESS RISING, SEVERAL COMPANIES SAY

Butler Brothers Reports Two Month Loss.

The recession has brought disappointing results to business so far in 1938, although in some companies, operations have been more satisfactory in March than in the first two months, company reports disclosed yesterday.

Frank S. Cunningham.

Frank S. Cunningham, president of Butler Brothers, Chicago wholesalers, said that the company had a net loss, after preferred dividends and taxes, in the first two months of this year totaling $420,000. This compared with a net profit of $48,000 in 1937. He pointed out, however, that 1937 was an unusual year, the only one in the last six in which the company had shown net profit in the first quarter.

"The year 1938 is off to a bad start and the outlook is not good," he said. "Compared with a year ago our volume in the first two months decreased 18 per cent. Thus far in March the ratio of decline is less."

Explains Wholesale Lag.

He pointed out that wholesale business was lagging in comparison with last year because the heavy advance purchasing of 1937 was lacking, and that hand-to-mouth purchases were being made by retailers until their stocks were reduced. Butler Brothers' stocks of goods on hand and contracted for total about $17,000,000, compared with $27,000,000 a year ago.

American Steel Founderies in February operated at only 11 per cent of capacity, George E. Scott, president, told stockholders at the annual meeting. He said that practically no inquiries for new equipment were being received. The Griffin Wheel division was an exception, operating at more than 40 per cent of capacity.

R. B. White, president of the Western Union Telegraph company, said business is rising somewhat. He said that March would show an improvement over February, although the gain so far this month had not been as much as the normal seasonal rise.

Reports Gain in Sales.

The recession in sales of Underwood Elliott Fisher company appears to have been halted in March, P. D. Wagoner, president, announced. He said that, although profits this quarter would be substantially less than those for the first quarter of 1937, sales this month have improved.

Irving K. Hessberg, president of Van Raalte, Inc., maker of silk and rayon products, told stockholders that this year is expected to be nearly business in the first four months of equal to that of 1937, and that gross profit margins are running about the same as for last year.

March business of Consolidated Film Industries, Inc., has shown an improvement over February, it was reported yesterday at the annual meeting. Profits so far in the first quarter have been somewhat less than a year ago, officials said.

The Quantity Theory.

Much of the current discussion of the problems of "managed money" centers around the so-called "quantity theory" of money, first stated in algebraic form by Irving Fisher. His formula is:

$$MV+M'V'=PT.$$

Where M is the amount of money in circulation, V is the velocity of its circulation, or the number of times it changes hands, M' is the amount of bank deposits subject to check, and V' is the velocity of the circulation of such deposits. P represents the general price level and T the total volume of trade.

The conclusion which followers of the quantity theory school have reached is that an increase or decrease in M will produce a corresponding movement in P; that is, that a change in the amount of money in circulation will cause a corresponding change in the general price level, at the same time leaving the other factors in the equation unchanged, or only slightly changed.

They assume that the velocity of money and credit will be unchanged because the people will not change their habits of spending. The possibility that hoarding at one extreme or of increased rapidity of spending at the other, both effects of lack of confidence on the part of the people, may result in sharp changes in both V and V', is ignored. These changes may, and often have in the past, equalized the influence of changes in the money supply or either intensify or reverse the anticipated movement in the general price level.

IDLE FUNDS IN BANKS INCREASE; LOANS AND INVESTMENTS DECLINE

Lendable funds held by banks increased 100 million dollars in the week ended Wednesday as a result of a decline in bank investments and loans, the federal reserve board reported yesterday. The increase lifted the excess reserves of member banks of the federal system to 1 billion 560 million dollars, the largest since the present reserve requirements became effective on May 1, 1937.

Chicago and New York banks reported declines in funds employed in investments and loans. Loans of New York banks to brokers and dealers fell 28 millions and loans to commercial borrowers dropped 15 millions. Investments in government securities of the New York banks fell 150 millions from the preceding week but investments, other than governments, increased 66 millions.

Chicago banks were lending 4 millions less to commercial borrowers on Wednesday compared with a week earlier, and their holdings of government securities were off 53 millions.

The reserve board reported total monetary stocks showed a net increase of 3 millions for the week.

DIVIDEND ACTION IS OMITTED BY 3 MORE COMPANIES

Two Others Decide to Cut Payments.

Three more corporations failed to take action on common stock dividends and two others reduced payments yesterday. Alaska Juneau Gold Mining company and several other well known companies, however, declared regular quarterly dividends. Alaska Juneau also ordered its usual 15 cent extra along with the regular 15 cent quarterly dividend on May 2.

McLellan Stores and the Niagara Hudson Power corporation declared regular dividends on preferred stocks, but took no action on the common stock. Detroit Gasket and Manufacturing company directors also took no action on common stock.

Votes 12½ Cent Payment.

A dividend of 12½ cents will be paid April 13 by Dodge Manufacturing company, Indiana machinery and belting maker. The company paid 25 cents in January and $1.75 in 1937. Federated Department Stores, Inc., will pay 25 cents on April 30, the same as on Jan. 29.

Central and South West Utilities company declared dividends of $1.75 and $1.50 on its $7 and $6 prior lien preferred stocks, respectively, leaving arrears at $31.50 and $27 per share as of Feb. 15. Cluett, Peabody & Co., Inc., will pay only 15 cents per common share on May 2, compared with 25 cents in each quarter since a stock split last year.

WHEAT FIRMER; EXPORT DEMAND SHOWS REVIVAL

Foreign wheat markets turned upward yesterday after several days of declining prices and a marked revival in the European demand for cash grain led to some change in sentiment on the part of American speculators. The response to the strength was abroad, however, was only halfhearted and there was little speculative interest in the market.

Closing trades on wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were ¼ to ½ cent a bushel higher. Gains at Winnipeg ranged up to 1 cent a Commission houses with export connections were buyers of corn futures yesterday, and pit brokers said this class of support has been in evidence in the market for several weeks. Futures closed ⅜ cent higher.

Price changes in oats, rye, and soy bean futures were largely confined to small fractions of a cent a bushel.

More than 2,000,000 bushels of cash wheat were purchased by European countries and Japan yesterday, largely Australian grain but including an estimated 750,000 bushels from North America, a considerable part of which was hard winter wheat. Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅜ to 1 cent a bushel higher.

RAILWAY INCOME DROPS SHARPLY FROM YEAR AGO

Most February Operating Results Unfavorable.

Sharp declines in operating incomes for February were reported yesterday by a number of leading railroads, including the Pennsylvania, New York Central, Northern Pacific, and Great Northern. An exception was the Union Pacific, which reported a slight increase over February, 1937.

M. S. Sloan reports M-K-T operating costs rise 33½ per cent.

The Pennsylvania had February net operating income of $1,597,564, a decline of $3,738,319 from February, 1937. For the first two months of 1938 net operating income was $656,751, a decrease of $6,892,144 from the corresponding 1937 period. The New York Central had a net operating deficit of $1,588,789 for February, against a net operating income of $3,035,759 for February, 1937. The Northern Pacific had a February net operating deficit of $258,062, against net operating income of $66,273 for February, 1937.

Great Northern Has Deficit.

The Great Northern reported a net deficit for February, after deductions for interest and other fixed charges, of $1,893,564. In February, 1937, the net deficit was $1,717,228.

The Union Pacific's February net operating income was $645,139, against $641,077 in February, 1937. The gain was made despite a drop in gross revenues, which totaled $9,443,208, against $11,545,955.

Matthew S. Sloan, chairman of the board and president of the Missouri-Kansas-Texas, commenting on the road's operating results for 1937, said that a 2.60 per cent increase in operating revenues was offset by a 33½ per cent increase in operating expenses, resulting from increased wages. The wage increases amounted to $1,000,000 on an annual basis. As previously reported the road had a loss of $1,625,477.

El Paso Natural Gas.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information about El Paso Natural Gas stock.—W. J. G.

Answer: The El Paso Natural Gas company, incorporated in Delaware in 1928, purchases and produces natural gas in the Lea county gas field of southeastern New Mexico and distributes it at wholesale to public utility and industrial consumers in west Texas, southern New Mexico, and southern Arizona.

The company and subsidiaries own and operate about 1,000 miles of pipe line. Gas reserves are regarded as ample.

Gross operating revenue for 1937 totaled $4,679,683 and net income was $1,884,882, or $3 a common share, compared with revenue of $3,234,197 and net income of $1,071,828, or $1.79 a common share, in 1936. Net income in Janauary, 1938, was $244,388, compared with $187,585 in January, 1937.

The company has operated in the black throughout the depression years, although an arrearage in preferred dividends accumulated during the four years beginning with 1932. Back payments were cleared up in 1936. Common dividends totaled $2 a share in 1937 and a payment of 50 cents will be made April 1 to stockholders of record March 15.

The company had 14,797 shares $100 par 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock and 593,418 shares of $3 par common stock outstanding at the end of 1937. The preliminary consolidated balance sheet for Dec. 31, 1937, showed current assets of $736,349 and current liabilities of $967,042, compared with current assets of $1,182,870 and current liabilities of $314,882 a year earlier.

Uncle Sam Oil company.

Investors' Guide: I would like to know if the Uncle Sam Oil company, which was supposed to have operated in Kansas City and Cherryvale, Kas., a number of years ago, is still in existence. I have some stock in this company and have heard nothing about it for a long time.—H. A. W.

Answer: We assume you are referring to the Uncle Sam Oil company which claimed to have control of considerable property, including a refinery, at Kansas City, Cherryvale, and Nevadosha, Kas. According to a manual of extinct or obsolete corporations, this company was placed in receivership on April 20, 1907. The property was sold at public auction in 1924 and the receiver was discharged in 1925, at which time it was stated there was nothing left for the stockholders.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Another break in the market for lambs yesterday carried prices to the lowest March levels in several years. The extreme top at $8.25 equaled the lowest point for March since 1933. This compared with $12.70 on the corresponding day last year. Prices yesterday averaged $8.10, off $4.45, or 35 per cent from a year ago.

Prices of live lambs were cut mostly 25 to 35 cents, with some sales off even more.

There was a weak undercurrent in other live stock yesterday. Hogs reacted after a 5 to 15 cents higher opening, closing with all of the early gains erased.

Cattle prices slumped to the lowest levels of the week in an unsatisfactory market. Supplies were only moderate, but bearish news from wholesale beef channels restricted purchases. Declines for the day amounted to 25 to 35 cents.

[All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was stated incorrectly in connection with the earnings report of Compania Swift Internacional in yesterday's TRIBUNE that the firm "operates the foreign plants of Swift & Co." The company is an Argentine corporation, organized in 1918 to take over the South American and Australian properties of Swift & Co. At that time stock of Swift Internacional was distributed to shareholders of Swift & Co. Since then Swift & Co. as such has had no interest in the Argentine company.
